Ouch ! ? ! ? ! ? This kind of rough talk will be heard less here in town if people troubled with corns will follow the simple advice of this Cincinnati authority, who claims that a few drops of a drug called freezone when applied to a tender, sching corn or hardened callous stops soreness at once, and soon the corn or callous dries up and lifts right off without pain. He says freezone dries immediately and never inflames or even irritates the surrounding skin. A small bottle of freezone will cost very little at any drug store, but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callous from one's feet. Millions of America's women will welcome this announce-

SLEEVES WE WEAR Mandarin Style Is Preferred by STRAW TURBAN, MESH VEIL American Women.

Ends Between Wrist and Elbow-Many Exaggerations and Attractive Color Combinations.

The short sleeves are not taken up in America as much as in France, but the wide mandarin sleeve which ends between wrist and elbow is shown in many exaggerations and attractive color combinations. The clever woman sees to it that there is a tight cuff attached to this mandarin sleeve, to keep it down and hanging in a good line. The tight cuff, which extends over the hand, also obviates the necessity of long gloves.

A French dressmaker designed a new trick to keep the loose short sleeve in place, and one may say that it is cordially received with "bare" arms. This sleeve, ripping away from the shoulder and not reaching the elbow, has an armiet of contrasting silk or satin attached to it by two rows of French knots in colored silk. The armlet is attached on the under side of the sleeve, and either clasps the arm as tightly as a bracelet above the elbow, or, better still, drops loosely over the elbow. Whenever the arm is lifted this band keeps the short loose sleeve in its proper place. Since short sleeves became the fashion for afternoon gowns, women have struggled with their exasperating method of slipping up and over the shoulder when ever the arm is lifted on a level with the shoulder. This trick can be taken into the heart of the sewing room and used for various kinds of sleeves that have a trick of not remaining downward.

very interesting. It is suggested by the opening up of those Mesopotamian region by the British army. It is only for gowns worn in the evening, formal or informal.

The sleeve is short, like a six-inch cap that fits the arm, and is finished with a band of some glittering ornamentation. At the back of this band start two strips of this same ornamentation, which extend in a loose curve to the wrist, where they are caught by a tight bracelet of the same material. For instance, on short sleeves of black tulle, in a black and jet gown, there are two loosely flowing bands of jet from the back of the short sleeve, and these are caught into a jet bracelet.

A woman who is in search of novelty will find this a clever trick to introduce in a gown she is rearranging to meet the modern demands.

Youthful Etons.

As to the suits, any woman with a trace of youthfulness will be wise to adopt one of the short ones which have the Eton line, but older women and those who incline to that bugbear of age, a little excess of weight, will do well to avoid them.

Eor just the right type of girl or woman they are extremely jaunty, and for the woman who is not of the right type come models with longer and less trying lines.

The longer models have not been shown to any great extent as yet, for novelties in line and treatment are always the first of the season's showing and models which are more adaptable are usually shown later.

for Their Troubles.

Freemont, 0 .- "I was passing through the critical period of life, being forty-six years of age and had all the symptoms incident to that change - heat flashes, nervousness, and was in a general run down condition, so it was hard for me to do my work. Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound was recommended to me as the best remedy for my troubles, which it surely proved to be. #### GRAY IS GOOD THIS SEASON

Previous Objections Have Been Removed and the Color is a Prime Favorite.

The world has gone on for a century or two feeling that gray is the tone of sadness and that its Quakerish ugliness must be avolded. It has been a difficult color for decades. Women have adopted it only when the silver sheen on its surface made it possible. This season, however, all doubts are dispersed by the superior tones which the dyers have imparted to the various fabrics grouped under the glastic names of gray.

There is moonlight gray, which may spell peace, but it is in close proximity to artillery gray, which stands for death. There is the gray of granite and the gray of London smoke. There is the gray of a New England sea mist and there is the tone that one gets from the glitter of cut steel.

These grays are not used alone this season. They are combined with horizon and Chinese blue, with jade and Egyptian green, with incendie red, mandarin yellow and amethyst purple. the type word high about the neck.

Ostrich Flues.

A gown of corn-colored georgette has the skirt cut in two parts, with the bi-sections on the sides outlined with ostrich flues about an inch long in the same color. These also continue around the bottom of the hem. The suggestion was evidently obtained from the millinery feature of the last season or two and which, by the way, gives every promise of being as popular as ever, which finishes the edge of a hat with an ostrich band. The bodtee of the dress, simply cut, is finished around the neck and on the edges of the short sleeves with ostrich.

New Bandeaux.

Bandeaux are now produced to cover every possible requirement for the miss or for the woman. New samples show many silk styles in flesh-color or pink, including crepe de chine, wash satins, silk jerseys, tub silk or broche. The dainty laces in all-over patterns or in Ince-trimmed embroideries are also seen, but whatever the material the texture must be sufficiently firm to perform the real function of the bandeaux-confine the flesh at bust and shoulders.

Fringed Articles.

If you have a fringed bedspread, toweis or dollies with the fringe torn or frayed, remove the fringe and in its place sew a coarse lace crocheted from knitting cotton. This will make a novel change and the article will be as good as new.

Shawl Collars.

Of the many fashion features launched in coats and suits, the shawl collar that was shown quite generally met with greater success than the various forms of the muffler collar and
