OFFICIAL DIRECTORY.

UNITED STATES. William McKinley, President. Garrett A. Hobart, Vice President.

STATE OF OREGON. W. F. Lord, Governor. H. R. Kincaid, Secretary of State.

CONGRESSMEN. W. J. Ellis, Thomas H. Tongue. SENATE JUDGES. F. A. Moore, R. S. Bean, C. E. Wolverton.

SEVENTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT. W. L. Bradshaw, Circuit Judge. A. A. Jayne, Prosecuting Attorney.

SHERMAN COUNTY. John Fulton, County Judge. R. P. Orr, R. H. King, Commissioners.

There is an overruling Providence that guides the nations on the road to justice, and punishes those that depart therefrom.

The Daily Times-Mountaineer is making a creditable effort to give the latest telegraphic news, and should be liberally patronized by the people of The Dalles.

It is claimed by some that "circumstances make heroes." This may be true, but it takes something more than circumstances—it takes the ability to grasp a situation, to make a circumstance so turn as to further one's aims.

The Reason. Bounty paid by Sherman County, Oregon, on coyote scalps from Feb. 24, 1896, to Sept. 30, 1896, $ 474.

What has become of those eastern college professors who only a short time ago were prating about the war being useless and unjust?

We now have the 16 to 1 proposition—16 Spanish ships to one of ours.

Miss De-Flyte—"Bridget, if Mr. Simms calls when I am out, hold him until I return."

Bridget—"Oh, miss, sure and O'wain't like to do that."

COUNTY COURT.

The following business was transacted at the July term: In the matter of vacation of county road, by J. D. Gibson and others; remonstrance filed and stayed; road not vacated as prayed for.

Petition for county road, by Wm. Holder and others; laid over until next term.

County road, by E. C. Dunn and others; road ordered opened as surveyed.

Petition for county road by R. A. Murray and others; petition granted; Hans Hansen, H. E. Morrow and Herman Pape voters, J. W. Kerns surveyor; to meet Sept. 10, 1898.

Petition of W. L. Vanderpool and others to have DesChutes river declared a public highway; petition granted, and it is so ordered.

Appointment of deputy county clerk; H. S. McDaniel appointed, at a salary of $600 per annum.

Appointment of deputy sheriff; F. E. Brown appointed, at a salary of $600 per annum.

County road, by B. F. Hailey and others; petition dismissed on motion of petitioner.

Peddler's license; rates fixed as follows: Each peddler, carrying pack, per month, $2 50.

The cheapest and best way to learn is, when possible, to learn from the experience of others.

Slips of the Tongue.

A youth who had in a performance of "Richard III" to recite the words, "My Lord, the Duke of Buckingham is taken," came in shaking with stage fright, and brought down the house by shouting out:

"My Lord, the Buck of Duking-ham is taken!" An English clergyman, who was given occasionally to such transitions, used one day in a sermon, as an illustration, the scene at Lucknow, when Jessie Brown calls out, "Dinna ye hear the pibroch and the slogan?"

But he pronounced it: "Dinna ye hear the slobroch and the pigan?" He did not know that he had made the blunder until a friend told him of it after the service; and then he was so much humiliated that he at the close of the evening service he took occasion to say to the congregation: "I am told that this morning I said 'slobroch' and the pogan! Receive the blessing!"

Another minister could never say, "Sweet for bitter, and bitter for sweet," and as the service called for the utterance of these words on one occasion, his congregation had to steel themselves to hear without a burst of laughter the phrase: "Sweet for beet, and beet for switter."

Macready has told of an actor who, in rendering the words, "the poisoned cup," constantly said "the cojoned pup," to the great delight of his audiences. At last he managed, by much practice, to control his utterance, so that in a public performance he pronounced the phrase correctly.

Instantly there was an uproar; the audience missed its customary fun, and would not let the man proceed until he had given "the cojoned pup" instead. Then he was consoled with shouts of applause.—Youth's Companion.

Amusing Advertisements. A London periodical recently offered a prize for the best collection of unintentionally amusing advertisements. Here is a part of one list. It embodies illustrations of the curious effect which the misplacing of a comma or a word or two, often has upon the meaning of a sentence.

"Annual sale now going on. Don't go elsewhere to be cheated—come in here." "A lady wants to sell her piano, as she is going abroad in a strong iron frame." "Wanted, a room for two gentlemen about thirty feet long and twenty feet broad." "Lost a coolie dog by a man on Saturday answering to Jim with a brass collar around his neck and a muzzie."

"Wanted, by a respectable girl, her passage to New York, willing to take care of children and a good sailor." "Respectable widow wants washing for Tuesday." "For sale a pianoforte, the property of a musician with carved legs." "M. Brown, furrier, begs to announce that he will make up gowns, capes, etc., for ladies out of their own skin." "A boy wanted who can open oysters with a reference."

"Bulldog for sale, will eat anything; very fond of children." "Wanted, an organist and a boy to blow the same." "Wanted, a boy to be partly outside and partly behind the counter." "Lost, near Highgate archway, an umbrella belonging to a gentleman with a bent rib and a bone handle."

"Widow in comfortable circumstances wishes to marry two sons." "To be disposed of, a mail phaeton, the property of a gentleman with a movable head-piece as good as new."

"What terrible winters you have up here!" exclaimed the shivering southerner. "Yes, they're tough," said the Chicago man. "And when we have such a morning as this I've got to watch this left ear of mine mighty close."

"What's the matter with it?" "I froze it when I was down in Georgia last winter."
