

PRES. KERR RETURNS HOME

Explains Work of Farms To Be Established.

DRY FARM IS NOW ASSURED

But Beginning of Movement for Development of Farming Industry Throughout Whole State.

President W. J. Kerr of the Oregon Agricultural College, upon his return to Corvallis the first of the month from Washington, D. C., announced the success of his efforts in obtaining for Oregon two new agricultural experimental stations. As mentioned in the Globe two weeks ago, one station will be located at Hermiston, the other in Gilliam, Sherman or Morrow county. The Globe also stated that Dr. Kerr had been successful in securing the co-operation of the department of agriculture in the establishment and maintenance of the stations, as well as having secured aid from the federal government in the way of equipment. These stations will be equipped with the latest scientific apparatus and will be in charge of experts. The federal government will also co-operate in carrying on the work by furnishing special experts from the department of plant industry.

Over a million acres of land in Eastern Oregon will be affected by the work of these stations. It is predicted that in from three to five years the experiments will result in an increase in returns to the farmers of these districts of many hundreds of thousands of dollars.

In discussing the work which is to be carried on, President Kerr said, "The establishment of these two stations is only the beginning of a movement which will cover the entire state of Oregon. As fast as conditions demand the work will be extended to southeastern and southern Oregon. The agricultural college and station will co-operate with the farmers and corporations throughout eastern Oregon in carrying on special experiments. The scope of the work will only be limited by the resources at the command of the experts in charge. This great work which means so much to the state of Oregon will be carried on with comparatively small expense to the state itself. The federal government will bear practically all of the initial expense and a large share of the expense of maintenance."

The work will cover experiments in both irrigation and dry farming. It is hoped that the dry lands which are cultivating and yielding but one crop every two years will be made to yield a crop annually. President Kerr is anxious for the support and co-operation of the farmers and business men throughout the state in the carrying forward and extension of this great work.

Swatforc-Dorsett.

A very pretty wedding took place at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon when George E. Swatford and Miss Lola Ion Dorsett were united in marriage by the Rev. L. M. Boozer, in the presence of forty guests, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dorsett, in Baker City. The beautiful ring ceremony was used. L. B. Tuttle of Elgin performed the services of best man, and Miss Amy Haynes was bridesmaid. A large number of handsome presents were received. The bride was a leader in church and social circles in Baker City, and will be greatly missed by her many friends there. The groom is manager of the Condon Drug Co. in this city, and although he has been here but a short time, has made a host of friends. The Globe joins in congratulations and best wishes for their success and happiness.

House Destroyed by Dynamite.

Jacob Larch, who is now in the east, had the misfortune on Friday of last week of losing his house by fire assisted by a can of giant powder. There are many different stories afloat as to the way it happened but as near as can be learned, the man who was working for John McEachern drilling a well on the Larch farm near Clem went to the house to get some Giant powder from the cistern where he had it cached and left it sitting on a bench outside while stepped into the house for a few minutes. On coming out he forgot the powder and went to the drilling machine and after some time noticed that the house was in flames. Seeing that the fire was beyond control and fearing that the powder would explode, he stayed away and after a few minutes the powder did explode, scattering bits of the house and pieces of the stove for hundreds of feet.

COUNCIL VOTES TEN-MILL TAX

To Pay Interest on Bonded Water System.

TALKS NEW WATER MAINS

Eight Thousand Feet of Iron Water Mains and Connections May Be Put in at Cost of $13,000 00.

Last Monday evening's council meeting was a busy session as most important business was brought up by Mayor Farnsworth for the decision of the councilmen.

The first matter to be taken up was new iron water mains to replace the wooden pipes. Mr. Fish, of Crane & Co. of Portland, was present to give the council an idea of the best material and cost. The 8,000 feet required, 7 1/2 inches inside measurements, with necessary connections, he estimated at a cost of about $7,000. The approximate total expense of completed job would be between $12,000 and $13,000, figured several councilmen. The council was united on rushing the work to early completion and definite action will be taken at the next meeting. The laying of new mains will, it is believed, lower the cost of running the water system and place it on a paying basis and perhaps lower the present high water rate, which is due to the loss of nearly half of the water pumped in the wooden pipes from the station on account of leaks. It is now claimed that the wooden mains were not properly placed. Bills amounting to $1,575.55 were ordered paid. D. Tierney for the O. R. & N. brought in a bill of $715.65 for a gasoline engine and pumping plant which the city had secured from the company several years ago and had been using since that time. This matter created much discussion as the price asked was thought exorbitant, and the bill was held over for investigation.

Mayor Farnsworth then took up the present railroad yards

Dr. Arthur A. Keene Says.

The Eye being a delicate organ demands the attention of the most skilled Optician in case of refractive errors, or Occulist in case of organic affection. The public should be especially warned against persons who impudently assume the title of Expert when it is a fact that they never saw the inside of an Optical College, hence are not qualified to detect the many and various kinds of refractive errors. An expert to assume this title legally must be a graduate in Optics. To avoid the possibility of the public being misled by unfair and untrue inferences, I wish to state that my title is not assumed, but was conferred on me by the faculty of one of the best optical colleges in this country. Remember, when you have paid a big price for a rough guess, which has made matters worse, call and see a Scientific Optician.

Dr. Arthur A. Keene, Graduate Optician.
