ANENT FOREST RESERVES.

While in this section some small diversity of opinion prevails in respect to the recent orders from the land department setting aside another reserve, yet we believe upon the whole it is a good thing, says the Prineville Review, and giving as argument that the preservation of the timber in Crook county is necessary in order to preserve the winter supply.

We beg to differ with the Review in this respect, and wonder why that publication would favor the setting aside of such an enormous amount of territory as a government reserve. The argument as to the water supply is an old chestnut and the only one the Review sets forward as a reason for the reserve. So far as irrigation is concerned in Crook county, timber or no timber there will be always plenty of water in the Deschutes for that purpose. The Review admits that thousands of acres of timber land would be filed on if the reserve had not been established. Most certainly there would; and thousands of persons settle in the country as well: and it is a poor argument that the little saving of water could counteract the injury by barring these people out.

Crook county was on the eve of being opened up and a large lumber business established, when the government officials step in and say "you mustn't touch; we want these 80 townships as a playground for the coyote," and stops the whole prospect. As to what the Review says about the reserve being a benefit to the whole people to the detriment of individuals, it cuts just the other way. The reserve will be on a gigantic scale a detriment to the many for the benefit of the few. Who will benefit if the reserve is set apart? The cattleman, the mythical farmer who is always going to "make the desert blossom as the rose," and last but not least, the government official. On the other hand, if the settlement of this vast region were allowed to go on towns would spring up and thousands would profit, the merchant, the lumberman, the real farmer, and hundreds of others too numerous to mention—enough, perhaps, to start the Review's rose garden in the desert.

POOR TRAIN SERVICE.

It is high time that a vigorous kick were made by the traveling public in regard to the way they are being treated by the O. R. & N. Co. Passengers traveling by the Columbia Southern to Biggs and from Heppner to Willows Junction, together with those who come by stage and private conveyance to all points between the Heppner Junction and Biggs, are terribly inconvenienced by the delay waiting for trains. Besides the inconvenience of waiting, these places are the most uninviting spots in God's creation to be detained at. Generally speaking, the wind blows a hurricane with a lively accompaniment of sand. With one or two exceptions there is no accommodations and nothing for the unfortunate traveler to eat except the sand-which-is there, and that is not very inviting.

The Columbia Southern alone carries passengers whose fares aggregate $185 a day. These people have to wait at Biggs from three to nine hours five days out of every week. Parties traveling from this town to Portland inquire if the westbound train on the O. R. & N. is late, and as it generally is they are forced to take rigs to The Dalles rather than spend 9 hours in "purgatory," which would be an appropriate name for Biggs. Our livermen are thinking seriously of running a stage line to meet the boats at The Dalles, and it would pay under present conditions.

The public will stand a certain amount of abuse, but when matters become too bad the worm will turn and generally finds a way to retaliate. If the through trains from the East cannot be run on schedule time, or near it, it is due the traveling public to have a local train run from the Heppner Junction to Portland. This would do away with the grievance and give the people of Eastern Oregon and Washington the service they ought to have.

A combined harvester is being operated near Walla Walla, drawn by a 60-horsepower engine, that is said to be as perfect a success as the machines operated by horse power. The steam combine is larger than anything ever before turned into a Northwestern wheat field, and will cut a swath 42 feet wide, and when worked to the limit will cut 100 acres of wheat per day.

There is a large listed fleet of vessels en route to Portland to carry Oregon's wheat crop across the Atlantic to market. Ocean freights are about the same as last week. The price of wheat in Moro today is for A No. 1, 50c.

New Acreage in Sherman County.

Umatilla has long enjoyed the distinction of being the banner wheat county of the state, but Sherman has aspirations and is in a fair way to contest the title of the reservation county before many seasons roll by. There was quite a material increase in the acreage in Sherman this year, the territory south of Grasa Valley showing an exceptionally large amount of new land now producing its first crop. As was the case in Wasco, the frost left occasional trails of pinched heads through the fields of this county. There are also numerous complaints of loss through "shattering," some farmers claiming as high as eight bushels per acre lost in this way, although others assert that two bushels per acre would be nearer correct on most of the fields where the trouble is reported. The cause of this unusual shattering is explained in many ways, all of which are plausible, and all probably contributory to a condition which has left Sherman county's fields well seeded for a volunteer crop.—Oregonian.

Look Pleasant, Please.

Photographer C. C. Harlan, of Eaton, O., can do so now, though for years he couldn't, because he suffered untold agony from the worst form of indigestion. All physicians and medicines failed to help him till he tried Electric Bitters, which worked such wonders for him that he declares they are a godsend to sufferers from dyspepsia and stomach troubles. Unrivaled for diseases of the stomach, liver and kidneys, they build up and give new life to the whole system. Try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed by all druggists.

A WORTHY SUCCESSOR.

Something New Under the Sun.

Doctors have tried to cure Catarrh by powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. The powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acids used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure, while pastes and ointments cannot reach the disease. An old and experienced practitioner who has for many years made a close study and specialty of the treatment of catarrh, has at last perfected a treatment which when faithfully used, not only relieves at once, but permanently cures catarrh, by removing the cause, stopping the discharges, and curing all inflammation. It is the only remedy known to science that actually reaches the afflicted parts. This remedy is known as "Snuffles the Guaranteed Catarrh Cure" and is sold at the extremely low price of one dollar, each package containing internal and external medicine for a full month's treatment and everything necessary to its perfect use.

"Snuffles" is the only perfect catarrh cure ever made and is now recognized as the only safe and positive cure for that annoying and disgusting disease. It cures all inflammation quickly and permanently and is also wonderfully quick to relieve hay fever or cold in the head.

Catarrh when neglected often leads to consumption—"Snuffles" will save you if you use it at once. It is no ordinary remedy, but a complete treatment which is positively guaranteed to cure catarrh in any form or stage if used according to the directions which accompany each package. Don't delay but send for it at once, and write full particulars as to your condition, and you will receive special advice from the discoverer of this wonderful remedy regarding your case without cost to you beyond the regular price of "Snuffles" the Guaranteed Catarrh Cure. Sent prepaid to any address in the United States or Canada on receipt of One Dollar. Address Dept. H 567, Edwin B. Giles & Co., 2330 and 2332 Market Street, Philadelphia.

A Necessary Precaution.

Don't neglect a cold. It is worse than unpleasant. It is dangerous. By using One Minute Cough Cure you can cure it at once. Allays inflammation, clears the head, soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane. Cures coughs, croup, throat and lung troubles. Acts immediately. Children like it. G. N. Bolton.
