RICHLAND, ORE., THURSDAY, MAR. 14, 1918, Vol. 6, No. 18

This paper has enlisted with the government in the cause of America for the period of the war.....

BE AN INVESTOR

When you buy one of the U. S. Government War Savings Stamps you make the kind of investment capitalists are anxious to get.

There's not a doubt but that moneyed men would soon take all the issue of War Stamps if they could. With the payment of the interest and principal guaranteed by the honor and resources of this nation, and an interest rate of 4 per cent compounded four times a year, no other investment offer is quite so attractive as this.

But the government wants its War Savings Certificates to be owned by the millions of Americans. That's why the stamps are in small denominations.

You can buy a War Savings Stamp in March for $4.14, in April for $4.15, and so on until December of this year, when the price will be $4.23. You can buy government Thrift Stamps for 25 cents each. They will help people save many a quarter and may be used in the purchase of the interest-bearing War Savings Stamps.

Start today to be an investor. We Americans need the savings habit. Uncle Sam is giving us the best chance in the world to get it. Start investing today in W.S.S. and help win the war.

The Oregon division of Public Information about the war asks the people to be careful about whom they talk to at any time. Germany has a lot of spies in Oregon who are eagerly picking up any sort of information. Therefore, if you know anything keep it to yourself or tell it directly to a representative of the government.

Now is the time to buy Squirrel Poison at Richland Drug Store.

MEDIATION IN WAR

Roman Popes, From Earliest Time Deemed It Privilege.

First Instance Dates From 409, When Effort Was Made to Arrange Peace With Goth Leader.

From the earliest time of papacy, popes, as the religious heads of the Catholic church, have considered it their task to intercede as mediators in temporal disputes, observes a historian. Following are a few instances:

As early as 460, when Alaric I declared he would withdraw from Rome only on condition that the Romans should arrange a peace favorable to him, St. Innocent I went with an embassy of the Romans to Emperor Honorius, at Ravenna, to try, if possible, to make peace with him and the Goths, but failed in his endeavors to bring about peace. More successful was Gregory I, who played the same part on the occasion of the invasion of Italy by the Lombards. Owing to his friendship with the Lombard queen Theodolinda, he actually mediated a favorable peace. When northern Italy was devastated by Attila the venerable bishop of Rome, Leo I—the first of the great popes—by a personal encounter with the king of the Huns, prevented him from marching upon Rome. He went in 452 to upper Italy, and met Attila at Minio, in the vicinity of Mantua, obtaining from him the promise that he would withdraw from Italy and negotiate peace with the emperor. This pope also succeeded in obtaining another favor for the inhabitants of Rome. When in 455 the city was captured by the Vandals under Genseric, the "scourge of God," Leo's intercession obtained a promise that the city should not be injured and the lives of the inhabitants should be spared.

Another pope, Benedict the Twelfth, who from 1334 to 1342 occupied the holy see, was as unsuccessful as a mediator as the present supreme pontiff. At that time Charles IV of France had died without leaving an heir, and when his cousin, Philip VI, put the crown on his head, his right to do so was contested by Edward III of England. Benedict XII, who wanted to mediate, was not listened to, and there ensued hostilities lasting, with some interruptions, for a hundred years.

The popes mediated successfully between Christian opponents in cases where it was important to unite them in the common cause of Christianity against Turkey.

Pope Gregory (1271-1276), for the sake of a crusade against the Turks, worked indefatigably upon a reconciliation of the princes in Italy and Germany, and Paul III (1534-1549), nearly three centuries later, tried to prevent a war between Spain and France. Clement IX aided Venice against the Turks by mediating the peace between Louis XIV and Spain, etc.

What You've Been Waiting For.

Masculine readers are not usually interested in pictures showing feminine fashions, notes the Outlook, but certain half-tones in a Brooklyn furrier's catalogue are calculated to awaken a somnolent intellectual activity in the man who has been leisurely counting the rise in coal and milk bills. On the first page is shown an evening wrap made of chinchilla; its price is $10,000. The next page illustrates a wrap which is made up in various furs to suit different sized purses. The humbler seeker for borrowed warmth may get this moleskin for the trifle of $850; more fastidious tastes may call for one of ermine at $2,000; those who prefer Hudson Bay sable may secure their choice for $15,000; while the lady who desires "the real thing" may have her wrap made of Russian sable at a cost of $75,000. An inferior garment of Russian sable, it may be added, will be furnished at $25,000 for anyone of economical tastes.

Overalls and Petticoats.

The bloomer idea is going out among the French women employed in factories, especially munition works, according to a letter from one of the industrial centers over there, and return has been made to the skirt that ever has been the badge of femininity. Only where working close to certain machinery would make skirts dangerous have they been discarded for bloomers, or, in most instances, overalls. What was taken up as a fad, says a correspondent, has given way to the older and stronger dictates of modesty. And after work, in spite of the fact that it has been work amid grime and dirt of the exceptional sort—or perhaps because of it—there is recourse to the powder puff and the other appurtenances of frill that in some form or other are synonymous with woman the world over.

Paper Money's Nicknames.

Now that paper money is a permanent part of our pocket currency, we await the inevitable nickname for the notes, which is sure to come, says the London Chronicle.

If we follow the precedent set across the Atlantic in 1862, when "greenbacks" first made their appearance, we might be satisfied with "Westminster," with reference to the very admirable lithograph of the palace which adorns the reverse of the new notes. Something better than that is sure to come along. In the army the notes are known as "C's," in jocular allusion to the remarkably narrow chest which the artist has given St. George, who is in conflict with a very robust dragon.

Coincidence.

Much has been said and written at various times concerning "the long arm of coincidence," but surely a record in this direction, relates a correspondent, was established in connection with an amusing little episode in the career of the countess of Dudley, the enthusiastic Red Cross worker who organized the first voluntary hospital corps to cross the Channel on the outbreak of the present world war.

When, exactly ten years ago, her ladyship presented her husband with twin sons, one of her first visits on her recovery was to a village church near where she was staying at the time.

The officiating clergyman was quite unaware of the presence of Lady Dudley among his congregation. Nevertheless, by an extraordinary coincidence, he chose as his text the words, "Two are better than one"—greatly to the amusement, need it be added, of the countess and some friends who were with her.

Spring Work

will soon start in earnest

You should look over your harness and machinery, see that everything is in first class shape for the coming season's work. If repairs of any kind are needed, no matter if but a small buckle or bolt, a collar or a full set of harness, a part to a plow, harrow or wagon, or a new implement of any kind,—remember we are prepared to fix you out on short notice.

Seeds of all kinds are unusually scarce this year, but we can take care of your wants.

Keep the fact in mind that these are war times and order your repairs, machinery, seeds, etc., at once—they are difficult to secure now, later it may be impossible to obtain them.....

THE RED CROSS NURSES OF EUROPE ARE GIVING TOASTED CIGARETTES TO THE BOYS

To anyone who doesn't know of the wonderful advances that have been made in the preparation of smoking tobaccos in the last few years it may sound strange to speak of toasted cigarettes.

Strictly speaking, we should say cigarettes made of toasted tobacco; the smokers of this country will recognize it more readily by its trade name, "LUCKY STRIKE"—the toasted cigarette.

The American Tobacco Company are producing millions of these toasted cigarettes and these are being bought in enormous quantities through the various tobacco funds conducted by the newspapers of the country and forwarded through the Red Cross Society to the boys in France.

This new process of treating tobacco not only improves the flavor of the tobacco but it seals in this flavor and makes the cigarettes keep better.

The Red Cross nurse is always glad to have a cigarette for the wounded soldier, as, in most instances, that is the first thing asked for.
