PLEASE READ.

The MORO LEADER will not be charged up to any one who has not ordered the paper. Any one getting copies of the LEADER need not be afraid to take them out of the P. O., for they will not be asked to pay for it only from the time of subscribing. All papers sent to you before are a free gift. We do this for the purpose of letting all see what kind of a newspaper we publish, and in this way expect to prove that we publish the best paper in Sherman county.

YOUR SUBSCRIPTION.

Will expire when there is a blue pencil mark under your name, and only one or two more copies will be sent you, unless you renew. Watch for it, and renew at once, so as to not miss any copies.

Owing to our rapidly increasing subscription list, we are obliged to refrain from sending out as many sample copies of the MORO LEADER as heretofore. To all receiving copies who have not subscribed, we extend a cordial invitation to do so at once. Send in your subscription without delay, and pay your dollar soon as you can.

Miss Belle Gibson of Wasco was a visitor to Moro last week.

F. H. Meader & Co., of Moro, Or., have the agency for Butterick's dress patterns. They will keep all the latest styles constantly on hand.

Mr. Gibson of Wasco was in town last Friday.

If you want a high grade, first-class 1908 model bike for less money than you can get in any other place, come and see ours. F. H. Meader & Co.

Fine job work at the LEADER press room. Call and see our samples.

Friday evening of each week will be ladies' night at the bowling alley of E. B. Wheat, next door to the City Hotel.

All communications intended for publication must be in not later than Tuesday noon of each week to insure insertion in current issue.

Take a drive behind one of those spirited teams to be found at McCoy & Hulse's, and you will get your money's worth.

Send $1.75 and your name and address to the LEADER, Moro, and receive the LEADER and WEEKLY OREGONIAN one year.

Water tanks, round or square, any size, and on short notice, the best to be had. Moro Mfg. Co.

Cards are out announcing the marriage of Mr. Staniels and Miss Belle Gibson of Wasco, daughter of J. D. Gibson, the ceremony to take place to-night, (Oct. 26th). Congratulations and best wishes will be in order by the time these words will be read by the happy pair, and we extend the same, along with a host of friends.

TO THE PEOPLE OF SHERMAN COUNTY.

I take pleasure in announcing to the public that I have opened a GENERAL MERCHANDISE STORE IN MORO, and would be pleased to have you call and inspect my stock and get my prices. I intend to sell

STRICTLY FOR CASH,

And on a SMALL PROFIT, and can SAVE you MONEY by trading with me.

ONE PRICE TO ALL.

I Remain Yours, Respectfully,

W. A. WALLIS.

J. B. Hosford and wife returned from Portland Friday evening.

Will buy your fat cattle. Will sell you choice beef, pork, mutton and vegetables.
PAGE & PARRY, Moro.

A nice shower Saturday, but more would be acceptable.

Don't forget to place your farm to sell with E. E. Hoskinson.

O. P. King of Grass Valley was in town Monday.

For terms on Moro property call on or address R. E. Hoskinson.

Albert A. Haug has returned to Grass Valley from his trip to the Willamette valley.

If you want to buy a farm remember R. E. Hoskinson. He has some fine bargains.

N. P. Hansen of Monkland, who is down with typhoid fever, was worse Sunday.

If you want to know the live business men consult the advertising columns of the LEADER.

J. O. Elrod has been appointed agent at Moro for W. P. Fuller & Co's paints, etc.

Old cast iron bought by the Moro Manufacturing Co. at Moro. $10 per ton paid for all suitable. Bring it in.

C. W. Stokes and Lewis Crandall were in from Grass Valley Sunday.

Money to loan on Sherman county farm land in amounts of not less than $2000 in each loan. Address P. O. Box No. 7, Moro, Oregon.

J. B. Galt has been surveying for J. B. Mowry in his addition to the town of Moro.

Lumber, shingles, moldings, wood, etc., at bed-rock prices, opposite foundry, Moro. J. O. Elrod, Prop.

Fine job printing "while you wait" at the LEADER press room.

Farmers, you can save money by reading the new ad of the North Pacific Mills, and acting upon the information therein contained.

Julius J. Wiley, late of The Dalles, has taken charge of the City Hotel, and respectfully solicits the traveling public to call and give his house a trial.

We have made arrangements to furnish the LEADER and WEEKLY OREGONIAN at the very low price of $1.75 per year in advance.

Don't forget the ball to be given at the Opera House, Moro, Oct. 28. Splendid music is promised and a real good time assured.

