A national system of military roads is about the most important element in preparedness. Besides these roads would be of incalculable benefit to the country in times of peace, and would create prosperity on the farms along their lines.

WILL THE EARTH GET WOBBLY?

An exchange says in 1913 there were removed from the bowels of the earth 1,443,000,000 tons of coal. There were in the same year millions of tons of petroleum pumped out. The same exhaustive removal of coal and oil had been going on for years before and has been going on for years before and has been going on since.

The removal of these two staples has led scientists to enquire if the loss of weight in certain portions of the globe would make the earth top-heavy so that it would not whirl around as it had ordinarily. Other scientists have ventured the belief that the removal of these products from the earth is so gradual that if the earth were inclined to lose its stability, it would gradually learn to do its revolving just as if nothing had happened. Moreover, the vacancy caused by the removal of coal is usually filled by water so that if the earth wanted to become lopsided, the water would go a long way toward righting things.

It is said that nothing in this world can be destroyed. Coal can be reduced and its form changed into heat and ashes and gases, but it is not put out of the way. The same is true of petroleum. The void that follows its pumping to the earth's surface may be taken by water or some other member of the mineral kingdom.

Up to date the world is not wobbling any. It gets to shaking occasionally as the crust cools and we have quakes and tidal wave disasters, but when the trouble is all over, the earth is found revolving on its axis as if nothing out of the ordinary had occurred.

It is a safe bet that any monkeying with the bowels of the earth by man, or any shifting of earth or rocks should occur, the earth will find its center of gravity and maintain it even though the Rockies fall and the rivers dry up.

THE SLAB CREEK SAGE SAYS

And lots of people are too slow to make fast friends.

True love is always able to dispense with the valuable advice of outsiders.

And lots of people are too slow to make fast friends.

Opinions and visits should never be forced upon people.

After a man is married he seldom buys a hammock built for two.

Some men can't even blame cigarettes for their failure to make good.

It's awfully hard to give away some things you want to get rid of.

But instead of marrying a man to reform him, the average woman marries him to inform him.

Satan smiles when a young minister begins to congratulate himself on the beauty and eloquence of his prayers.

The average man has more ambition than ability.

A man isn't necessarily polished just because you can see his finish.

But few men work overtime in an effort to make their wives happy.

The wrinkles caused by worry are the result of worrying over something that worry could not help.
