COURT CONDON, NO. M. F. OF A. MEETS Mondays evening of each month in Armory Hall, lodge room. Visiting brothers are requested to meet with us. A warm welcome awaits you.

Someone has said that it is because money talks that a woman's head is put on every dollar.

The new gold coins they're making now,

Without "In God We Trust"; Will turn up in the hat at church As prized as any dust.

This is perhaps the reason we have not heard any talk lately about the motto being left off the new coins.

Tomorrow, the 21st, will be the shortest day in the year and, according to some, if you are at church next day and stay for the sermon, you will notice that the 22nd is much longer.

When Julius Caesar became the "big stick" of the Roman Empire, the month of December contained but 29 days. He added two more—one to get ready for Christmas and one to recover from it. People in this enlightened age have decided that Julius must have been a little queer mentally when he set aside only one day to get ready, and they now take from two weeks to four months in preparation and then sigh because "Johnny" did not have time to learn that recitation.

Santa Claus will make the usual rounds on the night of the 24th. Men will get cigars, neckwear and mustache cups. Ladies will get anything from wax dolls to diamonds. Children will get the stomach ache with its complications.

Yes, the bank holidays are a thing of the past, but we are about to enter upon another set of holidays that are more depressing on the pocket book than the financial flurry.

The origin of the festival of Christmas is attributed to Bishop Telesphorus in the first century of the Christian Era, but it was not until the fourth century that the theologians, after investigating all available data, decided upon the 25th of December. Christmas gifts originated with the Greeks. From the earliest times Christmas has been considered in the double light of a religious commemoration and a cheerful festival. The custom of singing carols which recalled the songs of the shepherds at the birth of Christ, dates from the time when the common people ceased to understand Latin, and collections of these mediæval carols were made and still exist in different parts of Europe. With the passing of the centuries the Christmas celebration has lost much of its primitive boisterous character. The carols which find their place in the churches and the evergreen trimmings are all that remain of the ancient customs.
