Items of Interest Gathered by Our Country Correspondents.

Matney Items.

James Evans is now handling the ribbons over the Lost Valley Lumber Co.'s team at the mill.

Miss Hannah McFarland is stopping in Condon at the Star lodging house.

Nearly all the Spring seeding is finished in this section and some are well into summer fallowing, only one case of reseeding is known by the writer.

Fall wheat is looking fine but warm weather and a good rain is needed to sprout the spring grain.

Mrs. Hire and Mrs. Blake of Condon were visiting at the home of Mrs. Will Smith last week.

Mayville Happenings.

The fall grain is looking fine but the farmers are wishing for rain.

An entertainment and dance will be given in Mayville, April 24, under the management of the Grange. Everyone invited to come and have a good time.

S. McGilvray has started work on the road. He is having the road changed in the Werhli canyon.

Miss Belle Dyer, who has been visiting in Mayville, returned to Condon last week.

Goodwin-Reynolds

E. L. Goodwin and Mary E. Reynolds were united in marriage on Monday at 11 o'clock in the parlors of the Hotel Oregon, Rev. Curran officiating. The bride and groom reside near Gwendolen where they will make their home in the future. Only the immediate relatives of the couple were present at the ceremony.

The Globe joins in congratulations and best wishes.

F. T. Hurlburt returned Tuesday evening from a few days' business trip in Portland. Mr. Hurlburt reports that while on the train he met John Fleming, the sheep buyer, and that he will probably be in Condon the first of next week.

The Misses Lilla and Florence Clarke left on Tuesday mornings train for Portland where they will spend a week or ten days with relatives and friends.

Mr. Marvel of near Olex has bought a 311 acre farm near Dilley, Washington Co.

A marriage license was issued in Portland on April 15th to A. L. Hudson of Gooseberry, Ore., and Anna M. Gruol of Portland.

Mrs. Jay Bowerman returned last evening from a short visit in Pendleton.

W. H. Morrison came up from Arlington on Thursday for a few days visit. He is in the employ of the Kerr, Gifford Warehouse Company at Arlington and will return in the morning.

The vote cast today will settle the question—as far as some politicians are concerned.

George Wasson has closed his stock of groceries and is managing the Pastime for B. K. Searcy. The room will be divided and two pool tables installed in the near future.

Jno. Elias, who has been on his homestead for some time, has returned to Condon and is working at his trade of sign painting.

Robert Palmer of this city was committed to the asylum at Salem this week and attendants arrived on Tuesday's train, returning Wednesday. Mr. Palmer is well known in Gilliam and Wheeler counties, and was sane until a week ago when he began drinking. Although sobered up for a day or two, the reaction finally made him a raging maniac. At times while in the county jail he was dangerous to those who attended him. "Bob" Palmer, as all knew him, has lived in Condon for many years, and has been working at odd jobs besides being janitor of the court house and the Condon National Bank. He had been on the blacklist of the saloons for many years until lately, and had been sober for many months. When sober he was kind hearted and a happy fellow and since everyone here knew his weakness as well as himself, it was a cowardly act to let him have the liquor.

One of the most amusing as well as the most cowardly phases of the political campaign prior to the primaries was the way the Moro Observer became a "good dog." Every one is wondering what made it "lie down". Were the facts presented by the County Judge of Sherman county too much for it? The old reliable ought to have stuck to the truth all through the fight. It was up to the "O" man, so let him take his medicine.

Elmer Hall is busy these days ranching for himself on the Burnett ranch, southeast of town.

G. Seaton Taylor leaves in the morning for Arlington where he will meet his parents who will visit several days in Condon.

Mrs. W. T. Shirey and daughter arrived last evening from Portland for a few days visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Foulk and family of Huntsburg, Ohio, are visiting at the home of J. H. Amend in this city.

To His Personal Knowledge.

Colonel Bingham of Platarville was entertaining a visitor, and while giving him a drive about town in his buggy he showed him the principal objects of interest in the place.

"Over there," he said, pointing with his whip, "at the other end of that block, where there is a vacant piece of ground, we are going to put up a public building suitable for a town hall and to rent for lectures and other entertainments. It is to be paid for entirely by popular subscription, the public spirited citizens bearing the expense."

"You haven't done any digging for it yet, I see," remarked the visitor, looking in the direction indicated.

"Oh, yes," said the colonel, with a smile, "we have. I have had to dig up $500 for it myself."—Youth's Companion.

His Journey's End.

One cold wintry morning a man of tall and angular build was walking down a steep hill at a quick pace. A treacherous piece of ice under the snow caused him to lose control of his feet. He began to slide and was unable to stop.

At a cross street halfway down the decline he encountered a large, heavy woman, with her arms full of bundles. The meeting was sudden, and before either realized it a collision ensued, and both were sliding downhill, a grand ensemble—the thin man underneath, the fat woman and bundles on top. When the bottom was reached the woman was trying in vain to recover her breath and her feet these faint words were borne to her ear: "Pardon me, madam, but you will have to get off here. This is as I go."—Ladies' Home Journal.

A Strange Combat.

In the year 1261 a combat took place in Paris between a dog and a man. The dog, by his howlings, had drawn notice to the murdered and buried body of his master, M. de Montdidier. Shortly afterward, being confronted with a bitter enemy of the dog's former master, the Chevalier Macaire, the dog flew furiously at his throat. Suspicion was aroused against Macaire, and the king of France decided that an appeal to the "Judgment of God" should be made by means of a duel between the dog and the enemy of the murdered man. The combat duly took place. The dog had an empty barrel into which he could retreat, while Macaire was armed with a stout cudgel. The result of the fight was the victory of Montdidier's faithful champion. Macaire was thrown down and in the presence of the king and court confessed his guilt.

Carbolineum, the wood preservative is now being sold by Hunt, the Hardware Man. Good for fence posts, barn sills, chicken coops, etc.

The Joseph Boyer ranch on Beecher Flats has been sold under mortgage foreclosure, and a right to redeem from that sale and get a good ranch cheap is for sale by Hunt, the Hardware Man for $60. First come, first served.

Mrs. H. C. Strickland arrived in Condon Wednesday evening from Portland where she spent the winter.
