There are folks who try to create trouble and imagine they are of some service in the world.

Experience is one of the few costly things that is always worth just as much to its owner but for which there is no sale.

The only American troops that will ever "take to flight" are our squadrons of "Eagles" and their flight will be toward the Huns.

If the Creator ruled things according to the law of supply and demand, think of the number of people who would have never been born.

"Why is Wall Street?" the question which the ordinary mortal has oftentimes asked, has been answered. Wall Street has paid over $450,000,000 in revenue taxes for the last year.

"THE KAISER'S TALK TO HELL"

We have had several requests to publish the following poem which has been going the rounds, and which we here-with present:

The Kaiser called the Devil up On the telephone one day. The girl at Central listened to All they had to say.

"Hello," she heard the Kaiser's voice "Is old man Satan home? Just tell him this is Kaiser Bill That wants him on the phone." The Devil said "Hello" to Bill, And Bill said "How are you? I'm running here a hell on earth, So tell me what to do."

"What can I do," the Devil said, My dear old Kaiser Bill? If there's a thing that I can do To help you I sure will."

The Kaiser said, "Now listen, And I will try to tell The way that I am running On earth a modern Hell.

I've saved for this for many years, And I've started out to kill. That it will be a modern job: You leave to Kaiser Bill.

My army went thru Belgium, Shooting women and children down, We tore up all her country, And blew up all her towns.

My Zeps dropped bombs on cities, Killing both the old and young, And those the Zeppelins didn't get Were taken out and hung.

I started out for Paris, With the aid of poison gas, The Belgians, darn 'em, stopped us, And would not let us pass.

My submarines are devils, Why, you should see them fight! They go sneaking thru the sea, And sink a ship at sight.

I was running things to suit me, Till a year or more ago, When a man called Woodrow Wilson Wrote me to go more slow.

He said to me, "Dear William, We don't want to make you sore, So be sure to tell your U-boats To sink our ships no more.

We have told you for the last time, So, dear Bill it's up to you And if you do not stop it, You have got to fight us: too."

I did not listen to him, And he's coming after me With a million Yankee soldiers From their homes across the sea.

Now, that's why I called you, Satan, For I want advice from you, I knew that you would tell me Just what I ought to do."

"My dear old Kaiser William, There's not much for me to tell, For the Yanks will make it hotter Than I can for you in Hell.

I've been a mean old Devil But not half as mean as you, And the minute that you get here I'll give my job to you.

I'll be ready for your coming, And I'll keep the fires bright, And I'll have your room all ready When the Yanks begin to fight.

For the boys in blue will get you—I have nothing more to tell, Hang up the phone and get your hat And meet me here in Hell."

"OUTWITTING THE HUN"

By

LIEUTENANT PAT O'BRIEN

Copyright, 1918, by Pat O'Brien

Of course, it would have been a comparatively simple matter for our men, when they saw how things were going against them, to have turned their noses down, landed behind the German lines and given themselves up as prisoners, but that is not the way of the R. F. C.

A battle of this kind seldom lasts many minutes, although every second seems like an hour to those who participate in it, and even onlookers suffer more thrills in the course of the struggle than they would ordinarily experience in a lifetime. It is apparent even to a novice that the loser's fate is death.

Of course, the Germans around the hospital were all watching and rooting for their comrades, but the English, too, had one sympathizer in that group who made no effort to stifle his admiration for the bravery his countrymen were displaying.

The end came suddenly. Four ma-
