A terrible accident occurred in The Dalles on Thursday morning, when John C. Bradley, a switchman on the O. R. & N., met an awful death under the cars at the railway yards. No one knows just how the accident happened. Evidently the unfortunate man slipped and fell while coupling a car that was to be side-tracked. When discovered, half his head was found to be cut off and his brains scattered round on the track, besides having his legs and arm shattered. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death while in discharge of his duty as switchman, with no one to blame therefor.

LADIES' AID SOCIAL.

The ladies' Aid social passed off on Saturday night with much elation, the large opera hall being filled with a good-natured crowd, ready to respond heartily to the efforts of those who took part in the interesting and amusing programme.

The first number, a selection by the band, was announced by the Rev. C. D. Nickelsen, at about half past eight, after which little Neva Proebstel, a little tot of four summers, made her first bow to the public, and sang her little song in child-hood's inimitable manner.

Next came Miss Edna Strahl's recitation, "The Shadow on the Blind," after which Miss Spear took her place at the organ and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Hosford and Mr. and Mrs. DeMoss, who rendered the quartet, "Dreaming To-night," in a manner worthy of the hearty applause they received.

Next in order came the doll drill, with Lulu Bolton at the organ and Katie Martin to mark time. Nineteen little girls, with all sorts and conditions of dolls, marched on to the stage and went through their performance without a mistake, doing much credit to their instructress, Mrs. C. D. Nickelsen. "Marching Through Georgia," by the band, came next, followed by an amusing recitation by Mrs. DeMoss, after which Lulu Bolton rendered a pleasing solo on the organ. Dr. Olive Hartley here drew a laughable picture of "charming woman" taking the place of man at the poles, ending with an appeal in behalf of woman suffrage.

A duet by Edna Strahl and Mrs. DeMoss was followed by a one-act comedy farce, which brought down the house.

"The Battle Hymn of the Republic," rendered in a splendid manner by the band, brought the programme to a close.

An abundance of luscious Hood River strawberries and delicious ice-cream were then served, after which the crowd repaired to their several homes, all having a kindly feeling for the ladies, who, regardless of trouble, contributed such a pleasant evening's entertainment.

The receipts of the evening amounted to $28.45, leaving a net profit of $20.20.

Discovered by a Woman.
Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hammick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottles free at A. D. Bolton & Co's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

Band Social.
The band boys will give an ice-cream and strawberry social on Saturday, June 17, at the opera house. The programme, which is free, will appear in the next issue. All are cordially invited to come and eat strawberries and ice-cream.

It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by A. D. Bolton & Co., Drugists. Guaranteed.

A man who recently returned from a trip to New England overheard two Southerners talking over their experiences on their first visit to Boston.

"You know these here little, round white beans," said one. The other admitted that he did. "We feed 'em to hosses down our way."

"Yes."
"Well, sir, up to Boston they take them beans, boil 'em for three or four hours, slap a little sowlben an' some molasses and other truck in with 'em, and what do you suppose they do with 'em?"

"Gosh, I do 'no."
"Well, sir," said the first speaker, sententiously, "I'm d—d if they don't eat 'em!"

"Can dogs find their way home from a distance?" is a question frequently asked. It's according to the dog. If it's one you want to get rid of, he can find his way back from Africa. If it's a good one, he's apt to get lost if he goes round the corner.

"Hardrupp tells me he never destroys receipted bills."
"No; he's more likely to have them framed and hung up in his parlor as curiosities."

She—"How could that be?"
He—"Wouldn't let me marry his daughter."
