Elmore Cannery to Run.

This bit of good news reached Cloverdale this week and everybody is jubilant over the fact. Work is now progressing rapidly in getting the cannery in condition for the season's run. Mr. Penter, the manager of the factory, expects to have it ready and running sometime between the 1st and 15th of August. Their boat with a cargo of cans is expected in today. The operation of the cannery will give employment to the fishermen and others and help to make times better in this end of the county.

Makes Interesting River Trip.

Arthur Burke, of Salmon, Idaho, is the guest of his uncle, James Burke, of this place.

Mr. Burke in making the trip from his home to Lewiston came down the Salmon river, which is navigable only in its downward course and then only in a flat bottom boat built for the purpose. The boat which he came in was manned by Captain Guleke, two friends of Mr. Burke and himself, and was 24 feet long by 6 feet wide.

From where Mr. Burke took the boat to the Snake river is 275 miles and 50 miles on the Snake river to Lewiston, where transportation by rail is available.

Mr. Burke relates some interesting experiences in riding over the various rapids of the river. He said the most exciting of them was the Long Tom, China and Pine Creek rapids.

The time consumed in making the river trip was six days. He describes this river trip as a most interesting one, with perpendicular rocky banks, whirlpools and eddies. Several magazine writers have made the trip with Captain Guleke, said Mr. Burke, and for each trip a new boat is built and when the destination is reached it is sold for what the lumber will bring.

A stop was made by the party at one of the villages to replenish their rations and one night was spent by the side of a hot spring along side the river.

Mr. Burke expects to remain in Cloverdale for some time.

Grim Scot Wit.

A Scottish minister had among his parishioners a man who dealt in old horses, alternating his spells of labor with heavy sprees. During the period of depression which followed each over-indulgence John habitually took to bed and there diligently studied the family Bible. During one of these fits of attempted reformation his condition prompted his wife to call in the Rev. Mr. Wallace, the parish minister, who at the time happened to be passing.

"Oh, Maister Wallace, come in and see our John; he's rale bad!"
"What's wrang wi' him?"
"He's feart to meet his Makker," said Mrs. John.
Quick as fire came the crushing reply: "Humph! The'll'm he need na be feart for that; he'll never see'm."

SUBMARINE TACTICS.

Locating the Enemy, Getting the Range and Making an Attack.

How does a submarine attack? How does it locate the vessel it wishes to torpedo and how does it proceed about the business of sending such vessel to the bottom? Here is the way the commander of Uncle Sam's submarine flotilla tells it:

"A submarine will come to the surface at 5,000 or 6,000 yards from the vessel it is attacking—far enough so the enemy is not supposed to see the periscope. It stays up long enough to get the enemy's course, then goes down and sets its course to intercept the enemy's ship.

"The vessel must be coming more or less toward the submarine, otherwise the submarine, with its low submerged speed, cannot catch it.

"The officers of the submarine will know the revolutions of the approaching ship and will use the gyrocompass with which to work out its exact position. They will know just when to come up to be within range.

"When the submarine comes up it will show the periscope as little as possible, take quick aim and fire its first torpedo. If it wants to remain there out of curiosity to see the effect it can. But if it does not it goes right down again.

"It stays a short time under water, turns the cap bringing new torpedoes up into the tubes and then comes up for a second shot if necessary."—Pittsburgh Press.

Proverbial Philosophy.

I don't know, writes a correspondent, whether the absurdity of some of our proverbs when used as a means of comparison occurs to people when they quote them. For instance, "As drunk as a lord." Any one who looks into a metropolitan police court when the night charges are being dealt with will see that intemperance is not the exclusive privilege of peers of the realm. "As dead as Queen Anne." Why Queen Anne? Why not Queen Elizabeth or Queen Boadicea? "As deaf as a post." A post is devoid of all the five senses, not hearing only. "As cheap as dirt." What is the exact market value of dirt? It is not mentioned in any tradesman's catalogue. "As poor as a church mouse." Who knows that ecclesiastical mice are less well off than their secular brethren?—London Standard.
