

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Brunzel & Son, the local stock buyers, shipped two car loads of cattle from their local yards on Saturday.

Amos Hawes of Spray was in Condon the latter part of last week with a bunch of horses.

Henry Neel returned from Portland Saturday evening, where he had been to attend the sale of a large shipment of hogs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jackson and children returned Saturday evening from a visit with relatives in the Rose City.

Wm. Rhinehart came up from Portland Saturday for a visit with his brothers.

Mrs. Eva Morgan, of Gilliam county, arrived in Goldendale last Tuesday to spend the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Henry Teague.—Goldendale Sentinel.

M. J. Lynch was registered at one of The Dalles hotels the latter part of last week.

One of the latest foreigners to take out citizenship papers in the United States is Paul Ferdinand Reike Belaskati Beilke, Paul, etc., etc., hails from Prussia and it is said that when he came over some years ago it took the immigration officers 48 hours to unravel his name. "Paul" as his friends call him for short, is now a good citizen of this country and resides in Oregon.

Fred Wilson, of the law firm of Menefee & Wilson, and who has just returned from a business trip to Condon, says the people up that way are firm believers in the idea that this season is going to be as good as last to crops and business of every form. They are pleased with the outlook.—The Dalles Chronicle.

W. W. Steiwer, banker of Fossil and large cattle owner of Wheeler county is in Portland this week. He is one of the defendants in a suit brought against him by the Government for fencing Government land. His trial is scheduled in the Federal Court for this week.

Charles Hein of Mayville was in Condon Monday attending to business matters, closing a deal with S. B. Barker for a half-section of land. Mr. Hein is going in for farming on a much larger scale and intends putting in several hundred acres of beardless barley in addition to many acres of wheat. While in the city Mr. Hein paid the GLOBE office a call, leaving some excellent samples of his homemade liverwurst and frankfurters for the office force. Charley used to be in the butcher business in San Francisco and we can surely testify to the fact that he understands the art of making the good old German sausages.

C. H. Williams of this city, vice-president of the American National Retail Jewelers Association, has been notified of the meeting of that body to be held in Cincinnati the last of this month. It is doubtful whether Mr. Williams can go east at that time on account of the large amount of business which requires his attention here.

The city officers of the little town of Mitchell made a raid on a poker game a few days ago and as the result the treasury was enriched to the tune of $35.

Ben K. Thompson of Condon, who was operated upon at The Dalles Sanatorium was able to come home Saturday.

Archie Boyce passed through Condon the first of the week on his way to Mayville.

Concerning Womankind.

It Is Wise to Remember That It Takes Two to Make a Quarrel — The Simply Dressed Debutante — A True and Honest Friend.

"It takes two to make a quarrel," remarked Mrs. Waseleigh as she wiped away Mrs. Flutterby's tears.

That young matron had just been through another quarrel with her better half. He had gone out without saying goodby, and the front door had slammed viciously behind him.

"H-m-m!" muttered the excellent Mrs. Waseleigh after she heard the details. "When you saw he was in a bad humor why didn't you leave him alone?"

"I—I—felt so badly I just had to speak to him," sobbed foolish Mrs. Flutterby.

"There you are!" exclaimed the older woman. "Lack of self control! I tell you what," she went on, "if I kept a girls' school I would spend less time in teaching conchology and botany and more in grounding my pupils in good, old fashioned self control. It would certainly do them more good in after life. Just look at the girls nowadays, my dear, and notice how many of them lack it altogether. They are sidgety, hysterical, and, instead of allowing the masculine sex to run after them, as the Creator wisely intended, they are simply crazy for attention and make themselves cheap because they haven't enough self control to wait for it.

"Divorces were never so frequent in the old days, I can tell you. Women had self control then. They learned when it was wise to keep silence. There were no quarrels as there are now. Women had more dignity, and their self control gave them a queenly air which commanded more respect and attention than all the tirades of their descendants ever can. If you just listen to an old woman, my dear, you will learn to practice self control. You will soon be too well grounded in it to answer back, and quarrels will die out in your household because, as I observed before, it takes two people to make them."

Charm of Sweet Simplicity.

"There's a sweetly pretty girl!" exclaimed one of the patronesses at a recent dance. "I'm going to see that

"IT TAKES TWO TO MAKE A QUARREL," he has a good time. She is so different from the other debutantes—simple, unaffected and wholesome looking."

And of course after that the girl had lovely time.

Now, the truth is that the debutante's question was really no prettier than the others and not nearly as graceful as she possessed a mother who was clever.

Her mother had dressed her in the simplest manner possible, as a young girl should dress, while all the other wore Parisian creations suitable for young matrons.

"This overdressing of girls just making their bow to society is very marked this winter, and for that reason one simple little maiden stood out very conspicuously.

Her dress was of fine material, most beautifully fitted, but it fell in absolutely unornamented lines, showing the supple curves of her girlish figure. The effect was striking.

Wise mothers, take notice.

As Others See Us.

Recently a group of women were tearing in shreds the reputation of a member of their sex. Comment on her actions ran high. Finally somebody turned to the only silent one in the crowd and remarked excitedly:

"What do you think of that?"

"I'm sorry," came the quiet answer, "but I can't discuss the subject. I am a friend of hers."

In about three minutes the group had dispersed. They were all friends of the woman they were gossiping about. They had dined and lunched and visited at her house, and the shot went home.

It's a pity one does not meet oftener in society the loyal woman who refuses to chatter about her friends.
