

COUNTY JUDGE DECIDES "WET"

Condon's Charter Similar to Medford's.

SALOONS MAY DO BUSINESS

Numerous Costly Trials Done Away With by Decision. Timely Step Will Lighten Burden of Taxpayers.

All the persons who were interested in the liquor cases which appeared before Justice of the Peace Wheeler during the past week, for once, had all they could do to follow the proceedings. It was a case of law, and after Geo. Wasson had been given a preliminary hearing in the Justice court and held to appear before the Circuit court under bonds of $750, he, through his attorneys, W. H. Wilson and D. R. Parker, commenced a writ of habeas corpus before County Judge Dunn which resulted in the release of the prisoner from the hands of the sheriff.

In his decision Judge Dunn held that the Justice should have sat as a trial court and not as a magistrate in as long as he had jurisdiction of the crime charged in the complaint, and that it was erroneous to deny the defendant a trial by jury. He further held that since looking over the Medford charter and its decision by the Supreme court, Condon with its similar charter, was exempt from the provisions of the local option law and that the state courts have no jurisdiction to try offences under said law so far as the city of Condon is concerned.

The other six defendants after this decision were not given a hearing and thereby the county was saved the great expense of numerous trials, as the District Attorney intended to prosecute all offenders from day to day and for each and every sale until the defendants were no longer able to give bail and thus compelled to close their places of business. The decision of Judge Dunn was timely and was received with general favor.

Adlard and Miss Elizabeth Burres, both of Ajax, were united in marriage by Rev. T. F. Murphy of this city. The young people left the same morning on the train for their honeymoon which will be spent in the Willamette Valley, after which they will return to make their home in Gilliam county. The Globe joins their many friends in wishing them much happiness.

Oregon Woolgrowers Meet.

The Oregon Woolgrowers association convention which was held in Heppner last week was a most successful one and of great benefit to the woolgrowers of the state. Coyote bounty law, sheep-shooting, forest reserve, salt supply, co-operative warehouses in eastern markets and the tariff were topics for discussion during the day. On some of these, drastic resolutions were adopted.

The convention put itself on record as favoring a bounty on the coyote, paid by the state. It may be said that the association will pay half of the bounty on the pest killed in the sheep localities.

Dr. Lytle, federal inspector, was instructed to refute the statement that coyotes killed the rabbits and that alfalfa growers were not in favor of the bounty law. Dr. Lytle said that the rabbits of Eastern Oregon had been done away with by disease, that the coyote killed more sheep and thus did more harm than the rabbit by its feeding on the alfalfa fields.

Resolutions were adopted in favor of retention of the tariff schedule as it now stands on raw wool, and to urge every senator and representative from wool-producing states to work to that end while in Congress.

President Burgess and Secretary Dan P. Smythe were re-elected, as was George McKnight, vice-president. Pendleton won out over Vale and the next meeting will be held there.

Ladies' Athletic Club.

The ladies of this city organized an athletic association at the meeting held last Monday evening in Supt. Stugill's office. The ladies appointed Supt. Stugill as manager, and Miss Lillian Ranney, secretary and treasurer. Two basket ball teams will be organized, and in a short time the ladies will challenge any ladies team in the state. The members will have the use of the Condon Athletic Club Hall on Thursday evenings when they will practice basket ball as well as doing general gymnasium work.

WILL ESTABLISH EXPERIMENT FARM

Pres. Kerr's Mission Successful.

GOVERNMENT WILL AID STATE

Means Work for the Gilliam County Improvement Association - Irrigated Farm Station to Be Started at Hermiston.

From Oregon Journal

Washington, Nov. 21.—President W. J. Kerr of the Oregon Agricultural College today procured pledges from a majority of the members of the executive committee of the National Farmer's institute, in convention here, for the meeting next July, at Portland. This will take 500 delegates besides their friends and families, to the Oregon metropolis.

"The reduced rates on account of the Seattle exposition," said Dr. Kerr, "will induce a large attendance. I have been assured that a number of presidents of agricultural colleges will go to the convention after spending their entire vacation at Portland and in its vicinity. Everything I planned before coming to Washington I have succeeded in carrying through."

More important than the Convention are the arrangements Dr. Kerr has effected with government bureaus for extensive assistance in experimental work in Oregon. The interior and agricultural departments have granted special concessions. The reclamation service will give lands, fenced and supplied with buildings, for an experimental station at Hermiston, and the bureau of animal industry will assist in maintaining it. The bureau of cereals has consented to co-operate with the state in dry land farming experiments in some dry county of the state.

"The results of these experiments will be to increase the state's production enormously," Pres. Kerr said.

It was Poor Richard who said: "A little neglect may breed great mischief; for want of a nail, the shoe was lost; for want of a shoe the horse was lost; for want of a horse the rider was lost."

Look to the nail in time and no mischief can follow. The shoe will be made safe, the horse saved, and the rider made secure. Look carefully to your eyes at the first hint of "something the matter." It may be a floating speck seen before the eye. It may be a headache, sometimes least thought of as coming from the eyes, but often having its origin there. It may be "eye blur", obliging you to shift the position or angle of your book, paper, or sewing, to see it easily. The eyes may water. The eye may get tired. You may feel the sensation of having your eyes strained, overworked. Anything that makes you conscious that you have eyes is a danger signal. The nail is then loose. Look out for the shoe. Seek relief where it is to be had. The best optician is none too good. Stop and think: Is your eyes: They should be treated by none but a thoroughly competent and experienced optician. You should know that there is a reliability and responsibility back of the treatment. This is even more important than the first step, because glasses fitted haphazard are as likely as not to increase the trouble. Be exceedingly careful of your eyes. You get but one pair in your whole life. Having recognized the danger signal, come to us and have your eyes EXAMINED FREE. We will be able to tell you what the trouble is. If you do not need glasses we will say so. We succeed where others fail. Obstinate and stubborn cases do not discourage us. We give you the full benefit of our expert knowledge in a free consultation. It is a serious matter with us. We have our name and reputation to protect.
