THE HONOR ROLL

Mrs. Guyer received a letter from her son Ralph last Friday announcing his safe arrival at the training camp. His address is Ralph Guyer, 2nd Training Brigade, Line 72 Kelley Field, San Antonio, Texas.

Mr. Derrick handed us the address below and said that the report circulated in this neighborhood that Guy had tried to quit Uncle Sam's service, is entirely without foundation.

Guy Derrick, 184 Aero Squadron, Camp Fallafeno, Field No. 3, Forth Worth, Texas.

Mrs. Fertha Morris called Saturday and subscribed for the News to be sent to her brother, W. L. Makinson, a former Richland resident and who is in Uncle Sam's service as shown by the address given below. Herewith are extracts from a letter recently received by Mrs. Morris:

"I have been in the hospital about a week now and guess I will be here for a month yet. I saw one of the Eagle Valley boys the other day. It was Ed Blue; he is here at this station. I sure was surprised when I saw him as they generally send them to Frisco. I sure got enough of Frisco when I was up there; it is about the bumest town I was ever in. But say, San Diego is sure a paradise; this is going to be my home from now on. We are stationed at Balboa Park and it is sure a swell place. When I get out of the hospital I will get a bunch of pictures and send to you—one of myself and wife—believe me, I have got a cute little wife, she is just like a big doll."

W. L. Makinson, U. S. N. T. S., San Diego, Calif.

Geo. Trickle, now on his way south writes to have "Thorp hurry the paper on." His address is George Trickle, Kelly Field S, A.S.S.C., San Antonio, Tex.

Wm. Masterson called Monday and ordered the News sent to his son Ray, whose present address is given below. He said Ray had written that he had received no mail at all from home since enlisting, as he had been changing around so much, and that he had just got back from Texas and expected to remain at his present location for some time. His address is Ray Masterson, 5th Co., 417th Squadron, Vancouver Barracks, Vancouver, Wash.

Word has reached here that Beadon Ashby is again back at the barracks at Vancouver, Wash.

Raymond C. Keller is now at Field Hospital No. 34, Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga.

Friends of Ed Blue desiring to write him should address him in full as shown below, as there are three other men named "Blue" in his company:

Edwin W. Blue, U. S. N. T. S., San Diego, Calif.

Soon Over His Cold.

Everyone speaks well of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy after having used it. Mrs. George Lewis, Pittsfield, N. Y., has this to say regarding it: "Last winter my little boy, five years old, was sick with a cold for two or three weeks. I doctored him and used various cough medicines but nothing did him much good until I began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. He then improved rapidly and in a few days was over his cold."—ad

Shaving Brushes 25c to $1.25 on sale at Drug Store.—ad

As pretty a piece of handiwork as we have seen for many a day was a pair of wristlets shown us yesterday by Wm. Ashby. They were made of red, white and blue yarn and were knit by "Bill" himself.

When you need a new box of stationery, buy it at Drug Store.

C. J. Shaver has sold his farm north of the school house to Bert Rogers, and has rented the 80-acre ranch recently purchased by Mr. Rogers from Mr. Seigel.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hatley and R. B. Hatley of Pullman, Wash., have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Stout at the Richland Hotel.

BIRTHPLACE OF BASEBALL.

And the Diamond as First Laid Out by Abner Doubleday.

In the new Delaware and Hudson station at Cooperstown, N. Y., hangs an oil painting with an inscription that runs thus:

MAJOR GEN. ABNER DOUBLEDAY 1819-1892. Graduated from West Point, 1842, commanded 30th N. Y. Inf. Civil War Volunteer from Cooperstown. He originated our National Game of Baseball and it was here in 1843 that he laid out the first baseball diamond. He set out the special baseball Constitution in 1845.

The decision that Abner Doubleday was the father of baseball and that Cooperstown was its birthplace followed a thorough investigation of many clues. The commission, which numbered among its members two United States senators and several high officials of the National and American leagues, spent a long time in completing the research.

At the time of the investigation Abner Graves, one of the original players, was a mining engineer at Denver, Colo. He proved to be the only survivor among those young Cooperstown boys who played so long ago in a village field, conveniently near Greene's select school. He reported that he saw Doubleday mark off the lines and place the bases and players virtually as they are in baseball today.

The game had previously been nothing more than the English rounders, to which baseball, as now known, bears as little resemblance as drafts to chess. Abner Doubleday, who was then twenty, received his inspiration one day while he was playing rounders, and he lost no time in marking out a diamond with a crooked stick. Later he blocked out his new scheme on paper, but it is interesting to remember that he tried it first on Mother Earth.

The diamond he drew was thirty yards square. Players, amateur and professional, have come and gone; rule after rule has been modified; underhand throws and curved deliveries have arrived; a change has come in the size and weight of the ball, which originally was two and one-half ounces of rubber covered with yarn and leather, weighing six and one-half ounces and measuring ten and one-half inches in circumference; in the wake of the ball have followed padded gloves, catchers' mitts, breast pads and masks, but the diamond of today still measures ninety feet along each side.
