J. Frank Lewis, a prominent rancher near Mikkalo, was married in the parlor of the Oregon Hotel in this city Monday night to Miss Ivy Schafer, Justice of the Peace E. Wheeler performing the ceremony. Joining with their many friends the Globe extends its best wishes for the future happiness and prosperity.

Through attorneys Weinke & Kavanagh, H. F. Downer secured a divorce yesterday from his wife, Sarah E. Downer. In his decree Circuit Judge D. R. Parker gave to Mr. Downer the custody of his four children who are under age. Suit for divorce was filed by Mr. Downer Jan. 10 and granted in a little over three weeks. This establishes a record in this district for promptness in handling a case of this kind and other judges might well afford to follow the example set by Judge Parker in expediting civil cases.

A telegram was received by W. L. Barker on Tuesday telling of the death of his father, C. F. Barker at Athens, Maine. Deceased was born in 1827 and has lived in Maine practically all his life. He is survived by five children, W. L., of Condon; S. B., of Portland; Louis of Casper, Wyo.; Austin, of the same place and Mrs. Kinsman of Colville, Maine. If we may judge the old gentlemen by the actions of his sons, who are within our circle of acquaintance, he was an upright and honest man.

Mr. Jones had eighteen acres of the yellow grain planted last year and raised between 30 and 45 bushels per acre. All the cultivation given the grain was one harrowing. Mr. Jones also brought in several samples of potatoes raised in his garden which are an evidence of what Gilliam County soil will produce, and in competition with the potatoes now being shipped into Condon they are easy winners.

A letter received recently by Mr. J. B. Jones near Mayville, from his wife who is at San Jose, Calif., for the benefit of her health, states that she is not as well as when she left Gilliam County several months ago.
