The greatest error a city or county government can make is to let commercialized vice and crookedness go unmuzzled. An unrestrained city soon gets beyond control, like a wayward child. It is much easier to hold crime and its kin under check at the start than to attempt to bridle it after it has gained a foothold. The city that is careless and neglectful of its own interest will reap its natural harvest.

Fads of Fashion

Getrelia has Passed up her "rat"
Because it won't
Go in her hat.
—Youngstown Telegram.

Flerella, who
Was out of date
Moved wasit line up
And Now looks great;
—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Her hat is green,
Her gown is pink,
Her stockings red—
She's daft, I think.
—Grand Rapids News.

She now can walk
With mannish tread,
No more tight gowns
For her to dread.
—Mansfield Shield.

She cut off short,
With cunning ruse,
Her skirt to show
Her snow-white shoes.
—Orchard and Farm.

Sally looked but sweet sixteen,
Her skirt was short and nifty;
But horrors! when you saw her face,
She was nothing under fifty.
—Portland Live Stock Exchange.

This spinster lives in Tillamook
And nary a feller has ever shook.
She milks the cows and feeds the swine;
And she'll cath a sucker if you give her time.

We haven't much use for misers, but it is far better to freeze on to your money than to burn it.

There are two distinct classes of college graduates: Those who accept positions and those who hunt jobs.

When a man does a fool thing that gets him into trouble he is sure to say that "accidents will happen."

Comparatively little work can convince a man that he needs a rest.

Before some preachers condemn a sin that investigate its financial standing.

The optimist cheers, but the pessimist saves his breath for the purpose of letting out a calamity howl later.
