Anti-expansion is as likely to be as dead as a last year's bird's nest before the presidential election.

It is about time that the Democrats did something to correct the prevailing impression that Atkinson and Aguinaldo are their spokesmen.

The Democratic editors claim that 8000 traveling salesmen have lost their positions through the trusts, but the merchants who are called on every few minutes to inspect a line of samples, have not noticed the reduction.

New York green goods men have been profiting by the country's prosperity, since it has increased the number of "come ons" who have good money to invest in packages of sawdust. The Republican administration and congress can keep the country prosperous, but they can't put common sense into the heads of gullible fools.

Little Japan seems to have taken hold of the forestry question more intelligently and vigorously than ourselves. A definite plan is being followed in the perpetuation of her forest areas, their importance in relation to agriculture and water supply being recognized. Under imperial edict every mature tree cut down must be replaced by the planting of a young one.

Commerce with our new possessions is already showing a remarkable growth. According to the official figures of the "summary of commerce and finance" for September, just issued by the treasury department, the imports from Porto Rico, Cuba, Hawaii and the Philippine islands, were 61 per cent. greater than for the same month in 1897 or 1898, and exports to them 161 per cent. greater.

The yellow newspapers and the demagogues who are prating about "McKinley's War," and inspiring the prayers of Aguinaldo for the overthrow of the McKinley administration, are not so ignorant as their words would indicate. They know that no declaration of war could properly be made by a government against its own subjects to suppress insurrection or rebellion. It does not require a resolution of congress to show the present executive his duty. He is not another Buchanan.

A GENERAL WITH SECOND SIGHT.

A curious story is current in London which would seem to indicate that Sir Redvers Buller, now commander-in-chief in South Africa, is possessed of the strange gift of second sight—a singularly valuable gift, it must be confessed, for a general.

It seems that he was at Cape Town at the time of Sir George Colley's disastrous rout at Majuba Hill. On the day of the battle, although he was many hundreds of miles away, he saw vividly before him the scene of Colley's defeat and death.

So strong was the impression which this species of vision created upon his mind that he immediately rode out as fast as he could to the suburban residence of the Cape Premier, Sir James Sibewright, imparting to him his fears, and entreating him to get at once in telegraphic communication with the British base at Mount Prospect.

Sir James complied with his wishes, and while Buller and the Premier were sitting together, reassuring replies were received, and the Major (as Buller was then) was bantered by Sir James on the subject of his apprehensions. Yet before evening had arrived the news of General Colley's defeat and death on Majuba Hill was flashed across the wires, and it was then seen that the disaster to British arms had already taken place at the time when Buller called upon the Cape Premier, although nothing was known about it then at Mount Prospect, the British base of operations against the Boers.

It is likewise recalled in military circles in London that Sir Redvers seemed to be aware of the death of the French Prince Imperial and of the fall of Khartoum, as also of the death of Gordon, at the very moment when these things occurred, and long before news of the events arrived. Buller is such a strange, silent, saturnine-looking man, so repellent in his manner, and so uninviting as far as familiar conversation and discussion are concerned, that no one has ever been known to question him about these matters, yet the fact is on record that he has on at least three occasions given marvelous demonstrations of the possession of a second sight which enables him to know and to see important events that are in progress hundreds and even thousands of miles away from home.

Never before has a commander of a big army embarked upon a campaign thus mentally equipped, and much curiosity prevails as to the services which his second sight is likely to render to Sir Redvers in the war against the Boers.

Latest accounts from the Transvaal leave matters very much at a stand-off between the English and Boers. Ladysmith, Mafeking and Kimberly still hold out, with little danger of being taken before reinforcements arrive. The Boers have marched south, and tried to occupy Eastcourt, but failed, as they have in every instance where they attacked British fortified positions. When it is remembered the Boers outnumbered the British up to the present three to one, it does not appear that they have accomplished so very much, their splendid shooting and knowledge of the country notwitstanding. They have not been able to drive General White and his forces from Ladysmith, although they have made several attempts to do so, and now from Eastcourt comes the account of a Boer repulse. The fight at Belmont ended in a victory for the English, but at a cost of men and officers out of all proportion to the advantage gained. It is said that 30,000 British soldiers will enter the Orange Free State in a few days, and if the Boer commander is able to hold the British in check in Natal, keep up the investment of Kimberly and Mafeking, and still have an army sufficient to meet Buller's advance on the Free State, the estimate of the Boer forces engaged are greatly underrated, which is very likely a fact, as General Joubert seems always to have large forces at hand for service in all directions. General Buller, like a sensible man, has ordered that English officers be armed with a rifle, and no longer wave a sword to show the Boers where to shoot. This is a move in the right direction, as no man, however brave, wishes to stand up as a target to be shot at by the best marksmen in the world.

