To Our Patrons.

There has been for some time a continual reduction all along the line in the matter of credits. The manufacturer now sells his goods to the jobber on a practically cash basis, and the jobber in turn demands prompt payments from the retailer in order to pay the manufacturer.

In order to get the best prices and take advantage of his cash discounts the retail merchant must now pay his bills in from 15 to 30 days. You can readily see that the merchant who carries a large amount of book accounts is seriously handicapped in doing business.

In order to meet competition and give our customers the advantage of the best prices possible we have decided to adopt the following system in regulating our credit accounts.

On and after December 1st, credit will be extended our patrons only on the following terms:

Statements will be rendered the 1st day of each month and payment must be made within 30 days after statement is rendered.

The nature of a credit store is such that it has numerous accounts among all classes of people and must have some fixed rule regulating its credits, so that the losses from bad accounts may be eliminated, and the customer who pays his bills be given every advantage.

We are adopting this plan, not only to protect ourselves, but in justice to those of our customers who always meet their bills promptly.

We are fully satisfied that this plan will work to the advantage of

What Will People Say?

What you wear and how you wear it commands a great amount of thought and talk on the part of your friends, acquaintances and neighbors.

If you wear good clothes, smartly styled, and wear them jauntily and well, only the most flattering remarks will result.

Our Clothes are very good, very smart, and very well worn by most men. Glad to have you see them.

Farming is a business proposition and the farmer is the biggest business man in business.

Don't forget the faithful old friend—the horse—remember he is prone to become tired as well as yourself.

Some of the world's first gentlemen and scholars and patriots were farmers and today some of the world's best thought is given to farming.
