BUSINESS FIRMS PROSPEROUS

Carry Immense Stock to Supply Vast Territory.

In giving a general writeup of Condon's different business firms one can hardly do them justice. The pictures given in this issue, however, will serve a better purpose in giving an idea of the great growth within a few years.

In the same way that wheat raising has grown on an extensive scale, so have the business firms grown, until today the general merchandise stores are carrying any article needed by the people of the county.

It was only a few years ago that many of these firms were doing business in small frame buildings when the trade was attended to by one or two men. Today they remind us of the department stores of the city, where numerous clerks are always busy waiting on the customers with the most courteous treatment.

HOTEL OREGON

B. G. ROGERS, Prop'r

Leading Commercial Hotel of the city. Three stories high with bath and lavatory on each floor. This picture shows the exterior of the building and also a view of the dining room.

Hotel accommodations in this city are the best—the different hotels as well as the many rooming and boarding houses are under the best of management. All visitors to this city have for years spoken highly of the different hostelrys and Condon has reason to be proud of them. The Palace Hotel, under the management of U. S. Carnine is the gathering place of ranchers and stockmen, while several boarding and rooming houses enjoy a fine business.

The above picture gives a good idea of Dunn Bros.' establishment, one of Condon's up-to-date general merchandise stores, where almost any article may be purchased. It is an interior view of the main floor. The firm first started business in this city in 1893, when Condon's business section was made up of only a dozen frame buildings. In those days two men attended to the wants of the customers. Today a force of six men are always busy waiting on the trade. The building now occupied by this firm was the first brick built in the city, and, although at that time it was thought much too large a building, the firm is now making plans to enlarge the floor space. Three warehouses are now necessary to store goods for carrying on the business. Dunn Bros. have had a rapid growth and their business is increasing daily. They carry a full line of groceries, shoes, furnishings, cutlery, tin and granite ware, McCormick machinery, etc., besides doing an extensive business as agents for Lamm & Co., the Chicago tailors.