WHICH ARE WE TO BELIEVE?

British dispatch: "We shelled the enemy's position on Wednesday, Nov. 22d, our shells causing havoc among the Boers, who fired a few shots from their long-range guns. No casualties, except one dog wounded."

Boer dispatch: "The British briskly fired on our works yesterday. We replied with shot and shell. British loss was tremendous; one Boer was wounded."

That the bottom has fallen out of the Filipino insurrection is becoming more evident as fresh news arrives from the islands. Aguinaldo's army has melted from around him like snow in the sunshine, the men departing to their homes to engage in harvesting the rice crop, which they find a more congenial occupation than fighting Americans. The only insurgent forces worthy of mention are some 1600 Muscardos, who still hang together, 2000 men under Pio Pilar, who have taken refuge in the mountains east of Manila, and about the same number with General Treas in Cavite province. The tactics lately adopted by our commanders of leaving garrisons in the captured towns, have demoralized the enemy and prevented reorganization in the rear of our army. Aguinaldo is a fugitive in the mountains, with only 15 men in his train, and can never again raise a force able to offer serious resistanee to our troops. Bautista, president of the Filipino congress, has formally renounced all connection with the insurrection, and believes the few natives who still have arms in their hands, will lay them down as soon as they learn the forlorn condition of their leaders. The people have at last found out that they are engaged in a hopeless struggle, and wish to see the end of a war that is devastating the country.

UITLANDER GRIEVANCES.

J. C. R., in a letter to the Oregonian, gives the following as the reasons for England's war in the Transvaal:

The Uitlanders pay practically all the taxes of the Transvaal, yet have no say as to how the money shall be spent.

Uitlander children have to speak Dutch in order to gain a proper education.

Johannesburg is wretchedly governed, and is in a fearfully unsanitary condition.

The Uitlanders have no power in municipal government. They are not allowed to hold public meetings.

Trial by jury is turned into a farce.

The newspapers are gagged.

The dynamite monopoly is an obstacle to the industrial progress of Johannesburg.

The president may, without trial, expel any Uitlander from the Transvaal. He controls the cables and can delay messages.

The Uitlanders pay more taxes in money than is spent in the government of the country.

The Uitlander has been disarmed and compelled to pay for a fort erected to terrorize him.

A petition enumerating these grievances, signed by 20,000 British subjects, praying for relief, was sent to the British government. That was the ground for her interference. What would be the answer of America to a similar petition from Mexico or any other country in which her citizens might reside? She would do as England has done.

CORRESPONDENCE.

FROM DEMOSS SPRINGS.

C. W. Dickman departed for his Salem home on the Sunday train.

W. H. Lee took in the hop at Moro on Saturday night. He reports a pleasant time.

The postmaster and family made a short business trip to Moro on Saturday.

Rev. Tozier of Wasco, who was to preach in the school house on Sunday, failed to come—on account of the rain, we suppose.

Dan McGreagor has taken steps to organize a singing school in the school house at this place. Hope he will succeed.

Prof. DeMoss and family returned from their visit to Wasco county on Thursday evening. The Professor was quite ill on the trip, and has not fully recovered yet.

We learn that Miss Bessie Rist, who has been visiting friends in this vicinity for several months, departed for her Minnesota home on Friday last, in response to a telegram.

The school board will meet here on Wednesday to consider the advisability of extending the present term of school two months, making five months in all. This is in harmony with a general wish among the patrons. Why not, gentlemen, when there is sufficient money in the treasury to meet the necessary expense.

Sunday being a rainy day, and consequently quite dreary to some of us, there was a wish for something exciting. The wish was gratified a little after noon on Monday, when Ben F. Cochran, who was driving his brother's team of greys to the hack, stopped and tied the team in front of the hotel. While he was absent the team took fright at a band of hogs which was being driven by, and breaking loose started for home at a lively rate. When near the warehouse the tongue came loose from the neck-yoke, and went into the ground to the depth of about three feet. Here the team tore themselves loose from the wagon, and continued to run. When across the railway track they left the road and encountered the corner of the fence, which brought them to a standstill. Ben succeeded in getting them out of the wire, but not until one of the horses was quite severely cut. Finding themselves loose, they made another attempt to run, trampling over Ben, but he managed to escape unhurt, and prevented them from getting away.

Rev. J. M. DeMoss will preach at the Baptist Church in Moro next Sunday, at 3 o'clock sharp.

John Kay has come back to God's country again. He arrived on Saturday evening.

Texts for President Kruger.

