Locates on Valuable Tract.

A special to the Oregon Journal from Hood River says: "Notwithstanding the fact that apple land at Hood River is at a premium and that the valley been scoured by investors who have been looking for something easy, J. P. Cotton, a Condon man, came here recently and succeeded in locating 160 acres of unimproved land estimated to be worth $50 per acre."

The tract filed on was thought to be deeded but investigation conducted by Mr. Cotton disclosed the fact that it was not and he filed on it Saturday.

Woman's Curiosity.

"Woman's curiosity," said Mr. Fletcher, "is a quality of mind beyond human understanding."

"Yes," said Mrs. Fletcher. "What made you think of that?"

"The fool actions of a woman that I saw downtown today. She followed a man ten blocks just to get to read a placard that was fastened to his back. She spotted him at Thirty-fourth street. That was really the end of her rip—I made that out from something she said to another woman who was too fat to join in the chase—but when she caught sight of that flaming red poster tied to the man's back her curiosity got the better of her and she set out after him. He led her quite a chase across town and downtown and back again, but she never weakened. She tagged faithfully along in his wake, and finally she got close enough to read that notice."

Mrs. Fletcher reflected a moment.

"What did it say?" she asked.

"It advised her to get her teeth pulled somewhere on Sixth avenue."

Mrs. Fletcher thought again.

"Where were you all the time she was trying to find that out?"

"Me?" said Fletcher. "Oh, I was following the woman. I wanted to see if she finally caught up with the man."

The Porcelain Secret.

The porcelain industry of Germany is comparatively young, says the Berlin Morgen Post, and its development was rapid. Although it is generally believed that the Chinese kept their processes of manufacture secret, Julian's translations of their voluminous encyclopedia show that this is not true.

A Puzzle in Figures.

Take any number of three different figures, as 471, under it place the same figures in reverse order, subtract the lesser number and you will find that the middle figure of the result is invariably 0.

Further still, we can now reverse his number 297 in the same way and add the two numbers and the result will always come 1083. Thus: Taking 471 Reversing figures..... 174 Subtracting, we have..... 297 Further still, we can now reverse his number 297 in the same way and add the two numbers and the result will always come 1083. Thus: Taking 297 Reversing figures..... 792 Adding, we have..... 1089 Why should the answer always come out the same? Here's something for you to work over.

A Friend in Need.

A speaker in the recent Shropshire (England) election relates the following incident: One night he spoke in the poultry market at Whitechurch. The next morning a young man stopped him in the street and said: "I was looking well after you last night."

The speaker expressed surprise at the necessity.

The young man continued his story: "I saw a young man come into the meeting with his coat pockets bulging out in a way that made me suspicious. Two of us followed him in. He stood at the back of the room, and we stood one on each side of him. Gently but firmly we pressed against him. There was a faint crackling sound of breaking eggs, and the man was out of action."

Arms, Legs and the Man.

How many of us have noticed that we walk with our arms as well as with our legs? Sitting on a grassy slope overlooking a seaside promenade I was struck by the mechanical swing of the arms of the stream of passerby—the right arm always keeping position with the left leg and the left arm with the right leg.

Venice Too Wet For Her.

A woman who recently returned from a trip to Europe says wet weather hasn't bothered this country at all in comparison with what she saw abroad. She says that they ran into a town named Venice where the water covered every street, and you couldn't get anywhere except in boats.

Things to Remember.

He who would pass his declining years with honor and comfort should when young remember that he may one day become old and remember when he is old that he has been once young.—Addison.

In the course of a few years the body attains its full growth, but the heart may grow forever. It is a pity that so few hearts enjoy the privilege.—Albany (Tex.) News.
