Reforming Him.
The girl of whom we are about to speak was engaged to marry a young man who for many years had been busy earning a reputation as what is variously described as "a rounder," "a man about town" and a "prominent clubman." That is to say, this lady was going to take an chance on a very sporty bachelor for better and for worse.
"Dear," she said to him chummily. "I know you like your nights out. I know you drink a little—you must teach me to mix cocktails. I know you smoke—I can learn to roll cigarettes. And I know you play cards a lot—but you can teach me to play cards."
"What a darling you are!" exclaimed the man. "I will teach you a game of cards now, and then you'll know all about it after we are married."
"Fine. What game are you going to teach me?"
"Solitaire."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

LOCKED CORK FOR BOTTLES
Key Takes Place of Corkscrew With This New Stopper—Safety Afforded to Poison Phials.

An ingenious method of corking bottles has been invented which is applicable to the bottling of more expensive liquors, Chambers' Journal states. This latest device comprises the familiar cork made to standard sizes so as to fit bottles of varying capacity and shapes and provided with a patent metallic double cap. The cork is driven into the bottle in the usual manner; but, instead of a cork screw, a small key is used for its withdrawal. In the metallic cap is a small slot for insertion of the key, which is slightly depressed. This causes the upper part of the cap to fly upward by means of a spring. This movable disk, which slides upon a substantial though slender shaft, serves as a grip for the fingers, so that a steady and direct pull draws the cork without damaging it. Consequently, when some of the contents of the bottle has been poured out, the cork may be replaced and driven home, the bottle being thus sealed as tightly as it was originally. To all intents and purposes it is the application of the Yale lock used for doors, etc. The cork cannot be drawn without the key, so that tampering with the contents or improper use is impossible, because the key is in the possession of the owner or some responsible person. The drawing of a cork thus becomes an easy operation, and destruction of the cork is prevented. Although the stopper has been designed specially for the liquor, wine and spirit trade, it at the same time completely solves the vexed question of securing the safety of bottles containing poisonous liquids, as a bottle stoppered with this new appliance cannot be opened without the key; and as this is in safe keeping, premeditation is required to obtain the contents.

GUARD FOR POISON BOTTLES
Gummed Band Carrying Wire Loop Gives Warning That Phial Contains Dangerous Substances.

A very simple device for conveying a warning that a bottle contains poisonous substances has been patented. It consists of a gummed band carrying a wire loop, the ends of which, terminating in spring coils, are firmly fastened in the texture of the Band for Poison Bottles. The band, says Popular Mechanics. The wire loop is normally held over the top of the cork, but may be pulled back with the forefinger when the cork is to be removed, and springs back to upright position. It is obvious that the cork cannot be removed without indicating the nature of the contents of the bottle. The device is applied by simply moistening the gummed side of the band and sticking it around the neck of the bottle.

Taken Alive.
An Englishman, who recently visited this country for the purpose of hunting big game in the west and in British Columbia, related a story of a fellow Britisher, who was non-shooting in Uganda.
This sportsman had had excellent luck. Nearly every day he would pose beside a freshly killed lion or other beast and his photographer would snap him for the magazines.
One afternoon the picture man, who was taking a nap in the hut, was awakened by a loud noise. He arose and looked out. Sprinting toward him from the woods, hat gone and coat tails flying, came his chief. At a considerable distance behind, luckily for the hunter, stalked a huge lion.
"Quick! Quick! Open the door, Dick!" exclaimed the hunter. "I'm bringing one home alive!"—Outdoor Sports.

"Yes, of course. But can't I ask you something about the same question?"
"Yes; what is it?"
"Was 'Adam' his first name or his last name?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Blood Troubles Are Often Hard to Locate
Catarri, for Example May Be the Cause of Very Serious Illness.

A Slight Trouble Often Brings Serious Blood Disorders.
A chronic cold means something wrong constitutionally. Pimples mean bad blood. Rheumatism means faulty elimination. These and a hundred other symptoms are easily recognized, but where is the trouble. Where is it located? What is wrong with the bodily machine?
If you will go into any first class store and get a bottle of S. S. S. you are on the way to getting rid of those conditions that cause sickness and disease. But don't let anyone work off that old trick of something "just as good."
S. S. S. is taken into the blood just as naturally as the most nourishing food. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, enables all mucous surfaces to exchange inflammatory acids and other irritating substances for arterial elements that effectively cleanse the system and thus put an end to all pollution. S. S. S. cleanses out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in the process of purification.
You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a steadily improved condition of the skin, and a sense of bodily relief that proves how completely the entire system was loaded with impurities.
You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as eczema, rash, lupus, tetter, psoriasis, boils, and all other diseased conditions of the blood. For special advice on any blood disease write to The Swift Specific Co., 223 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.
Do not trade with substitutes, imitations or any of the horde of "Just as good" Counterfeits of S. S. S.
