Prof. E. C. Peery was unable to get released from the principalship of the Moro schools to accept the presidency of the Mineral Springs College, at Sodaville. The Moro school board increased his salary $15 per month, and would not take a substitute in his place. They undoubtedly know a good instructor, when they get him, and hence their desire to retain "Ed" at the head of their school. Prof. Peery's many friends in Scio are congratulating him upon his success in the school room.—The Santiam News.

The Banquet.
ED. LEADER: Amid the ringing of bells, the firing of anvils, the shouts of men and boys, the C. S. Ry. pulled into Moro Wednesday, about 4:30. In the evening the officials of the road, Messrs. Lytle and O'Reilly, gave the men a grand banquet at the City Hotel, at 7:30. About dark the men began to file in, and long before the bell rang men were jammed in every corner, awaiting the gong, that musical instrument, which had hardly been touched before the dining room was filled with gladiators, ready to tackle anything from a pill to a monument; but quiet soon prevailed—except "Coffee, please, more turkey, please." We were astounded to see all these gay lads in their Sunday best, and acting just as nicely and gentlemanly as McKenzic and Bill Holder, but this was the case.

After partaking of this elegant spread, toasts were in order. The first was the manager, Mr. D. C. O'Reilly, who, in a few well-chosen remarks, alluded to the fidelity of all employed on the road, and the great struggle this company had made to reach Moro.

Mr. J. C. Lewis, road-master, who acted as floor manager, was next called, and, after some hesitation, caused by modesty, went into his subject like a mouse into old cheese, showing by his modest way the difference between wages paid on this road and others, and by actual figures, that this road, though poor, does better by its men than any road in the United States.

GUEST.
Wasco Local Institute.

The Local Teachers' Institute, held at Wasco last Saturday, was a success in every respect. Among those present were the following teachers: H. H. White, Miss Barnett, Mrs. E. E. Lyon, and Miss Dunlap, of Wasco; L. T. Anderson, Grant; C. G. Morey, Bigelow; Beatrice Goodnecht, Rufus; E. C. Peery, Moro.

The resolutions heretofore published and adopted at Grass Valley were adopted as a whole. An excellent paper on "School Hygiene," by Olive Hartley, remarks on "Reading in our Public Schools," by C. G. Morey, "Discussion," Mrs. E. E. Lyon, "Social Aspects of Education," E. C. Peery, "Graduation of County Schools," H. H. White, and "Discussion," by L. T. Anderson, followed by a very interesting lecture on the "Educational Outlook" in the evening, by Prof. J. H. Ackerman, of Portland, completed the Institute. Every one felt that the time was well spent. Those in attendance are loud in praise of the way the good people of Wasco royally entertained them while there.

The boy—"And was silver once a precious metal?"
His father—"Yes; at one time silver was more valuable than coal."

MORO BUSINESS.

MEN'S BANQUET.

Given by Moro Business Men to the Officials of the Columbia Southern Ry. Co. Last Night.

The Opera House was the scene of the grandest banquet ever held in Moro. Numerous invited guests were present from Portland, Wasco and Grass Valley. The banquet spread was under the efficient management of J. J. Wiley, proprietor of the City Hotel, and would have been an honor to any caterer. No pains were spared by those having the affair in charge, and great credit is due them for its success.

Hoggard's billiard hall and bowling alleys were in possession of the banqueters, who were at liberty to enjoy the same at pleasure.

A special train with visitors from abroad failed to arrive.

For two hours the refreshments and toasts were enjoyed by the throng of merry-makers.

W. H. Moore, as toast-master, was in his usual happy vein, and the various toasts were responded to by Messrs. J. B. Hosford, E. E. Lytle, G. N. Bolton, C. D. Nickelson, L. M. Smith, W. F. Holl, D. C. Ireland, Wm. Holder, W. Stanley, R. E. Hoskinson, F. E. Brown and W. H. Ragsdale, amid frequent applause. Owing to the lateness of the hour, before going to press, separate mention could not be made of each toast. All present were evidently thoroughly impressed with the fact that Moro is now a railroad town, and in close commercial touch with the rest of the world.

