GILLIAM COUNTY—What It Offers.

With this issue, the annual Christmas number, the Globe endeavors to show the real growth of the best county in the Central Oregon country—Gilliam county. Ever since alkali plains and rolling hills with their growth of bunchgrass and sage brush, then the home of the cattle men, began to be cultivated and their productiveness as a wheat soil discovered, the county has made great advances. The little trading posts which supplied the few inhabitants in former days have grown into thriving towns until today they are rich centers for a vast territory. The residents of the county are awakening to the fact that the resources of this territory are vast and rich, they are learning to farm the rich soil under better methods which will result in crops of untold wealth, and have organized the Gilliam County Improvement Association to further the interests of the county, to advertise its real worth abroad and secure more people to help them farm and reap the golden harvest.

The county offers great opportunity to the homeseeker and it will bear the investigation of every person looking forward to a more suitable and money-making home.

"A Merry Christmas to all our readers" is the greeting of The Globe in this, its Christmas number.

Contest Notice

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR
U. S. Land Office at The Dalles, Oregon,
November 10th, 1908.

A sufficient contest affidavit having been filed in this office by Frankie T. Tobey, contestant against homestead, [Serial No. 61432] entry No. 1214, made May 16, 1903, for S<sub>2</sub>SW<sub>1</sub> Section 4, Township 3, S., Range 21, E. W.M., by Wm. Pollard, Contestee, in which it is alleged that said William Pollard has wholly failed to establish and maintain a residence upon said land and has wholly failed to improve the same and has failed to cultivate, fence, or place any improvements upon the same; that he has been absent from said land for a longer period than six months; that his absence was not due to his employment in the army, navy or marine corps of the United States in time of war. Said parties are hereby notified to appear, respond, and offer evidence touching said allegation at ten o'clock a. m. on December 28, 1908, before George W. Farman, a U. S. Commissioner at his office in Condon, Oregon, and that final hearing will be held at 10 o'clock a. m. on January 4th, 1909, before the Register and Receiver at the United States Land Office in The Dalles, Oregon.

The said contestant having, in a proper affidavit, filed November 10th, 1908, set forth facts which show that after due diligence personal service of this notice can not be made, it is hereby ordered and directed that such notice be given by due and proper publication.

C. W. MOORE, Register.

ARLINGTON---Gateway to CONDON, "The WHEAT CITY"

Arlington, situated on the south bank of the Columbia, and the northern terminus of the Arlington-Condon railway branch, is, as shown by the picture accompanying this article, a most desirable place to live. The climate is as near perfect as any that can be found. No excessively hot days in summer nor cold in winter. The heavy rains in the western part of the state are not known here, yet there is sufficient moisture to insure good crops. The beautiful shade trees which grow profusely are the envy of all cities of this section of Eastern Oregon. Arlington is blessed with a good water system, good schools and churches. Several large mercantile establishments do a thriving business here. Every line of business is well represented. The Arlington National Bank, whose ad will be found in these columns, was established over twenty years ago and its record as a banking institution is hard to equal. Arlington's transportation facilities are of the best as it is situated on the main line of the O. R. & N. and the steamers plying up and down the Columbia puts it in close touch with the large cities and best markets while the Condon branch brings it in touch with the interior. The country contiguous to Arlington affords excellent winter range for sheep and the amount of wool shipped from here is surprising. The accompanying picture of the Arlington Warehouse gives one an idea of the large amount of wheat shipped from here. The people of Arlington are most hospitable and the newcomer is always heartily welcomed.
