FLAG DAY OBSERVED

Double Celebration by Sunday School.

CHILDREN PRESENT PROGRAM

Forty-Sixth Star to Be Added to "Old Glory's" Field of Blue on July Fourth.

With appropriate exercises the observance of "Flag Day" was fittingly remembered Sunday by the Congregational church Sunday school at the morning service. The exercises were all the more enjoyable because it was "Children's Day" which is an important date in the church calendar.

The church was decorated with pretty flowers and little flags. Back of the pulpit two large American flags enhanced the attractiveness of the simple but effective scheme of decoration.

The church was filled with an audience of eager and happy parents who had come to listen to a program of songs and recitations given by the children. The exercises which were patriotic in character, proved interesting and the story of the flag and what it stands for in the hearts of loyal Americans was narrated.

The program was preceded by a short address by Superintendent of the School, Ohsfeldt. He told how Children's day had originated and grown to be recognized by the leading denominations of the country. The participants acquitted themselves with credit. A feature of the exercises was the distribution of flags among the boys and girls of the school. Since June 14, 1777, when the flag was adopted by our national congress many a star has been added to the field of blue. Under the provisions of an old act of Congress, Oklahoma's star, the forty-sixth, will be added to the flag on this Fourth of July. It will necessitate an entirely new arrangement of the stars on the flag.

It was Betsy Ross, a pretty and dashing young widow, scarcely twenty-five years old, and an artistic needle worker, that designed the original American national emblem in a little old house in the city of Philadelphia.

RINEHART FAMILY MEETS

Sixth Annual Reunion of Pioneer Family at Summerville, Union County.

The annual reunion of the Rinehart family was held this year at Summerville in Union county, from June 17 to 21, inclusive. The affair always proves to be a most enjoyable gathering at which old and young have a merry, good time together. A large delegation of Gilliam and Wheeler county members of the pioneer family left on the local Tuesday morning for the scene of the festivities. Among those who boarded the train were: Fred Edwards, S. H. Edwards and family of Mayville, J. W. Dyer and family, of Mayville, Miss Bessie Rinehart and Miss Steiwer of Fossil, the Crum and Wilkins families of Olex. They were joined at Arlington by W. J. Edwards and wife who were in attendance at the commencement exercises of the Oregon Agricultural college, Frank E. Edwards, professor in chemistry in the San Luis Obispo, Cal., Polytechnic Institute; and Mrs. Fred Edwards who has been visiting in Portland for some time. The occasional address was delivered by Fred Edwards before an audience of about 150 descendants of the Rinehart family. ## LONE ROCK AT TOP

Gilliam's Wool Leads at Heppner Sales.

NO WOOL SALES IN CONDON

Neal, Madden and Cason Got More than Fifteen Cents. Kiser Is King at Shaniko.

The regular wool sales slated for this city to-day were practically called off. There are a few buyers in town trying to corner some of the clips estimated at about 400,000 pounds. The buyers for most of the companies stayed away from Condon because the majority of the wool buyers have in past years held their clips or disposed of them at private sales.

The Shaniko sale held the first of the week consisted of a 1,500,000 wool clip, the highest offer being 16 1-4 cents and going to Jake Kiser. This is the highest price paid at a public sale this season.

Gilliam county wool commanded the best quotation at the recent sales held at Heppner and the Lone Rock wool growers obtained the highest prices for their clips.

There was a goodly number of Gilliam county wool men in attendance at this sale pulled off last week at the Morrow county seat when something like 1,350,000 pounds of wool were placed on the market. Fourteen buyers were present to bid over each other on some of the finer clips, many of which came from the Lone Rock country in the south-eastern part of Gilliam county.

The Lone Rock wool growers disposed of about 100,000 pounds. Andrew Neal received the top price—15 3-4 cents; then came John Madden who was paid 15 1-8 cents and Chas. Cason who got a fraction of a cent higher or 15 1-4 cents. Others who received from these prices down to 12 cents are: I. C. Bennett, Billy Stewart, John Maidment, and Bob McIntosh.

James Murtha, of the firm of Murtha & Monnam, the Rock Creek wool growers attended the sale but did not place his clip on the market because of the general low prices offered. Mr. Murtha was in Condon Monday transacting business. His firm owns about 6,000 sheep.
