An Interesting Letter.

Pvt. Walter N. J. Greene, Bat. E. 2nd F. A., Fort Sill, Okla., in a letter to a friend in Richland among other things says:

"I was on K.P. yesterday and had to hit the ball till about eight o'clock, as we had to clean up for Sunday. I'm sure getting to be a dandy dish washer. Last night I was washing dishes outside and a bunch of girls came along in a car; they stopped about fifty feet away and sat there and laughed at me. When they left, one yelled: 'Stay with it kid, it's the making of you.'"

Saturday we went on a 4-days hike, but it didn't last that long. We left in mud nearly to our shoe tops, and still raining. We took a round-about course to Medicine Park, the distance being about 25 miles. We had our packs and rifles, in all about 40 pounds, arrived in the park at 4:30. Gee, I don't believe I was so tired in my life before. There were about 15 fell out.

They made us roll out in the night and go into action, but it didn't make much difference as we only had one blanket and the hard ground to sleep on. The next day being Sunday we were off duty and went swimming. I went in at 10 o'clock and didn't get out till three.

While in swimming I and another lad were sitting on a chain, which was stretched across the pond to keep people from walking into a deep hole, a woman weighing at least 200 pounds asked if one of us would pack her across the hole on our back. As the hole was about 10 feet deep, the other fellow said he couldn't swim a lick, and as I didn't want to be impolite I pretended I lost my balance thereby falling into the hole and coming up on the other side. The things she called us was shocking, but I came into this army to fight—not to be drowned by a woman.

After supper word came to break camp and to return to Fort Sill as quickly as possible. We took the short way, distance nine miles, started at seven and got in at nine. Next morning we were up at four and after breakfast took a 15-mile hike and went into action, fired 60 rounds and got back to camp at supper time. After supper we gunners that fired the guns had to clean them which took till dark. We are having a daily "Okla" at the present writing, in other words a sand storm. It was so thick a few moments ago they had to turn on the lights."

From Florida.

P. F. McLain sends us a check to pay his subscription to March 28, 1920, and writes: "We are having fine weather here and I have my winter garden planted and most of it is up, potatoes are about six inches high. The fruit crop is heavy except along the gulf where a storm on Sept. 28 blew off about half of it. A few buildings and some timber was damaged here; at Clear Water 30 miles south, a tidal wave drowned three children and destroyed a lot of property. Well I see the huns are getting some of their own medicine now, so much so they hardly know whether they are in h— or some other warm place. I find Florida patriotic, have gone over the top in everything. We have to raise $6000 in New Port Richey and we'll do it. Regards to all my old friends."

Sour Stomach

Eat slowly, masticate your food thoroughly, abstain from meat for a few days and in most cases the sour stomach will disappear. If it does not, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets immediately after supper. Red meats are most likely to cause sour stomach and you may find it best to eat them out.

Appreciates the News.

Corp. Ralph L. Byrne, M. G. 75th Inf., Camp Lewis, Wash.:

"I get the News regularly and enjoy it very much; I was sure glad to get those addresses you published some time ago. I wish you would keep the paper coming as I don't want to miss it because I can depend on it every Monday. Isn't it great the way the huns are backing up?"

I am in a machine gun company and like it far better than the infantry drill although it's much harder as the drill is all at double time. I guess railroads and autos will be too slow for me when I get back. Our company commander secured the best grade on machine-gun examination of any one in the U. S., so you see we have a fine chance to make a "cleaning" when we get across.

Most of the E. V. boys who were here are moved now, I don't know where they went—would like to know, though. That is where the good old E. V. News comes in handy. Don't think I am gassing you now, for I'm not. I liked the News at home, and much better here, it tells a person of some friend's address; so believe me when I say I like it.

Well, I must close for now. Hoping you and all of my friends in Eagle are as well and happy as I am now."

Gets Plenty to Eat.

September 29, 1918.

I am well and getting along dandy. We are sure getting all we can eat since we came here. For dinner today we had oyster soup, pork chops, sweet potatoes, gravy, peas and pie. We were going to parade in Philadelphia yesterday but this camp is under quarantine so we didn't get to go. Sure would have liked to went so as to see that city. My company have been having sham battles under the instructions of a French Captain. Will have a big show, as the French Captain calls it, Monday, and the rest of regiment will watch us.

MICKIE SAYS

OUR REPORTER SAYS, "WHEN FOLKS TRAVELLED BY TRAIN, I COULD KEEP TRACK OF 'EM, BUT SINCE THESE DOG-GASTED AUTOS ARE LEAVING TOWN BY EVERY ROAD EVERY HOUR, I GOTTA FAT CHANCE! WHEN FOLKS GO VISITIN', ER HAVE VISITORS, I WISHT THEY'D TELL ME ABOUT IT."

Uncle Sam's Advice on Flu.

headache, he should be given water to drink; a cold compress to the forehead and a light sponge. Only such medicine should be given as is prescribed by the doctor. It is foolish to ask the druggist to prescribe and may be dangerous to take the so-called 'safe, sure and harmless' remedies advertised by patent medicine manufacturers.

If the patient is so situated that he can be attended only by some one who must also look after others in the family, it is advisable that such attendant wear a wrapper, apron or gown over the ordinary house clothes while in the sick room and slip this off when leaving to look after the others.

Nurses and attendants will do well to guard against breathing in dangerous disease germs by wearing a simple fold of gauze or mask while near the patient.

Will a person who has had influenza before catch the disease again?

It is well known that an attack of measles or scarlet fever or smallpox usually protects a person against another attack of the same disease. This appears not to be true of 'Spanish influenza.' According to newspaper reports the King of Spain suffered an attack of influenza during the epidemic thirty years ago, and was again stricken during the recent outbreak in Spain.

How can one guard against influenza?

In guarding against disease of all kinds, it is important that the body be kept strong and able to fight off disease germs. This can be done by having a proper proportion of work, play and rest, by keeping the body well clothed, and by eating sufficient wholesome and properly selected food. In connection with diet, it is well to remember that milk is one of the best all-around foods obtainable for adults as well as children. So far as a disease like influenza is concerned, health authorities everywhere recognize the very close relation between its spread and overcrowded homes. While it is not always possible, especially in times like the present, to avoid such overcrowding, people should consider the health danger and make every effort to reduce the home overcrowding to a minimum. The value of fresh air through open windows cannot be over emphasized.

When crowding is unavoidable, as in street cars, care should be taken to keep the face so turned as not to inhale directly the air breathed out by another person.

It is especially important to beware of the person who coughs or sneezes without covering his mouth and nose. It also follows that one should keep out of crowds and stuffy places as much as possible, keep homes, offices and workshops well aired, spend some time out of doors each day, walk to work if at all practicable—in short, make every possible effort to breathe as much pure air as possible.

In all health matters follow the advice of your doctor and obey the regulations of your local and state health officers.

"Cover up each cough and sneeze, if you don't you'll spread disease."

Canine Life Saver.

Dogs have been given their share of credit for saving human life, from time to time, but it is doubtful if any canine, however faithful, has ever given a better account of himself as a life saver than a dog did here. While driving home to their farm from Pipestone, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thiele were run down at a cross road by another car which was traveling at great speed. When the crash occurred the Thiele car was picked up by the other and the force of the collision threw a fifteen-months-old baby from Mrs. Thiele's arms. The child would have met certain death beneath the cars but for the fact that in falling the baby struck a dog which was riding on the footboard of the other car. The dog grabbed the dress of the child and clung to it until the cars could be stopped. The baby received fewer injuries than did the other occupants of the cars. Both machines were badly wrecked.
