FLAG OF HONOR

Condon has its honor flag an it is an honor to be proud of that Condon was one of the first towns in the state to subscribe its quota of the loan asked by Uncle Sam. The sight of this flag will convince the most ardent pro-Hun that this county is 100 per cent American and a poor place for him.

FAIR TO ALL

A farm wage scale for harvest at least is to be fixed for eastern Oregon and Washington and southern Idaho. This assures the farmer that he will secure labor to harvest his crop at a fair and equitable wage and the laborer feels satisfied because the wage fixed will be fair to him and he will know that wherever he goes in this section of the northwest he can command the

The German soldiers have been instructed to study the American style of fighting. Sooner or later the Huns will get an exemplification of that style which will be convincing enough without study.

There may still be some people who need to be reminded that this is not President Wilson's war or the Democratic party's but that it is the American people's war.

ering populace, but everything was normal. People were calmly proceed ing to their work. Crossing the street, I accosted a Bobble with: "Can you direct me to the place of damage?"

He asked me, "What damage?" In surprise, I answered, "Why, the damage caused by the Zeps."

With a wink he replied: "There was no damage; we missed them again."

After several fruitless inquiries of the passersby, I decided to go on my own in search of ruised buildings and scenes of destruction. I boarded a bus which carried me through Tottenham Court road. Recruiting posters were everywhere. The one that impressed me most was a life-size picture of Lord Kitchener with his finger pointing directly at me, under the caption of "Your King and Country Need You." No matter which way I turned, the accusing finger followed me. 1 was an American, in muftl, and had a little American flag in the lapel of my cost. I had no king, and my country had seen fit not to need me, but still that pointing finger made me feel small and ill at ease. I got off the bus to try to dissipate this feeling by mixing with the throng of the sidewalks.

Presently I came to a recruiting office. Inside, sitting at a desk was a lonely Tommy Atkins. I decided to interview him in regard to joining the British army. I opened the door. He looked up and greefed me with "I s'y myte, want to tyke on?"

I looked at him and answered, "Well, whatever that is, I'll take a chance at It."

Without the aid of an interpreter, I found out that Tommy wanted to know if I cared to join the British army. He asked me: "Did you ever hear of the Royal Fusiliers?" Well, in London, you know, Yanks are supposed to know everything, so I was not going to appear ignorant and answered, "Sure." After listening for one half-hour to Tommy's tale of their exploits on the firing line, I decided to Join. Tommy took me to the recruiting hendquaseers, where I met a typical English captain. He asked my nationality. I immediately pulled out my American passport and showed it to him. It was signed by Lausing. After looking at the passport, he informed me that he was sorry but could not enlist me, as it would be a breach of neutrality. I insisted that I was not neutral, because to me it seemed that a real American could not be neutral when big things were in progress, but the esptain would not culist me.

With disgust in my heart I went out in the street. I had gone about a block when a recruiting sergeant who had followed me out of the office tapped me on the shoulder with his swagger stick and said: "S'y, I can get you in the army. We have a 'leftenant' down at the other office who can do anything. He has just come out of the O. T. C. (Officers' Training corps) and does not know what neutrality is." I decided to take a chance, and accepted his invitation for an introduction to the lieutenant. I entered the office and went up to him, opened up my passport and said:

"Before going further I wish to state that I am an American, not too proud to fight, and want to join your army." He looked at me in a nonchalant manner, and answered.

right; we take anything over here." I looked at him kind of hard and replied, "So I notice," but it went over

He got out an enlistment blank, and placing his finger on a blank line said, "Sign here." I answered, "Not on your tintype,"

"I beg your pardon?

Then I explained to him that I would not sign it without first reading it. I read it over and signed for duration of war. Some of the recruits were lucky. They signed for seven years only! Then he asked me my birthplace. I answered, "Ogden, Utah." He said, "Oh, yes, just outside of New York?"

With a smile, I replied, "Well, it's up the state a little." Then I was taken before the doctor and passed as physically fit, and was issued a uniform. When I reported back to the lieutenant, he suggested that, being an American, I go on recruiting service and try to shame some of the slackers into joining the army." "All you have to do," he said, "is to go out on the street, and when you see a young fellow in mufti who looks physically fit, just stop him and give him this kind of a talk: 'Aren't you ashamed of yourself, a Briffsher, physically fit, and in mufti when your king and country need you?