If you desire to look your best, have your laundry done by the Troy Laundry Co. A. E. Cousens, agent. Call on him for prices.

Everett Logan left Monday for Portland, where he will attend the law school branch of the Portland Business College.

You can get shaved eight times for one dollar, and hot or cold baths for 25 cents at Cousens' tonsorial parlors.

Frank Watkins has a windmill in operation pumping water at his place on Main street. Jas. Tomlin put up the mill.

Finest rigs in the county, at any hour, day or night. McCoy & Hulse.

The Second Annual Stockmen's Fair, held at Antelope, was a success in every respect, so says the Herald.

City Hotel, first-class, terms reasonable. Headquarters for commercial travelers. JULIUS J. WILEY, Proprietor.

Send in your name and $1 for the MORO LEADER, and get all the news of all the county for a year.

Farmers! You can get your window frames already "glowed," this saving work, at J. O. Elrod's.

Work on the new office building for J. B. Hosford, on First street, is rapidly progressing, and it will soon be ready for occupation.

Dr. Idleman will be found at his office every day except Sunday from 9:30 a. m. to 12 m., and 1:30 to 5:00 p. m. Other hours and Sundays by appointment.

Having employed a first-class cabinet-maker, I am now prepared to fill all orders for cabinet work of all kinds. E. PEOPLES.

Prof. E. C. Peery, principal of the Moro Public school, has been chosen president of the Sodaville College in Linn county. He will remain here however until his term is out.

Lumber, lumber, "till you can't rest, at J. O. Elrod's new yards, opposite the foundry. Prices can't beat.

J. A. Ellis has had some pretty difficult contracts excavating for cellars in town lately, but has given complete satisfaction, the one he dug for F. E. Brown being especially flow work.

In a private letter from E. W. Elrod, who is at Huff, Morrison county, Minn., he says it "rains every day and pours nights."

Those desiring portraits enlarged and crayon work done can obtain same at Photo gallery of D. A. Hatten. All work guaranteed and prices low.

Died—Near Monkland, Sunday, Oct. 23, 1898, the infant child of J. B. Rogers, age about three weeks. Funeral took place Monday.

Windom & Stilwell have finished painting Dr. Smith's new office. The natural wood finish inside is a very neat and attractive job.

The LEADER leads all other papers in Sherman county in giving the most complete and reliable news, up to date, and in the most readable form.

The Sherman County Telephone Co. have sold out to the Oregon Telephone Co. The long-distance people will take charge the first of November.

Wm. Holder went to Portland last Thursday, returning Saturday evening. He was down on business connected with the telephone line.

Heydt & Co. now have on hand several sets of hand-made double buggy harness, which they will sell at $25.

D. M. Radley has purchased the interests of O. P. Hulse in the drug store they recently acquired. Mr. Radley will close out the store at Wasco, and run the one here under the name of "The Bureau."

Winter will soon be here. You should make arrangements for that house you are going to build. Bishop & Cox will build you anything you want from a $10 barn to a $10,000 house.

The LEADER is the best paper in Sherman county to send to your friends in the east to let them see what kind of a county we have.

This office is in receipt of a neat little descriptive folder pertaining to the celebrated Buckingham & Hecht shoes, sent from Kast's Market street shoe house, San Francisco.

Among the exhibits at the Portland exposition, a 3-pound bunch of grapes, sent by P. Fleck, and some Tippecanoe peaches, exhibited by T. Clay Neese, both of Grant, were noted for their beauty and size.

J. H. Clements of Grass Valley was in Moro Friday with A. B. and Ruben Allison, who were his witnesses to testify to his having complied with the homestead act. The proof was made before County Clerk Wm. Henrichs.

Robert Stanfield and brother, who live on Butter creek, Unatilla county, passed through Moro Saturday evening en route to Sherar's Bridge to receive a lot of cattle that were to meet them at that place.

We heard there was a "lecture" on "Magnetism" one evening last week at the opera house, but as we knew nothing of it until too late to attend, and can find no one who did hear it, it will be impossible to give any report concerning it.

W. F. Richard did not sell any horses at auction here last Thursday. It seems that the horse market has been pretty well supplied for his horses were good, and would sell readily where horses were wanted.

Arrangements have been made to insure perfect success at the grand ball to be given at the opera house Friday night. The best of music, experienced floor managers, and a fine dancing floor, together with an epicurean supper at Wiley's, is a combination hard to beat. Geo. Grubb promoter.