An Enterprising Visitor.
A fellow who gives his name as John K. Stocking, and who seems to be doing quite a business on a very small capital, has been about town for several days. During his short stay about town he has traded a band of horses supposed to be somewhere east of the mountains, for a farm, bought a pretty good house, rented two or three others, posed as a Grand Army man, sponged several square meals, and he appears to be still on the hunt for other worlds to conquer. He seems to be a little daft, and yet rather smooth in some ways.—Newberg Graphic.

A story is going the rounds to the effect that a married lady had a birthday anniversary a short time ago, upon which her husband presented her with a pretty piano lamp. He was much flattered when she told him she intended to give it his name, until he asked her reasons for so peculiar a proceeding.

"Well," said she, "you know, dear, it has a good deal of brass about it, it is handsome to look at, it is not remarkably brilliant, requires a good deal of attention, is sometimes unsteady on its legs, liable to explode when half full, flares up occasionally, is always out at bedtime, and is bound to smoke."
—Musical Record.

Subordinate—"General, the messenger who has carried your dispatch has fallen into the hands of the Cubans."
General Weyler—"Did you destroy my dispatch?"
Subordinate—"General, he did the best he could. He tried hard to swallow your dispatch, but he couldn't."

There can be no correct history of this nation, as it has passed through this great struggle for existence, without the life of Abraham Lincoln.—Wm. A. Buckingham.

LEADER and WEEKLY OREGONIAN 1 year $1.75 in advance.

When I Hung My Stockin' Up.

I hain't no show with boys an' gals For sixty years or more, or less, For me an' trouble's long been pals, An' trouble's still in store, I guess. An' when I think on times gone by, A ghost or two comes walkin' up, But none on 'em ain't half so sassy 'Er when I hung my stockin' up.

There ain't no place nowhere about There's like the homestead o' my teens, The carpenter, he's an' out, He's fixed it up with queer machines, Auctions is gettin' rare, The chimney-place they're blockin' up, There ain't no trace to tell ye where I nester hang my stockin' up.

But ef ye skeer kin find the spot 'O' Santa Claus himself made dear, The mamas and poppas ain't quite forgot, The boys and gals this time o' year, Ef ye could see us I hev seen, The toys and things they're lockin' up, Ye'd wish ye was about thirteen, An' go'n to hang your stockin' up.

An' when I see the women folks A-comin' home with gillie-gaws, I know the boys won't hev ter coax, Not very hard, for Santa Claus, I'd like ter see on Christmas day, Jest how they'll all come flockin' up; It makes me half a mind ter say, I'll hank my own big stockin' up.

—Frank Wakcott Hutt.

CLIPPINGS.
"There's Bigger, now; would you call him a patient man?"
"All depends." "On what?"
"Whether he's fishin' or waitin' for his supper."

"Why do you think Jenkins has political aspirations?"
"Why? Why, because he likes to have man slap him on the back and call him Old Horse."

He—I wonder when you will be able to set as good a table as my mother does?
She—By the time you are able to provide as good a table as your father does, my dear.

He—My dear, if I should find my dinner cold and raise a row about it, what would you do?
She—I would make it hot for you.

Husband—I am just in the mood for reading something sensational and startling—something that will make my hair stand on end.
Wife—Here's my last milliner's bill.

Mrs. Watts—"Mary Ann, these balusters seem always dusty. I was at Mrs. Johnson's after church, and her stair-rails are clean and smooth as glass."
Mary Ann—"Yis, mum. But she has 'ree small boys."

A bicycle girl in Indiana got a present from her beau. He wrote: "By bearer I send you a pair of bloomers. If you'll wear them to-night at church I'll consider it as proof of your affection for me." She fainted. The bloomers were roses.

"Do you think your sister likes me, Tommy?" "Yes; she stood up for you at dinner." "Stood up for me? Was anybody saying anything against me?" "No; nothing much. Father thought you were rather a donkey, but sis got up and said you weren't, and told father he ought to know better than to judge a man by his looks."

One of the Chinamen attending the Broomfield street Methodist Sunday school in Boston renounced his heathenism, embraced Christianity and was duly baptized by the pastor, Dr. Mansfield, according to Methodist usage. A little later John fell into the hands of some of the brethren of a Baptist flock who proceeded at once to instruct him further in the new way. They told him that his so-called baptism had been inadequate, that there was but one possible meaning to the word "baptize," and were congratulating themselves that they had made an impression, when John said: "Me see! So, so! Melican man frateo! Melican man boice pletato! Melican man boice pletato! Pletato cookee alle same."

