MORE IMPROVEMENTS ON RANCHES

O. L. Woltman, owner of the Buckhorn Ranch, purchased a Star windmill with a twelve-foot wheel and also a force pump from Hollen & Sons this week. The well on the Buckhorn is at a depth of 310 feet and shows a flow of six gallons per minute. The drillers were unable to lower the water level in pumping for a half day. Mr. Woltman has a 15,000 gallon reservoir as well as a large tank and says if these do not hold enough he will build another reservoir. His large gasoline engine will also be attached to the pump to be used when there is no wind. Water will be piped into the house and also into the barn. Wilburn, the well contractor of this city, drilled the well.

Jos. Trevett recently purchased a Stover engine and a centrifugal pump from Hollen & Sons and has installed an irrigation system in his large garden northeast of town. In addition to several springs on his place this gives Mr. Trevett plenty of water for irrigation. The new pump will furnish 50 gallons of water per minute.

H. H. Willburn went to Clem Monday to look after his well drilling machines, two of which are working in that vicinity. The well he is drilling on the Plateau Farm near Clem is at a depth of over 400 feet with no water. They may decide to drill in another place.

Better Fire Protection Is Needed Says Geo. Jamieson

When Geo. Jamieson showed the council on Monday night the inadequacy of the fire protection at the hospital he also told them of the lack of necessary protection in other parts of the city and even on Main street. The reason for this he told them is that the city offers no incentive for the organization of a volunteer fire department. There is no reward for the volunteers and no thanks for their hard work. Consequently there is no real organization, no one takes any real interest in the matter, there are no practices, the hose carts are never out of their houses to see if they are in proper shape and when a fire starts, although everyone is willing to, there is no organized effort, everyone tries to do the same thing at once, nobody knows what they should do and the result is confusion and valuable time lost. Why not have two volunteer companies, one for each cart, and let them in practice compete with each other, starting at a given point to lay a certain amount of hose and have the water going in the quickest time, the losers to banquet the winners or something of that kind. Then let the city give a small reward for work well accomplished. This will arouse enthusiasm and result in unity of action in case of fire.
