J. L. Armstrong

J. L. Armstrong, who has been at St. Vincent's Hospital in Portland for the last month, passed away last Sunday. He had been afflicted for some time with cancer of the stomach and went there with the hope of obtaining relief but from the first there was no hope for recovery. He was sixty-eight years of age. Deceased was the first sculptor to reside in this state and quite a number of his models are still in existence.

The janitor of the Court House has been busy for the past week getting the lawn in shape. That part which was sown two years ago is in a flourishing condition and the trees are also doing well. The remainder of the yard was sown this spring and when this gets under way Condon can boast of having as nice a court yard as any in this section of the state.

: THAT WATCH OF YOURS :

Is in many respects similar to a railway engine. Let an engine be run without oil or cleaning and before long it will stop dead. Upon examination it will be found that the friction, wear and tear has ruined the machinery, and it is fit for but little more than the old iron heap. Likewise your watch. You put it in your pocket and while there is a kink in it, you, your mistaken economy, do not consult the watchmaker and consequently rob your watch of years of good service also much of its former accuracy. The time-keeping qualities of a watch are maintained and in fact improved by timely and skillful attention.

A reliable watch is a faithful friend; your reputation largely depends upon promptness and punctuality in your private and workaday life and you cannot practice this virtue without a reliable timepiece. Seven years experience in the Elgin National Watch Factory, together with fourteen years in public repairing watches, enables us to say to the people of Gilliam County, that the maintenance of our business and high reputation as thorough watchmakers, is dependent upon putting our efforts into every watch left with us. If you want your watch to be true to you, you must be true to your watch, likewise your clock, or your chronograph, repeater or chronometer. No work however complicated is beyond our skill, and our charges will be the lowest consistent with the best workmanship.