Quick Repartee.
A story about lawyers is contributed by a western correspondent. Mr. Babson, we will call him, was a young lawyer of the town where the court was held, while the opposing counsel, Mr. Carter, was a much better known attorney of a neighboring city.

Mr. Babson was addressing the jury, and having explained a point of law to the jurors, he turned to Mr. Carter with the words: "Isn't that right?"

Mr. Carter thought he had a very verdant subject on his hands, and with a conscious smile of superiority replied: "I have an office in C., and if you have any legal problems you desire to have solved, I shall be pleased to enlighten you, for a financial consideration."

Not in the least abashed, Mr. Babson drew from his pocket a ten-cent piece, and held it out toward Mr. Carter with the words: "Here, tell us what you know and hand back the change—Yourth's Companion.

SPECIAL.

Notice is hereby given that the Columbia Southern Railway Company, a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Oregon, and the directors of said Columbia Southern Railway Company, acting under authority of resolutions duly adopted by the affirmative vote of all of the stockholders of the company at a meeting of said stockholders held at the city of The Dalles, Oregon, on the 8th day of December, have filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of Oregon, and in the office of the county clerk of the county of Wasco, Oregon, and in the office of the clerk of Sherman county, Oregon, supplementary Articles of Incorporation amending Articles III, IV and VI of the present articles of incorporation of said company so that said Articles III, IV and VI of said Articles of Incorporation shall, when amended, read as follows:

ARTICLE III.
The enterprise, purpose, business and operation in which this corporation shall be:

First—To acquire, build, own, construct, and to maintain and operate, and to lease, purchase, or acquire, and to carry freight and passengers thereon, and to transmit messages thereover, and to receive tolls for the carriage or transmission of the same, the following railroad and telegraph lines, namely:

1. A line from Moro, in the State of Oregon, to Moro, in the State of Oregon.

3. A line commencing at or near Cross Hollows, in the State of Oregon, to a point at or near Canyon City, in the State of Oregon.

4. A line from Hay canyon junction, in the State of Oregon, to Hay canyon in the State of Oregon.

Second. To build, purchase, own, lease or operate steamboats on the Columbia and Snake rivers and the tributaries thereof, the terminus of said water route to be Celilo, in Wasco county, and Priest Rapids on the Columbia river, in the State of Washington, and Lewiston, on the Snake river, in the State of Idaho.

Third. To build, purchase, own or lease docks, piers, warehouses and depots to be used in connection with the railroad and steamboat lines above mentioned, and to purchase or lease lands, whether adjacent or contiguous to its railroads, docks or warehouses or not, and to hold, possess, improve, lease, sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of such lands in such manner as may be deemed fit.

Fourth. To borrow money on bonds, notes or otherwise for the general purposes of the corporation, and to mortgage its railroads, steamships, steamboats, franchises, rolling stock and any and all property to secure the payment thereof, provided, however, that unless authorized by a majority vote of the stockholders of the company no mortgage to secure any bonds, notes or other evidences of indebtedness shall be placed upon the railroads or other property of this company.

Fifth. To do all other things necessary or proper in carrying on the business of this corporation or for the accomplishment of the objects above specified.

ARTICLE IV.
The place where this company propose to have its principal office or place of business is Moro, Oregon.

ARTICLE VI.
The termini of the railroads which this company propose to own, build or construct are Biggs, in Sherman county, Oregon; Hay canyon junction, in Sherman county, Oregon; Hay canyon, in Sherman county, Oregon; Moro, in Sherman county, Oregon; Prineville, in Crook county, Oregon; and Canyon City, in Grant county, Oregon, and the lines of railroad which this company is authorized to construct, are the lines mentioned in Article III, of the Articles of Incorporation of this company as amended. The termini of the water lines of this company are Celilo, in Wasco county, Oregon; Priest Rapids, on the Columbia river, in the State of Washington, and Lewiston, on the Snake river, in the State of Idaho.
