THE DRIVE ENDS

The drive for the United War Work Fund closed last evening and it is confidently expected that Eagle Valley made good and raised its quota of $2250, but as some of the solicitors have not yet turned in their receipt books the total cannot be given at this time.

New Bridge raised her share in a short time and a glance at the list below shows that the people of that district gave to the limit. The other districts of the Valley were slow to respond and it has taken a lot of hard work to accomplish what has been done.

Herewith is given the list available up to last evening; we will give the remainder in our next issue. It will be noticed that some names appear more than once—they gave and gave again.

Former Eagle Valley Resident a Victim of Influenza

A letter from Mr. F. E. Herr to Rev. J. M. Johnson, dated Pt. Richmond, Calif., Nov. 10, 1918, says in part:

"Elvie was called at 8 p. m. this evening. She was taken down with the influenza on Nov. 1st; complications set in after the birth of her baby girl, which were the immediate cause of her death. Elvie was married to Mr. J. J. Daley on Nov. 12th, 1917, at Tonapa, Nevada. She will be buried at Oakland, Calif. She was born at LaGrande, Ore., on Sept. 21st, 1893. She was living in Oakland until she was taken sick when she came out here. We are really a suburb of Oakland. The children always called Eagle Valley their home.

"Elvie died as she had lived—a devoted Christian.

"Mrs Herr was taken down with the influenza on the 2nd of this month; she is in bed yet but is improving."

Many residents of Eagle Valley hold this family in very kind remembrance and will sympathize with them sincerely in this hour of bereavement.

THANKSGIVING DAY

What shall we in Eagle Valley do this Thanksgiving Day?

Only another week and our National Thanksgiving Day will be here. Shall we celebrate it in the spirit that we should at this, the most momentous hour of our nation's history?

Since the founding of this nation we have always had many reasons for the observance of a special day of Thanksgiving, and since the first day the people of our nation were called together for a thanksgiving service there have been many to respond to the call year by year, but never before were there so many hearts devoutly thankful to Almighty God for all blessings and benefits.

Why not all our citizens cooperate with the churches in a grand union Thanksgiving service next Thursday, Nov. 28th? An hour could be set that would be convenient to all, a suitable program arranged, and we are confident that the meeting would result in much benefit.

Five Irrigation Projects Under Way in Baker County

The building of five irrigation projects, that are now being organized by Henry E. Tweed, County Agricultural Agent, will be a great boon to Baker county. The building of these projects at this time will be fitting with the ending of the war when thousands of soldiers will return to civil life, besides the many that are engaged in war work.

The projects that are now in process of organization are the Sparta district which has 14,000 acres; Durkee-Bridgeport district 6000 acres; Northfork district 4000 acres; Unity district 8000 acres; Medical Springs 4500 acres.

The productive farm values of the county will be increased by $2,737,500 and annual farm products will be a half million more.

In addition to the five above mentioned, another project is being worked out that will reclaim several thousand acres of land adjoining Eagle Valley on the northeast.

The Sparta Irrigation District will be acted upon by the County Court in the December term.

Church Services Resumed

Unless there is further development of the influenza this week, the regular services will open as formerly.

Prayer meeting at the Methodist church in Richland on Wednesday eve, and in the Saints church at New Bridge on Thursday eve, at 7:00 o'clock.

Sunday Services:
Sunday School in both places at 10 a. m.

Preaching in Richland at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

Preaching at New Bridge at 8 o'clock p. m.

Epworth League at 6:30 p. m., J. M. Johnson, Pastor.
