The most important and valuable road work to Marion, Yamhill, Polk and Tillamook counties, and in fact to all of western Oregon, is the proposed highway leading into Tillamook county by way of Sheridan and through the Nestucca country. It is proposed to practically eliminate the Coast mountain grades by a cut-off and thus to place the ocean within three hours of Salem by easy automobile travel. This will make the only passable road from Tillamook county into the Willamette valley, and one that will be kept open the year through. There is no one in all this section that would not benefit from the opening of this proposed highway, and it would add immensely to that attractiveness of all this section to the eastern excursionists who are coming in increasing numbers to add to the wealth of all Oregon.—Statesman.

SO BADLY BURNED THAT DEATH RESULTS

Mrs. Robert Waymire Passes Away Sunday Morning From Burns Received the Evening Before.

Mrs. Robert Waymire met with an accident last Saturday evening which resulted in her death Sunday morning at 9 o'clock.

About 9 o'clock Saturday evening Mrs. Waymire was working around the stove when her clothing caught fire. Her husband was in the house at the time and managed to extinguish the burning clothing but not until she had been so badly burned that recovery was impossible.

The Waymires live on a farm back of the Herman farmer ranch.

Mr. Waymire's hands were so badly burned that he was taken to a hospital and it is reported that he will lose most of the fingers of both hands.

The unfortunate woman was buried at the Union cemetery Monday afternoon, Dr. Montgomery preaching the funeral sermon.

Mrs. Waymire was born in Lincoln Center, Kansas, December 25, 1880, and was married to Robert Waymire April 2, 1908. Three children are left motherless, who with the husband, have the sympathy of the entire community.

The Sickroom

In case of sickness the patient's room should have in it only the necessary pieces of furniture—bed, one chair and table—no carpets and no draperies. It can then be easily kept clean and sanitary. Scrubbing should take the place of sweeping, and the dusting should be done with a cloth wrung out of a disinfectant solution. Care used in the sickroom and about the things used by the patient will have much to do with checking the spread of disease.

Worth Knowing

A spoonful of water added to an egg before beating it makes it more frothy. A little flour spread over the top of cakes before they are iced will prevent the icing from running off. To make boiled potatoes white let them lie (pared) in cold water for two or three hours previous to cooking. Breadcrumbs should always be used for covering articles for frying, as cracker crumbs absorb the grease. Bake your potatoes on a wire dish drainer. They bake evenly, require no turning and are easily removed from the oven all at once. When making chocolate filling for cake add the grated rind of lemon or a little cinnamon. It improves it greatly. Mend your china at home by mixing a teaspoonful of alum and a table-spoonful of water and placing in a hot oven until transparent. Wash the broken pieces in hot water, dry, and while still warm coat the broken edges thickly and quickly with the mixture.
