NEWS OF THE WEEK

Don't forget that for $3.00 you can get the Condon Globe, the Oregon Semi-weekly Journal and Pacific Monthly for one year.

W. E. Hines of Turner, Ore., has been in the city during the past week attending to business interests in this vicinity.

Steve Thomas is again driving the Condon-Fossil stage.

Loui Comini, the tombstone man from The Dalles, has been in town for the past week. He has several stones to deliver in this city and also in Fossil.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Barker and little son Kenneth, who have been visiting in this city the past week, returned to their home in Portland on Tuesday.

A. R. Robertson of the Interior Whse Co., went to Arlington and Roosevelt Tuesday in the interests of his company.

Fred Wilson left for Twin Falls, Idaho, on Tuesday. His parents and sister expect to follow him within a few days and where they will make their home in the future.

The big dance of the season will be given in the Skating Rink on Thanksgiving eve. Big preparations are being made, you cannot afford to lose this enjoyable evening.

Miss Pearl Schott of Olex visited with her sister, Mrs. T. G. Johnson this week.

Hon. W. J. Mariner of Blalock, was among the number recently appointed to represent Oregon at the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, which will meet in Washington, D. C., December 9 to 11.

Mrs. Ed Selby of Pine Ridge left on Monday's train for Vancouver for a short visit with relatives.

Mrs. J. H. Gill of Washtucna, Wn., arrived in this city the latter part of last week to visit with her sister, Mrs. B. F. Butler. Mr. Gill accompanied her as far as Arlington where he stopped for a few days to shoot geese, arriving in town on Monday. Mr. Gill is the editor of a newspaper at Washtucna.

The Condon Drug Co. are settled in their new quarters in the Condon National Bank building. They are in the room recently vacated by S. C. Dodson. Chas. H. Williams still occupies his former space and altogether they have one of the most commodious and up-to-date stores in Eastern Oregon.

Colby Clarke returned Monday from Portland where he had been for a few days on business.

Jack Chandler came up from Clem Monday.

C. K. Andrews made a flying trip to The Dalles yesterday. He expects to return this evening.

The Merrifield building on North Main street is being moved sixty feet north. This will lower the insurance rates and will also bring the building out to the sidewalk. E. J. Catlett is in charge of the work.

W. R. Roberts, a Lone Rock stockman, was in town Monday transacting business.

Geo. Ray, the former sheriff of Wheeler county, spent Monday in this city. He is looking for a new location and was a passenger on the local Tuesday.

Heman Norwood, who has been spending the summer in Montana, returned to this city Monday. He expects to remain in this city.

John Scrivner and family of Gooseberry have rented the Schilling property in this city for the winter. Mrs. L. M. Schilling will spend the winter in Forest Grove where her son, Herbert, is attending Pacific University.

The brick masons have all completed their work on the new academy building and returned to Portland the first of the week. The roof is being put on this week and will be rushed as fast as possible, the tin tile having arrived a few days ago. The inside finishing work will be begun within a few weeks. L. E. Laurance began wiring the building for the electric lights on Monday.

W. N. Putnam of Mayville was in this city on Saturday last.

The editor of the Times is in receipt of a letter from Hor. R. Butler of Condon, in which he thanks us for the write-up given him at the time of his address here. He said in part, "no newspaper mention that I have received causes me so much pleasure." Mr. Butler no doubt feels that when praised by the enemy the praise is truly earned.—Forest Grove Times.

Mrs. H. W. Pauling now has charge of the sundry department in the Pauling store.

Captain Barnes' show window attracted considerable attention Wednesday morning because of two colored chalk cartoons illustrating Taft's victory. The pictures were drawn by Edgar Meresse, the local newspaper man, whose caricatures have not been seen in local windows for more than four years—Forest Grove Times. Mr. Meresse will be remembered in Condon through his bright and breezy writings while acting-editor of the Globe during the past summer.

Mrs. S. B. Barker and Ellis Purvine sang a beautiful duet at the evening services of the Congregational church last Sunday. It was a pleasure to hear Mrs. Barker's delightful contralto, the first time since she moved to Portland a year ago.

Chas. H. Williams, George B. Dukek and Chas. Kennedy went to Mayville on Saturday afternoon of last week to attend the exercises of the Odd Fellows lodge which were held there that evening. A bountiful supper was served at the Stinchfield hotel and those present enjoyed themselves immensely until an early hour of the morning.

Mrs. C. K. Andrews and little daughter went to Columbus, Wash., Monday for a few days, having been called by illness of Mrs. Andrews father.

KNOW HIS BUSINESS.

Why the Colored Cook Remained Below During the Blow.