Tom Callaghan of Rutledge was in Moro Saturday. He has his fine 2-story residence, that is 18x26, with wing 20x20, nearly completed. Some may wonder what "Bachelor Tom" is going to do with such a fine house, but we don't care, for he has by diligence well earned any comfort he may derive from it.

Dr. C. R. Rollins passed through Moro last Thursday morning on his return from an extended tour of the east. He comes back looking the picture of health. While away he traveled over 8000 miles by rail and steamboat, crossing all the great lakes, and traveling through many states, visiting a large number of relatives, 26 of them for the first time. He reports having had a very enjoyable time, but seems glad to get home again, where his friends are glad to welcome him.

The Associated Press dispatches are surely too slow for once. They have been telling that George Dewey expects to return to the United States in a short time, when, as a matter of fact, we have it on the word of Jas. Tomlin of this place that George Dewey is already here, having arrived at Mr. Tomlin's residence about 1 o'clock on the morning of October 21. James says he is a boomer, and doing nicely.

W. H. Snell of Olex was in Moro Saturday on his way home. He had a bunch of cattle that came from the valley that he was taking to his range.

For a red-hot up-to-date meal go to the City Hotel and interview J. J. Wiley.

James Hand of Rutledge was brought to Moro last week and placed under the care of Dr. Smith. Severe bronchitis was the trouble, but he is rapidly improving.

This office is in receipt of a fine photograph of the drop-curtain in the Moro Opera House, with the compliments of Thompson, the Wasco picture-maker. It is about 6 by 10 inches, and shows the whole curtain, ads and all.

Speaking about C. B. Johnson, who has charge of Wallis' store here, the Agriculturist, of Golden-dale, says he "has a host of friends here, who will follow him to his new field of labor with their best and kindest wishes."

Gus Johnson, who has been working around here for some time, became unwell this season, and now is in such poor health that friends subscribed about $70 to send him away where he can get skilled treatment and nurses. Wm. McGrath collected the subscriptions Saturday, and will take Gus to The Dalles or to Portland.

We are reliably informed that the C. S. R. R. Co. have all the rock work below DeMoss done, that the rock gang has been laid off, that all the large bridges are completed, that the track is laid down to Hay canyon, that from that point to this place the company can and will lay track quite rapidly; and we may add that we hope all the above is strictly true, and that it will not be long until the whistle and bell of the locomotive will be heard here.

Look out for sharps and schemers who go about the country offering a dead sure thing. They may be traveling for their health only, but more than likely you will contribute toward paying the bill. A well-dressed pair of scamps were seen near The Dalles a few days ago (so says the Times-Mountaineer) with two tin boxes containing glittering treasures of watches and money, which they proposed to give away for the small sum of $5 a chance in a drawing.

A Pleasant Surprise.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Moore were surprised to see a party of friends flocking in to see them. The evening was spent in social mirth, and, by the way one who was there objects to publishing a portion of the program, there must have been lots of fun on tap. Among those present were Mesdames Ina Dakin DeMoss and J. O. Elrod, Misses Cora and Carrie Davis, Ora Barnum, Bertha Darby, Maude Belshee and Annie Landry, and Messrs. A. E. Baker, L. Barnum, W. H. Ragsdale, J. O. Elrod, J. C. Williams, P. O. DeMoss and Everett Logan.

Married.

From the Linn County Republican we clip the following marriage notice:

"Standish-Hayes—At the residence of D. J. Hayes, Halsey, Oregon, Oct. 19, 1898, Mr. D. B. Standish and Miss Dora Hayes, both of Linn county, Oregon, Rev. Peat of Corvallis officiating."

Mrs. Standish is a niece of our townsman S. S. Hayes, and lived here for some time, removing to Halsey with her parents last July. Her many friends here will join us in best wishes.

A Close Call.

Sunday morning J. D. Newman and Amos , a step-son of Mr. Wikoff, were on the road with a horse and cart, when, in some manner, the horse started suddenly to run, shied off of the road, running the cart over a bank, turning it over and dumping the occupants out, severely bruising both of them. They were taken care of by members of the A. O. U. W., of which order Mr. Newman and Mr. Wikoff are members.

Epworth League Social.

The Epworth League of Spaulding Chapel will give a social at the residence of J. F. Belshee Friday evening, Oct. 28. There will be an oyster supper, and a real good time is assured. All are invited to attend.

BOWLING.

Following are the scores at Hogard's bowling alleys for the week ending Oct. 24:

Tuesday—Joe Kelsay	45
Wednesday—H. S. McDaniel	43
Thursday—H. A. Moore	42
Monday—H. S. McDaniel	39
FRANKS 5.
Saturday—E. Neese	182

The general merchandise store of Ed Baker will open Monday, Oct. 31. For good goods, low prices and fair dealing, call and see me. 62612

CORRESPONDENCE.

