THE OFFICIAL PAPER FOR GIL-LIAM COUNTY

Let us have faith that right makes might, and in that faith let us to the end dare to do our duty as we understand it—Lincoln.

The movement for bringing out LaFollette as a candidate for the presidency as a representative of the progressive wing of the party is securing a hearty endorsement in many quarters, but whether it will finally be carried out is as yet not a matter of certainty. It is certain, however, that LaFollette is a man concerning whose position as to the issues between the progressives and the reactionaries there is never any doubt. He stands today where he has stood for fifteen years, first as a member of congress, then as governor and throughout his first term in the senate as well as up to the present in his second term, always fighting the tyranny of special privilege, contending for a square deal and for full control of the government by the people.
It is also certain that LaFollette's gitterest political enemies must look up to him as a man, whose championship of the people's rights has never in any way been influenced by any selfish interests. This much will always be said of him regardless of whether or not he becomes a candidate.

Not only did the Standard Oil Company lose its fight in the courts, but it will, if recognized, find itself fronting an adversary that it will be unable to cajole, buy out or intimidate. The Rothschilds have organized a company under the name of the California Amalgamated Oil Co. and have acquired an immense area of oil lands in California.
The Amalgamated proposes to enter the list against all comers as an absolutely independent producer.

The administration seems somewhat anxious to have either Cummins, Borah or Kenyon consent to stand for nomination for the vice presidency. Well, that would be a good change no doubt, but the country is not anxious to have either of them remove from the working ranks of the senate.

There are lots of men who think they are especially smart and believe themselves of great importance who would be surprised to know how little heartache will be caused by their final departure.

Who says that the women know nothing about politics?
They evidently know something about politicians at any rate for the suffragettes of New York have raised $100,000 with which to bring the legislature into line.

We used to hear a great deal of fun "poked" at those who attempted to do what was called "book farming." The man who read the books and tried to follow their directions knew what it felt like to be laughed at, but they are laughing now as they compare their income with the ones who derided them.

a Characteristic Attitude.

TRIBUTE TO THE TOILERS.

Humble Men Who Labor Are America's Might, Says Wilson.

In one of his recent addresses Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey paid an eloquent tribute to the toiling millions whose labor has given America its place among the nations. He said:

"You know how it thrills our blood sometimes to see how all the nations of the earth wait to see what America is going to do with her power—her physical power—her enormous resources, her enormous wealth, her power to levy innumerable armies and build up armaments which might conquer the world.

"But what has made us strong? The toil of millions of men, the toil of men who do not boast, who are inconspicuous, but who live their lives humbly from day to day, and this great body of workers, this great body of toilers, constitutes the might of America.

"What is the manifest duty of all statesmanship, therefore? It is to see that this great body of men who constitute the strength of America are properly dealt with by the laws and properly nurtured and taken care of by the policy of the country.

"Well, what hinders, what stands in the way? Why, you know that everything really worth discussing comes to the question of the corporations.
Now, I do not want you to expect from me any invective against the corporations. I was bred a lawyer, but I do not know how to draw up an indictment against a whole nation. If you will give me the facts I can indict one man at a time."

LABOR MUST ORGANIZE

If It Is to Secure Justice From Organized Capital, Says Woodrow Wilson.

Few public men have taken such definite ground on the question of the rights and duties of organized labor as has Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey. In a letter written to one of the labor leaders of his home state recently the governor said:

"I have always been the warm friend of organized labor. It is, in my opinion, not only perfectly legitimate, but absolutely necessary, that labor should organize if it is to secure justice from organized capital, and everything that it does to improve the condition of workingmen, to obtain legislation that will impose full legal responsibility upon the employer for his treatment of his employees and for their protection against accident, to secure just and adequate wages and to put reasonable limits upon the working day and upon all the exactions of those who employ labor ought to have the hearty support of all fair minded and public spirited men, for there is a sense in which the condition of labor is the condition of the nation itself.
The laboring man cannot benefit himself by injuring the industries of the country. I am much more afraid that the great corporations, combinations and trusts will do the country deep harm than I am that the labor organizations will harm it, and yet I believe the corporations to be necessary instruments of modern business."

DISCARDING THE LABELS.

Woodrow Wilson Comments on the Breaking Down of Party Lines.

"The country is awakening to a degree of civic consciousness known before only in the period when the country was born," said Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey in a recent address. "We are scrutinizing the men who are conducting the government.
We know we are living in an age of complicated conditions. From all our cities man after man tells me that never before have the citizens been so awakened to public questions—to the question of public degeneration.

"The interesting thing of our politics now is that men are not labeled. You cannot tell from the way a man voted last time how he will vote the next time. Men are beginning to find out that the safe line is the right line.

"The mere moral impulse in me is of no force unless it can be translated into action. It is immoral to propose for the United States something that is not of benefit to the whole United States. It is immoral to promote legislation for your business unless it is also for the interest of the rest of the country. Our government is not a paternal institution."