A story is told of a well known amateur yachtsman who was one night anchored near a rocky and dangerous shore. Suddenly, just before dinner, a stiff inshore wind started up. The anchor began to drag. Another was rapidly thrown overboard, but in the increasing squall that, too, failed to hold. The schooner seemed in imminent danger of drifting on the rocks, but at last another anchor gripped, and the danger was past.

The yachtsman, nearly exhausted from his efforts, dropped on the deck to recover his breath and rest. In the quiet that followed there came to his ears the click-click-click-click of a busily manipulated spoon against a bowl. He listened for a moment and then went below. The cook was preparing salad dressing. "Why, Sam," he exclaimed in astonishment, "didn't you know that we nearly went ashore?" "Oh, yassir, yassir," came the undisturbed reply. "I thought she was goin' on de rocks, suah."

COMPOUND EYES.

Insects That Can See Thousands of Ways at Once.

We can see the single eyes of some insects without a lens, as in the locust. In viewing the house fly we need a lens. The big, visible, bulging eyes we see are composed of thousands of unit, cone shaped eyes bound into one compound eye, each of more or less spherical shape. Under a lens they look like glass eyed pavement bent to convexity. Their faceted cornea are variously set in square, hexagonal or prismatic frames. Each glistening facet is the corneal lens of a distinct self working eye. Their number in each compound eye is enormous. There are fifty such eyelets in the ant, 1,400 are allowed the drone bee and 3,500 the "workers." Our pet kitchen fly has 8,000 chances of seeing food crumbs, the beetle over 6,000, while more than 13,000 aid the dragon fly in his eleemosynary pursuit of the mosquito, offset somewhat by several thousand awarded the latter for a "sporting chance." The hawk moth gets pictures compounded by 20,000 contributors. Over 25,000 window the brain of the mordella (beetle), and 60,000—so it is claimed—contribute to the happy lives of some butterflies.—Dr. Edward A. Ayres in Harper's Magazine.

Ready Courage.

The Duchesse de Berry, whose husband was the son of Charles X. of France, is described in the "Memoirs of the Comtesse de Boigne" as one of the most courageous characters the writer ever knew. One day, when she was driving with her husband, the Duc de Berry, the horses took fright and ran away. The duchesse had continued the conversation without changing the tone of her voice, and at last her husband exclaimed: "Why, Caroline, do you not see what has happened?" "Yes, I see; but as I cannot stop the horses it is useless to trouble about them." The carriage was upset, but no one was hurt.

Shop.

"Well, well, well! Is this Bill Snoper?" "Yes, and this is—let me see—can this be my old friend Tom Grigson?" "That's who it is. I haven't seen you for—?" "Twenty-seven years." "That's right. Twenty-seven years! Well, well! What are you doing now, Bill?" "I'm a traveling evangelist. Are you a member of any church, Tom?" "Not yet. I'm a life insurance collector. I represent the best company in the world. Carrying all the insurance you want, Bill?"—Chicago Tribune.

The Cheapest Sport.

Falconry is about the cheapest sport in existence, so there is no reason why the workingman should not enjoy it—that is, when there is common land. It is also the most humane blood sport. The pursued has always the advantage. Then, when the end does come, how often death is instantaneous. There is, too, no escaping with an ugly wound. If escape at all is effected the quarry gets away unharmed.—Fry's Magazine.

Recognizing His Limitations.

Cholly—Let me see—what's that quotation about a nod being as good as a wink and so forth? Freddy—Why—er—I can't think—Cholly—Oh, I know that. I'm asking you to try to remember.—Chicago Tribune.

Too Inquisitive.

Magistrate—Why did you strike the telegraph operator? Prisoner—It wuz like this, yer honor. I give him a message to send to me gal, an' the feller started to read it. Then I swiped him.—London Telegraph.

The Honest Man.

Nearly every man in the crowd looks as if he were trying not to blush with modesty when some one observes that an honest man is the noblest work of God.—Ohio State Journal. Refinement which carries us away from our fellow men is not God's refinement.—Beecher.

Treasurer's Notice.

All outstanding County warrants up to and including warrant No. 18, Class "Q", and all preceding county warrants are payable on presentation at my office. Interest ceases after October 24, 1908.

70 YEARS

There are two kinds of whiskey. One is—the other isn't.

The kind that IS contains all the constituents that come from proper distillation and ageing—That's what makes it REAL whiskey. The kind that ISN'T is made of alcohol, prune juice and bead oil or is simply alcohol put in charred barrels, and branded whiskey. The Pure Food Law aims at having the consumer get exactly what he calls for. When you call for whiskey ask your dealer if it will respond to a government laboratory test. Ask him if he guarantees it. Then you will know what you are paying your money for. Buy the brand you know, the standard for 70 years. Cyrus Noble—pure whiskey—all whiskey—old whiskey.
