ELECTRICITY FOR EVERY FARM

DELCO-LIGHT

"The Best Lighted Farm in the County"

One prominent farmer says: "Delco-Light has actually added to the value of my farm—

"The neighbors speak of it as the best lighted farm in the county—

"But it is more than that—it is the best place in which to live—and to raise a family."

Delco-Light brings city comforts and conveniences and economies to the farm.

It lights the house and barn—it furnishes power to pump the water, wash the clothes, churn the butter, separate the cream—run the vacuum cleaner and the electric fan.

It is so simple that a child can operate it and so economical that it actually pays for itself in time, labor and fuel saved.

Buyers Want Ads

One of the Fossil stores is showing up the mail order business of Sears, Roebuck & Co. by advertising a comparison of prices. The price of certain articles at the store in Fossil is given as well as the price of Sears, Roebuck & Co. for the same article and in Fossil prices are the cheapest. The same thing can be done in Condon. Our local merchants will sell better goods for the same money than we can get from Sears, Roebuck & Co. but the local stores fail to get this home to us through lack of advertising. Sears, Roebuck & Co. know the value of advertising and, although it costs them big money, it gets them the business. The Fossil merchant is taking business away from the big mail order house because he tells the people plainly that he can save them money and then proves it. It is everybody's duty to buy at home and there is no reason for sending away when the local merchants beat the mail order price. On the other hand it is the business for the merchant to tell us that he can and will do this.

If there is more than one heaven, we hope we don't get our eternal reward in the same one with the psalm-singing patriarch who stopped his paper owing us seven bucks because we sent him a statement.

The paper alone for Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s catalogues costs them well over a million dollars out they pay it gladly for they know advertising gets them the business.

The ant and the bee have a habit of dealing unkindly with anyone who attempts to interfere with their business and they are pointed to as models of industry.

A habit may be good or bad according to whether you rule it or it rules you.

When a free press was guaranteed by the constitution it did not mean that subscribers could skip a year or two in paying whenever they felt like it.

A man does not have to be a "tight wad" to be thrifty. The thrifty man not only saves but he spends wisely and gives generously.

When you find a man who practices what he preaches, he usually is one who doesn't have much to say.

WHERE WOUNDED MEN YIELD TO DAY DREAMS

Restored to Health and Vigor in Red Cross Convalescent Homes.

The surgeon has extracted the impartially distributed bits of shrapnel from your works. The wounds have healed. The wheels go 'round again, and the clock ticks.

But it doesn't keep correct time. This business of calling "Time!" on the Boche means so many broken clocks nowadays that the master-menders can't keep them on their tables after they're mended. So the question where they shall sit around while they're being regulated looms large.

The Red Cross answers that question with its convalescent homes. It has six of these in operation. A suitable place is found—sometimes donated—and management and equipment are provided by the Red Cross, while the Army has furnished discipline and a never-failing supply of convalescents.

These homes mean that men who are scarcely hospital subjects, yet who can by no means go back to their duties, have a place that does what "home" does for the French or English soldier, what "home" does for any one, in fact, when the doctor gets through.

You know. He says: "You're all right now. It's only a matter of nursing and food."

But you know he's only looking at the works he's tinkered, and that the soul within you is grousing as it never did when the body was down and out. It wants something, and it doesn't know what it is. But if it doesn't get it pretty quick the works are going to get gummed again. You know your mother could find out what that doggone thing is right away and hand it to you on a plate. But General Pershing won't let you go to her. . . . And the War Department won't let her come to you.

Then you're taken to a Red Cross convalescent home—and there is the very thing you wanted! But you couldn't describe it even then to save your life.

It is a bit of coddling, and pretty surroundings, and women's faces, and light laughter and time to play and all that sort of thing. It is forgetting the crash of war and remembering that there are pleasant, soft voices. It's even such things as gaily-flowered sofa pillows to jam into a corner and make a nice lolling place while you read and smoke and talk. It's slippers instead of trench boots, or day-dreams in place of the nightmare of killing.

NO SEALS SOLD THIS YEAR.

The customary sale of Red Cross Christmas seals will not be held this year. It seemed best to both the American Red Cross and the National Tuberculosis Association to unite in the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call to reduce the number of appeals to the public for contributions. There will be no lessening of activities by the National Tuberculosis Association through this arrangement, as the Red Cross War Council has appropriated $2,500,000 for anti-tuberculosis work in 1919 in lieu of the money that ordinarily would be raised by a Christmas Seal Campaign. However, every person joining the Red Cross during the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call will be awarded ten seals to be used as heretofore.

THE RED CROSS GORDON.

An American Red Cross worker who was among those volunteering to help in the hospitals and at the station where the hospital trains arrived, overheard some of the wounded talking about the American Red Cross.

"Gee! We'd starved if it hadn't been for the Red Cross!" said one boy, and then, laughing at his own exaggeration, he went on to explain the circumstances under which the Red Cross representative with his division had done some timely service. The Germans, of course, were to blame, for they retreated so rapidly that it was practically impossible for the supplies to keep up with the pursuing Americans.

"We cleaned up seven kilometers in less than two hours," another reclining figure explained, "and they were still going when I was knocked out. For three days I had had nothing to eat but hard tack, and for some days before the food had been monotonous—to put it mildly. So you can imagine what it meant to us boys to have the Red Cross Gordon come up with a supply of chocolate, canned peaches and other good things. It was a life-saver."
