An alarm of fire, which luckily ended in smoke, caused the fire department to turn out on Thursday. The efficiency of the company was demonstrated by the fact that they had the hose cart and hook and ladder at the Ginn building, 3 minutes after the first stroke of the fire bell.

A reception was tendered the Rev. C. D. Nickelsen and bride by the ladies and other citizens of Moro at the opera house last Tuesday night. The Rev. gentleman is deservedly popular amongst all classes in the community, by reason of his untiring efforts in the interests of his Master, whom he has so faithfully served since his advent here. His zeal and energy have given Moro a sacred edifice which is not surpassed for beauty or size in any city in Oregon of equal pretensions with Moro. Little wonder then that he should be so popular with all of our citizens. The guests being assembled at about eight o'clock, the program commenced with a well-rendered quartet by Miss Daye Anderson, Miss L. Belshee, Mr. Bresler and Jim Bresler. Miss Daye Anderson then gave "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," with recitation between the verses. Miss Lulu Bolton followed with a nicely rendered piece on the piano. An amusing recitation by Mrs. G. N. Bolton, "How Betty and I Killed the Bear," came next in order, and afforded much amusement to the audience. A dainty repast was then served, and the entertainment brought to a close with a few well-chosen and appropriate remarks by the Rev. Nickelsen.

A Thousand Tongues

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howard st., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of that hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal Cure—"It soon relieved the pain in my chest and I can sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at A. D. Bolton & Co's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Preliminary steps have been taken to organize an Epworth League. The total membership of the E. L. of the M. E. Church now numbers over 2,000,000 members. This is a grand army of young people.

The ladies of the M. E. Church have organized a Ladies' Aid Society. It is the purpose of this society to aid in promoting the social and financial interests of the church, and to aid in providing for the distressed and needy in the community. This society should be encouraged in whatever work it may undertake.

Robbed The Grave.

A startling incident, of which Mr. John Oliver of Philadelphia, was the subject, is narrated by himself as follows: "I was in a dreadful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in sides and back, no appetite—gradually growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Fortunately, a friend advised trying Electric Bitters; and to my great joy and surprise, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know that they saved my life, and robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c at A. D. Bolton & Co's Drug Store.

Married at Last.

Long-Clauses—At the home of the bride, (Phoenix, Arizona), at the "Elite" Gallery, No. 22, South Third avenue, the marriage of Mr. C. C. Long, of Oregon, and Mrs. M. Clausen, of Phoenix, Arizona, was solemnized by the Rev. Meade, at 3 p. m., Jan. 28, 1899. A number of friends of the contracting parties were present to witness the ceremonies. Light refreshments were served, and after a few hours of social and happy greetings the invited guests took their departure. The bride's dress was light gray, trimmed in white, with natural flowers. Quite a number of handsome presents were given. The future home of the contracting parties will be at the "Elite" Gallery.

Mrs. Mac Phairson's Bit o' Ham.

One day Mrs. MacPhairson was trotting home from her grocer's with some spiritual comfort tucked under her apron, when she ran up against her friend, Mistress Macleod, and felt called upon to explain.

"I waur just beyont at Muster MacTavish's store. He keeps th' very best ham in a' th' land. Our John loves a bit' o' guid ham, ye ken, and is aye yammerin' about th' ham atither shops bein' ower fat an' saut."

"Oor Tams th' same," said Mrs. Macleod, "and so I'll gang and gie MacTavish a trial now."

Five minutes after that Mrs. Macleod went to the obliging grocer and asked for "a pund o' ham."

"What kind o' ham?" inquired Muster MacTavish.

"Oh, gie me the same kind that Mistress MacPhairson always gets here."

"A' richt," returned the grocer, with a cunning leer. "And then, bending ower the counter, he said, in a highly significant whisper: 'Whaur's yer bottle?'"

The Boy's Appeal.

The following is a copy of an Idaho school boy's complaint to a board of directors: "My sister, who is a school teacher, whips me every day. Ma and pa told her to whip me oftener than she did any other pupils, so they would think she was not partial. I write to let you know this was too thin. She is an old maid, and gets mad because she can't get married, and whenever she gets to feeling that way she larrups me. I hate to say such things about my sister, but it's so, and I write to inquire if you cannot stop her licking me or get her a husband. Any old thing will do, so it's a man."—Ex.

An Arkansas farmer, who was a delegate at a recent convention in Little Rock was greeted by a fellow-farmer and delegate the morning after his arrival, and asked how he felt.

"Mighty poorly," was the reply; "didn't sleep a wink the whole night through."

"Why, what was the matter?" asked the other.

"There was a goldrind light shining right in my eyes all night long."

"Why didn't you get up and blow it out?"

"Blow it out?" was the reply. "How could I blow it out when the blamed thing was shut up in a bottle?"

"Elizabeth," said Farmer Cornroe, laying aside his weekly paper, "is there any more fly-leaves in the Bible?"

"Yes."

"An' is all that pokeberry ink gone?"

