Gus Hill and L. Y. Matthews have been engaged for the past six weeks hauling lumber for Thos. Siegel's barn and silos. Mr. Hill whose home is at Westfall, Oregon, was looking at the valley with a view of locating and may return in the spring to make this his future home.

Frank Hopkins Said:

"If you ever take a notion to give my little boy booze, please take him out in the back alley and chop his head off before you do it; for then I know that the angels will clap their hands and say, 'There comes another little boy who is forever freed from the possible curse of liquor.' But if you give him booze you make him a drunkard, and sell him to the devil for time and eternity. I had ten thousand times rather have you kill my little boy than to make him a drunkard. If you tell me you must either kill him or teach him to drink, I will tell you to kill him, and after you have accomplished your bloody deed, I will take you by the hand and tell you that you have rendered me one of the kindest acts I ever received from any one in all my life." THE TRUTH ABOUT THE BLUE SKY LAW

The blue sky law has NOT put a dollar into the state treasury that would not under the law since 1903 have gone into the treasury. Ever since 1903, corporations have been required to pay certain fees. See laws of 1903, page 39. The blue sky law merely created a new office at a salary of $3000 per year, and provided a job for a host of clerks, and requires corporations to pay the former fees to this new officer. See laws of 1913, page 671. It is also very doubtful if the law has saved the public a dollar, in place of two million dollars, but it is certain that it has greatly hampered legitimate concerns and prevented the investment of millions of dollars of foreign capital within the State of Oregon.

What Oregon requires is not more new schemes and freak laws, but to get rid of many we now have. A few commissions may be consolidated to advantage, but the most urgent need is to dispense with a lot of worthless commissions and prevent the creation of any more useless jobs for hungry parasites. In place of devising a new and impracticable scheme for consolidating 70 different commissions, it would be better to just simply dispense with a lot of them. The public will be vastly better off by devoting a little attention to cutting down taxes rather than indulging in further experiments. Appropriations should be lowered to the actual and necessary expense of carrying on the legitimate business of the state.

Gus Hill and wife, who have been visiting relatives and friends in this vicinity for some time past, left last Friday for their home in Westfall, Oregon. They were accompanied by their nephew, Tracy Matthews, who will spend a month at their home.

Rev. Horn at Christian Church

Rev. Marion F. Horn, field secretary of the Eugene Christian College, preached last Sunday morning and evening to large congregations at the Christian Church. The morning subject was "Some Sources of Strength," and the evening subject, "The Great Controversy." Sunday evening the Methodist congregation postponed this service, and their pastor and people turned out in a body to hear Dr. Horn. He visited several families in the valley in the interest of his college.

MITCHELL FOUGHT FOR FARMER

He took a leading part in killing two-thirds of the laws introduced at the last session. He fought the farmers' battles single handed throughout the session, and was the only member who did this.

He advocates saving $150,000 annually by introducing a law to abolish all our commissions by combining their work into six departments based on the Minnesota plan:

1. Finance.
2. Public Domain.
3. Public Health and Welfare.
4. Education.
5. Labor and Commerce.
6. Agriculture.

He would substitute the budget plan for the o.d. mad, scramble for appropriations so as to stop extravagant waste of the people's money. This is the Minnesota plan.

He worked day and night trying to give faithful consideration to 1000 laws in the same time required for a supreme judge to turn out a single legal opinion. He does not claim to have been above mistakes, but he did give Baker County faithful and honest service. His experience will be a big asset in the State Senate. Let's promote him.—(Paid Advertisement)
