COURT CONDON, NO. 34, F. OF A MEETS Monday evening of each month in Army Hall lodge room. Visiting brothers are requested to meet with us. A warm welcome awaits you.

Gilliam county can ill afford to pass up the opportunity of having an attractive exhibit of its resources in the Oregon state building at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition to be held in Seattle. Many of the Oregon counties have started to collect exhibits and to have attractive literature printed setting forth their resources. Gilliam county failed to wake up on time to have its exhibit of grain entered at the Lewis and Clarke fair. Surely there will be no repetition of the Sleepy Hollow policy. We take it that progress and growth is desired by the majority of the citizens of the county, that more settlers are wanted here to develop the resources of this section of Oregon. If these things appeal to you, get in the music car and blow boosting notes for a greater Condon. This is no poetical effusion. It is but the echo of the march of progress wafted on the zephyrs from the "publicity promoters" of every progressive town in Oregon. From the dead ones, you hear nothing. It's the town that wakes up that gets there.

With the ascendancy of the star of William Howard Taft, of Ohio, in the political firmament, it is natural that the press correspondents should devote some attention to the Republican nominee's estimable wife. The press correspondents are always in the alert to give the world some fresh and interesting bits of timely news.

In an interview Mrs. Taft is quoted among other things as saying: "I have always believed that women should vote. I favor bestowing upon them every civic right, but I should like to put a prohibitory clause disbarring them from running for public office." Just how Mrs. Taft's views will be received by Oregon suffragists will prove of interest. While essentially a home woman, Mrs. Taft is also one of the favorites in Washington society. She is a great reader of standard fiction and has kept herself informed on all subjects that interest her husband or touch his career. She is also a musician of note and a linguist. The nation will have as much reason to be proud of her in her sphere as of her husband in his when addressed as Mr. President.

The enemies of Senator Bourne will not flaunt into his face the epithet of "quitter." He was persistent to the last for the "second elective term."

According to the new ruling of the Postal Department at Washington, D. C., newspapers cannot be sent to subscribers who are more than a year in arrears. There are subscriptions coming due each week and those wishing The Globe continued should either call at the office or write to have their subscriptions renewed for another year.