"Not quite."

"Got or goose-quill 'bout the house?"

"I think so; what are you going to do?"

"Goin' ter write to New Orleans fur a peck o' that kind o' Mardi Gras seed that the papers is talkin' so much about; want to try it in the lower bottom fields fur early pasture."

"Dickie, what did your mamma say when she saw us coming along the walk?"

"She said, 'Well, well, who on earth has your father picked up now?'"

"Is she really so jealous about him?"

"She won't even allow him to sing 'Annie Laurie.'"

Hojack—"Have you heard Trenchant Penn's plan for getting that weird spelling he uses in his dialect stories?"

Tondick—"No; what is it?"

Hojack—"He dictates his stories to his nine-year-old daughter, who ticks them off on the typewriter."—Judge.

Mrs. Weeks—What business is your husband engaged in?

Mrs. Weeks—He operates in stocks.

"Is he a 'bull' or a 'bear'?"

"Both. He's a bull at the stock exchange and a bear at home."—Chicago Evening News.

"This is the parlor, eh?" tentatively remarked the real estate agent, who was looking over the house.

"Yes," replied the old man Kidder, "but I usually call it the courtroom—I've got seven daughters, you know."—Harper's Bazar.

"His aim in life seems to be a poor one."

"Yes; he inherits that from his mother. I once saw her throw a stone at a dog in the street and hit her husband in the back yard."

MORO LEADER, $1.00 per year.

The colored female cook of a family living at the South End came up stairs the other afternoon, and, twisting up the corners of her apron with considerable embarrassment, said to her mistress:

"You see, missus, I thought it mought be bes' to be tellin' you dat I—dat I done got married las' week."

"Ah! indeed. And what is your name now, Hannah?"

"Mis' Williams, ma'am. You see, my husband's a cook, too. He am what dey call a sheft in a hotel."

"A chef, hey? That's very nice. And do you expect to leave us directly, Hannah?"

"Not d'rectly, mum. I'll stay wid ye for de present. You see, my husband's he's done gone to New York an' Washington on his honeymoon, an' it'll be nigh onto six weeks befo' he comes back.—Pittsburg Bulletin.

An Edinburg minister preached one Sunday in a country church. At noon the elder heard one old lady say to another:

"Hoo liket ye de sermon to day?"

"Vera weel; but I didna ken til noo thot Sodom and Gomorrah was na mon and wife."

The elder told the parson, who was so tickled that he told the story at his next dinner-party. A simpering young woman commented, "Oh well, I suppose they ought to have been if they were not."

SPECIAL.

Notice is hereby given that the Columbia Southern Railway Company, a corporation duly organized and existing under and by virtue of the laws of the State of Oregon, and the directors of said Columbia Southern Railway Company acting under authority of resolutions duly adopted by the affirmative vote of all of the stockholders of the company at a meeting of said stockholders held at the city of The Dalles, Oregon, on the 8th day of December, have filed in the office of the Secretary of State of the State of Oregon, and in the office of the county clerk of the county of Wasco, Oregon, and in the office of the clerk of Sherman county, Oregon, Supplementary Articles of Incorporation amending Articles III, IV and VI of the present articles of incorporation of said company so that said Articles III, IV and VI of said Articles of Incorporation shall, when amended, read as follows:

ARTICLE III.

The enterprise, pursuit, business and occupation in which this corporation shall be:

First—To acquire, build, own, construct, and to maintain and operate such constructed, owned or acquired railroad and telegraph lines, and to carry freight and passengers thereon, and to transmit messages thereover, and to receive tolls for the carriage or transmission of the same, the following railroad and telegraph lines, namely:

1. A line from Biggs, in the State of Oregon, to Moro, in the State of Oregon.

2. A line from Moro, in the State of Oregon, or some other convenient or suitable place on the line between Biggs and Moro, to the town of Prineville, in the State of Oregon.

3. A line commencing at or near Cross Hollows, in the State of Oregon, to a point at or near Canyon City, in the State of Oregon.

4. A line from Hay canyon junction, in the State of Oregon, to Hay canyon in the State of Oregon, and to the town of Biggs, in the State of Oregon.

Second—To build, purchase, own, lease or operate steamboats on the Columbia and Snake rivers and the tributaries thereof, the termini of said water lines to be Celilo, in Wasco county, and Priest Rapids on the Columbia river, in the State of Washington, and Lewiston, on the Snake river, in the State of Idaho.

Third—To build, purchase, own or lease docks, piers, warehouses and depots to be used in connection with the railroad and steamboat lines above mentioned, and to purchase or lease lands, whether adjacent or contiguous to its railroads, docks or warehouses or not, and to hold, possess, improve, lease, sell, mortgage or otherwise dispose of such lands in such manner as may be deemed fit.

Fourth—To borrow money on bonds, notes or otherwise for the general purposes of the corporation, and to mortgage its railroads, steamships, steamboats, franchises, rolling stock and any and all property to secure the payment thereof; provided, however, that unless authorized
