Some miscreant entered the home of Dee Moon last evening while the family were absent and stole a number of cans of beans. Several have reported missing chickens and it is possible that we have lurking around in the neighborhood a gang of hoodlums that should be routed.

The committee having in charge the musical and literary program to have been given at the church last Monday evening decided to postpone the same to next Monday evening on account of the stormy weather and high water. The performers have had another week to gain proficiency and those who attend will be treated to an entertainment worth more than the price of admission.

J. C. Foster while east last winter selected several varieties of trees and shrubs and recently received by shipment a few pawpaw trees. This tree produces a very delicious fruit resembling in size and shape the banana but with a skin like an apple. He has among his collection several pencil cedars, elm, three kinds of oak, a mawho and black walnut.

The attendance at the Wednesday evening entertainment of the moving picture show was not quite as large as the previous Wednesday. The pictures are becoming more interesting as the story develops and the attendance should increase. The proceeds of the Wednesday evening entertainments go to the church and that's another good reason why you should attend.

The news that our roadmaster, James Baker, had joined the benedicts was received here with some surprise. All his friends here thought he was a confirmed bachelor, but last week Wednesday at the parsonage of the Christian church he was united in marriage to Miss Ostie Hedge, of Portland, who is quite well known and highly respected in this part of the county. The ceremony was performed by Rev. VanWinkle in the presence of a few relatives. The Courier is a little late but heartily join their many friends in wishing them happiness.

RECIPE FOR GRAY HAIR.

To half pint of water add 1 oz. Bay Rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and ¼ oz. of glycerine. Apply to the hair twice a week until it becomes the desired shade. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Full directions for making and use come in each box of Barbo Compound. It will gradually darken streaked, faded gray hair, and removes dandruff. It is excellent for falling hair and will make harsh hair soft and glossy. It will not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy, and does not rub off.

Take the old reliable White stage for a comfortable, safe and sure trip to Tillamook.

A Lazy Man.

A worthy old citizen of Newport who had the reputation of being the laziest man alive among "them hillocks," so lazy, indeed, that he used to weed his garden in a rocking chair by rocking forward to take hold of the weed and backward to uproot it, had a way of fishing peculiarly his own. He used to drive his old white faced mare to the spot where the tautog (blackfish) might be depended on for any weight, from two to twelve pounds, backed his gig down to the water side, put out his line and when the tautog was safely hooked started the old mare and pulled him out.

In Hard Luck.

Appealing to a lady for aid an old darky told her that through the Dayton flood he had lost everything he had in the world, including his wife and six children. "Why," said the lady, "I have seen you before, and I have helped you. Were you not the colored man who told me you had lost your wife and six children by the sinking of the Titanic?" "Yes, ma'am, dat wuz me. Mos' unfort'nit man dat eber wuz. Kaint keep a fam'ly nobow."

How She Earned It.

"Cultivate a little more sunshine in your disposition, my dear," said Mr. Dubbley. "Happiness and success in life depend upon the quantity of rays one emits."

"Very well, John," replied Mrs. Dubbley; "I'll do my best, but I think I'd be happier and more successful into the bargain if you would emit a ten dollar raise in my allowance."—Harper's.

Telling Stories to Old People.

There is one development of story telling which seems to have been very little considered—namely, the telling of stories to old people, and that not only in institutions or in quiet country villages, but in the heart of the busy cities and the homes of these old people. How often, when the young people are able to enjoy outside amusements, the old people, necessarily confined to the chimney corner and many of them unable to read much for themselves, might turn to the joy of their childhood by hearing some of the old stories told them in dramatic form. Here is a delightful occupation for those of the leisured class who have the gift and a much more effective way of capturing attention than the more usual form of reading aloud.—From the "Art of the Story Teller," by Marie L. Shedlock.
