Cleaning Furniture

To clean white enameled furniture remove all dirty marks with a flannel dipped in wood alcohol, then wash with tepid water to which has been added a little oatmeal.

Paint or woodwork that has become greasy should be cleaned with a cloth dipped in turpentine, then wiped with a cloth dipped in water to which a little kerosene has been added.

Stains may be removed from marble by brushing the spots with a brush dipped in a paste composed of equal parts of soft soap, quicklime and caustic soda. Leave on for several days, wash off and dry, then polish with soft cloths.

When a wicker chair requires cleaning, dust it well and wash in tepid soapsuds. Mix together equal parts of turpentine and sweet oil and a few drops of methylated spirits. When the chair is quite dry rub with a cloth moistened with the polish.

Pickled Eggs

Place in an agate ware saucepan one pint of vinegar and add half a teaspoonful of whole cloves, one blade of mace, one broken stick of cinnamon, one teaspoonful of allspice, half a teaspoonful of salt and a saltspoonful of pepper. Simmer the spices and vinegar for ten minutes. Boil four or five eggs for twenty minutes, cool in cold water and remove the shells. Place the eggs in a fruit jar and pour the boiling hot vinegar over them. The eggs should stand in the spiced vinegar for at least thirty-six hours before using. If one or two sliced beets are cooked with the vinegar it will impart a delicate pink color to the eggs. Eggs prepared by this method are very desirable for salads or sandwiches.

Winter Is the Time to Kill Next Summer's Flies

Don't let your home become a winter haven for flies, says the North Carolina state board of health. Even the clean home when the weather turns cold becomes attractive to flies, and only the greatest vigilance will keep them out. But when flies do get into the home at the coming of cold weather don't let them go to the ceiling and stay there. And don't think that the first freeze will kill them out. Flies are not dead when they lie around stiff with cold. The next warm spell or next spring will show you they were "possuming."

In case of a freeze, however, every fly in the house should be swept down and burned. They should be sought out and brought from under cover in every room in the house, from the cellar to the garret. Scientists tell us that the flies that were hatched late and that have not completed their life cycle are they which live in an even temperature through the winter and become the progenitors of our countless millions next summer. Consequently now is the time to fight next summer's flies.

This is the time when "swatting" flies will be really effective. But if there are too many to "swat" trap or poison them. Use fly paper and every other means in order that not one may be carried over from one season to the next.

MEN OF STANDING TELL THEIR FRIENDS ABOUT THE BEST TOBACCO

WHEN you gentlemen get together at your lodge meetings, somebody is pretty sure to start the little pouch of W-B CUT up the line for his brothers. It's conducive to brotherly feeling. There is gratitude for the rich tobacco that makes a little nibble go so far and for the touch of salt that brings out the tobacco satisfaction without so much jaw work.