It is curious, says the Daily News, that President Kruger in his daily searchings of the scriptures should never have come across the following passages:

One law shall be to him that is home-born and unto the stranger that sojourneth among you.—Exodus xii:49.

But the stranger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself; for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt:—I am the Lord your God.—Leviticus xix: 34.

Ye shall have one manner of law as well for the stranger as for one of your own country: for I am the Lord your God.—Leviticus xxiv: 22.

One law and one manner shall be for you and for the stranger that sojourneth with you.—Numbers xv: 16.

If President Kruger had only read, marked, learned and inwardly digested these texts, there would have been no Transvaal crisis.—Britisher.

Read This, Consumptives

"From the way my wife coughed for six months, I knew she had consumption. She showed it in her face, too, and her body wasted away to a mere skeleton. After she got down in bed the doctors couldn't do any good. I called in both Dr. T. A. Shannon and Dr. N. L. Hawsen, each of whom is a first-class physician, but they had nothing that would reach the trouble in her lungs. My wife's father came to see her one day, when she got very low. He lives in Cedar Lake, Wis., while we live in Rice Lake, Wis. He said he knew what was needed, and made me get a bottle of Acker's English Remedy for Consumption. I went to Schmidt's, our local druggist, and got a bottle, and it helped her right away. She took eight 50c. bottles, and they put her back on her feet and made her as sound and well as any woman in town. She has taken on flesh again, she doesn't cough, and if any one who doesn't know the facts was to be told she was so near death with consumption, he wouldn't believe it. My wife does all her housework, and at night sleeps as soundly as you please. Her stomach no longer gives her any trouble at all. Maybe you doubt what I am telling. If so, I advise you to see J. N. Schmidt, the druggist who sold me Acker's English Remedy for Consumption. He'll tell you the same thing. He says Acker's English Remedy is wonderful in all throat and lung troubles; that it is sold on a guarantee to cure, or money returned, and he never yet had a bottle come back to his store, although he has sold hundreds of them. My name is Luther Bedell, Rice Lake, Wis."

Acker's English Remedy is sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee that your money will be refunded in case of failure. 25c., 50c. and $1 a bottle in United States and Canada. In England 1s. 2d., 2s. 3d., and 4s. 6d.

THE WEAR AND TEAR OF MEN'S NERVES

Men and Women use Hudyan.

Results in debility—exhaustion, not only exhaustion of the body, but exhaustion of the mental faculties as well.

The nerve cells of the body have been robbed of their vital forces. The nerves have no life in them; therefore all the organs of the body suffer from lack of nerve control, and the blood vessels that supply these organs are not in proper tone. "HUDYAN corrects the evil. HUDYAN provides this vitality or nerve force that is wanting." Are you approaching this condition of Nervous Debility? Are you growing prematurely old? Do you suffer with headaches (Fig. 1); hollow eyes or dark rings under eyes (Fig. 2); pale, thin face and sunken cheeks (Fig. 3); weakness of limbs (Fig. 4); a poor appetite and impaired indigestion (Fig. 5); torpid liver (Fig. 6), and costiveness, a coated tongue (Fig. 7)? Or have you dizzy spells? Do you suffer sleepless nights? Do you have horrid dreams? Do you awake in the morning hollow-eyed and tired out? Are you despondent, melancholy? Do you shun society? Are your knees shaky? Have you pain in the small of the back?

These symptoms all tell you that your nerves are failing you; that you will grow old long before your time. HUDYAN will save you; HUDYAN will make a robust, strong, manly man of you. HUDYAN revives, restores, rejuvenates. Go to your druggist at once and get HUDYAN. No other remedy; just HUDYAN, for HUDYAN is what you need.

Other symptoms of this terrible affliction that visits so many men are cold hands and feet, palpitation of the heart, hot flashes, clouded memory, nausea after eating, twitching of muscles, spots before the eyes, shooting pains, weariness, tremblings, sediment in urine, bleary eyes, swimming in ears, a shaky, all-gone feeling.

Remember HUDYAN. Be a vigorous, robust man, a man with nerves of steel, a man with muscles of iron.

HUDYAN is wonderful. HUDYAN is acknowledged by our leading medical men to be the greatest nerve and tissue builder known to medical science. HUDYAN will lift you from that life of despondency and discouragement that you are now in, and will make of you a happy man. Try HUDYAN, you will soon be convinced. Hudyan Cures Women's Nerves. Thousands of women use Hudyan.

GET HUDYAN from your druggist, 50c a package, six packages $2.50. If your druggist does not keep it, send direct to HUDYAN REMEDY CO., Cor. Stockton, Ellis and Market Streets San Francisco, Cal.