FROM DE MOSS SPRINGS.

Wheat is coming into the warehouse of DeMoss Springs.

James Woods and wife just returned from a visit to his sons at Walla Walla.

Uncle George Davis died the 17th. The poor old man passed away very quietly.

To the wife of Prof. J. M. DeMoss, Oct. 21, an 8-1/2 girl, Mrs. DeMoss is doing well, and the Prof. wears a smile.

Aunt Mary Davis moved to Hood River the 22d of this month, and S. S. Mickle now occupies her house.

Everything is moving at DeMoss; the school house moved west of the postoffice, and is located in a very nice place, and is fitted up in good shape for the winter.

NOTICE.

All persons are hereby notified that my son Ernest, a minor, has left home without my consent, and refused to return, and I will not be responsible for any debts he may contract; and further, all persons are hereby warned to not enter into any contract with or employ him in any capacity without my consent. G. W. Coy.

Will sell with or without his interest to it, one-fourth delivered at Biggs, as purchaser may prefer. $2000 payable on or before Jan. 1st, 1899, balance to suit convenience of purchaser, to be secured by mortgage on the land.

C. J. Bright, Wasco, Oregon.

LEADER and WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

1 year $1.75 in advance.

A company of tourists are taken over the Castle at Blois.

Guide—"The room which we are now entering, ladies and gentlemen, is the very one in which the Duke of Guise was murdered."

A Tourist—"Here, what's that? I came here three years ago, and was shown a room in the wing opposite."

Guide (very calmly)—"This room was undergoing repairs at the time." Figaro.

Parasol Ghosts.

Ghosts were naturally more numerous in earlier conditions of society, for then men had so many souls. Now we are content with one, and there are some who try to make us doubt even that modest allowance. But in good old days each person was credited with several. There was one, for instance, which belonged to his body, and must abide in it, or death would arrive; then there was the dream-soul, which, I have said, might wander through time and space at will during sleep; and, most important, said many, is the "name-soul"—that which gives us distinctive individuality in our personal names; and not to continue the list to a tiresome length, there was the bone-soul, which remained in the bones after the body had passed to dust. The last mentioned was of peculiar value, for on its persistence depended the chance for reagrregation into life on earth. The faith in this was high universal. When the body of Elijah touched the dry bones of the long-dead warriors they clothed themselves in flesh and were restored to living beings. The rabbis taught that especially in the bone tap, the last of the spinal vertebrae, dwelt the spirit of the deceased. It is indestructible, say they, and not even a strong man with a sledgehammer can break it.—Dr. Daniel G. Brinton, in Century Magazine.

A doctor perpetrated a witticism at his own expense late one night last week. He had lost his latchkey, the door was locked, he was cold from a long ride, and the more he changed the door-bell the more the suspicion grew in his mind that somebody had chloroformed the household. But his sister had been aroused by the bell. "Some one to see the doctor and he's out, and I shall have to answer the bell or they'll ring all night," she said to herself, and hurried down to the door clad in light at, tired and sleepy patience. Opening the door a little, not far enough to present her disheveled to any intruding eye, she shouted into the frosty air: "The doctor's out!" and closed the door with the quickness of a camera slide. "Yes, I know he's out," screamed the irate M. D., "and he wants to get in."

Serge (to his friend, after they have successfully elbowed their way aboard a Brooklyn Bridge train): "Oh! that was pretty hard work. It used me up completely; but I noticed you didn't seem to mind the crowding at all."

Snags—"Well, no, I rather enjoyed it. It carried me back to the good old times when I used to be champion runner in our college football team."

"Edith—What does that button mean on your coat?"

James—"Oh, I joined the 'Sons of the Revolution' the other day. My great grandfather was killed in that way, you know."

Edith—"So you wear the button—while your great grandfather did the rest."

"What is your idea of a political economist?"

"Well, replied Senator Sorghum, reflectively, 'there's lots of different kinds. But my idea of the genuine article is the man who manages to get by enough while he has an office to pay the expenses of getting in another term.'—Washington Star.

Jones—"I am simply ruined. I can't pay a dime on the dollar."

Smith—"Don't cut up, dear fellow. Just think how much better off you are than your creditors."—Pick-Me-Up.

The fin de siecle lover puts it thus: "I love the very ground Miss Bloomer likes over."—Trifles.
