Germany's Woes Engage Attention of World's Statesmen—Young Plan and War Debts Involved—Economies for Our Navy.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

THAT conference at Chequers participated in by Chancellor Brüning, Foreign Minister Curtius, Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Secretary Henderson has given rise, naturally, to vast quantities of comment, criticism and speculation. The gentlemen F. M. Sackett named agreed to answer no questions as to the topics of conversation and the results, giving out a noncommittal communique which would endeavor to deal with the present crisis in close collaboration with other governments concerned. Of course reparations was one of the chief topics, and the Germans stressed Germany's alleged inability to carry out the Young plan. Moreover, and this is of direct interest to the United States—Brüning was understood to have asked the aid of the British statesmen in sounding Germany's creditor nations, especially America, on the possibility of deferring reparations payments. The underlying hope of Germany, as expressed by the Berlin press is that Uncle Sam will consent a revision or cancellation of reparations, and the old proposition of cancellation of all the war debts owed to America naturally bobbed up again.

Brüning and Curtius, returning home on the Europa, were pleased to have as a fellow passenger Frederic M. Sackett, the American ambassador to Berlin, and it was believed they took the opportunity to tell him frankly what they hoped America would do in the way of helping Germany out of its slough of despond. Also, they are looking forward to conversations with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Secretary of State Stimson, both of whom are to be in Europe this summer. It was made plain to correspondents that the Germans hope to convince the Americans that, since Germany cannot now purchase raw materials from America, there is a direct connection between the economic crisis and reparations.

The French government, according to Foreign Minister Briand, will not be led into any international conference for the revision of the reparations scheme and the Young plan. Briand told the chamber of deputies that "there can be no question of revising the Young plan, since it has a definite character and contains in itself possibilities for Germany."

Chancellor Brüning's tax decrees, published just before he went to England, are denounced by nearly all the influential German newspapers as brutal, unjust and an imposition on the salaried and impoverished classes.

SECRETARY OF THE Navy Charles Francis Adams, Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, and other high officials of the navy were the weekend guests of President Hoover at the Rapidan fishing camp, and immediately after returning to his office Mr. Adams called in all the chiefs of branches and told them they would have to formulate plans for greater economy in the department in order to comply with the wishes of the President. Among other promises of the secretary is the pledge to cut by $15,000,000 the appropriations voted for the year 1932 by congress; and this means the navy will have to get along on about $40,000,000 less than the amount voted by congress for naval activities during the present year.

Mr. Hoover asked the navy to abandon the island of Guam as a naval base, and this was agreed to although the saving there will not be large. Reductions in naval personnel at Guam have been going on for some time. At present the navy maintains 57 officers and 425 enlisted men and marines at this point. Of this number 170 enlisted men are stationed aboard the Penguin, a mine sweeper, and the Gold Star, a station ship.

THERE are now 2,629,971 persons out of employment in Great Britain, according to official reports, the number having increased by 123,034 within a week. In Germany, though the jobs at the end of May numbered 4,007,000, conditions seemed to be improving, since about 322,000 of the unemployed found work during that month.

PREMIER BENNETT of Canada told the house of commons that the imperial economic conference which was to have been held in Ottawa next August had been postponed until next year. He said Australia had asked this because of the uncertain position politically in that country, and that New Zealand had stated that parliament probably would be in session in August and it was doubtful whether a ministerial representative could be present.

MRS. ELLA A. BOOLE of Brooklyn, N. Y., was elected president of the World Woman's Christian Temperance union at its convention in Toronto. She has been vice president and succeeds Miss Anna Adams Gordon of Evanston, Ill., who was forced by illness to retire from the presidency after nine years in that office. Mrs. Louis McKinley of Chesham, Alberta, was chosen first vice president. Mrs. Emilie J. Solomon, Gans Town, South Africa, and Miss Maria Sandstrom of Stockholm, were re-elected second and third vice presidents. Miss Ages Black, England, retains an honorary secretaryship and Miss Margaret Munns of Evanston, Ill., was re-elected honorary treasurer.

TENNESSEE'S lower house has refused to impeach Gov. Henry H. Horton, rejecting all the eight articles offered by a committee, the charges in which grew out of the bank failures of last fall which tied up about $7,000,000 of state money. The Horton faction won by a vote of 53 to 45.

IF THE gangsters of Chicago are finally routed, much of the credit must be given to George E. Q. Johnson, United States attorney for that district. Already he has secured convictions against many of the "public enemies," and his latest major achievement is the indictment of number one on that unsavory list, Al Capone himself.

"Scarface" is accused, as were most of the others, of defrauding the government by evading the payment of income taxes, and the federal prosecutors believe they have a sure case against him, so sure that they will not agree to leniency in case Capone pleads guilty, which is considered likely. The boss gangster surrendered promptly after the indictment was returned and was released on bonds. It is charged that he owes the government $215,000, and it was expected he would tender payment of the amount in the hope of mitigating his sentence.

Mr. Johnson's assistants, it was admitted, were having some difficulty in finding Capone's alleged hoarded wealth, for most of the properties which he is supposed to own are in the names of other persons. A Miami lawyer who represented Capone on several occasions has sued him for $50,000 for services and began legal proceedings to seize his Miami Beach mansion on an attachment.

PHILADELPHIA was host during the week to some 8,000 physicians from all parts of the country, members of the American Medical Association. For two days the house of delegates was busy determining matters of policy and electing officers, and the other three days saw the meetings of the fifteen scientific sections of the association, each of which represents a separate branch of medicine. Hundreds of papers were read and discussed and there were many clinical lectures by leading authorities.

PROSPECTS for renewed peace between the Italian government and the Vatican were bright. Two notes and a memorandum from Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, were finally answered in a note which, though it professed to form an apology for Fascist attacks on churches and churchmen, was regarded as conciliatory. The Italian government expressed regrets at the incidents, which, it said, were caused by Fascist reaction to news that Catholic Action was plotting against the Fascist regime, and promised to punish the guilty if they could be found and to try to prevent repetitions. The note then made two protests on behalf of the government. It repeated the charges of political anti-Fascist activity of Catholic Action, and it objected to the Vatican's efforts to enlist the sympathy of the whole world in its cause—this referring to the almost daily speeches made by Pope Pius.

Mussolini still insists on the dissolution of Catholic Action, and the pope has recognized this stand by starting the organization of new Catholic clubs throughout the country. Negotiations between Rome and the Vatican probably will be continued for some time and rupture of diplomatic relations which neither side wants, is no longer feared.

INCREASE of crime in the United States, the reasons therefore and possible means of betterment are treated in a 300 page report by the Wickham commission to President Hoover and by him given to the public. The appalling growth of criminality, according to the commission, is largely the result of ineffectiveness of criminal justice which is attributable to procedure unsuited to modern conditions, to incapacity of prosecutors, to the subjection of prosecutors to political organizations affiliated with criminals, and to the lack of scientific treatment of criminal tendencies of individuals in formative stages.

The commission declared it was in substantial accord with the following major findings of several state surveys: "Juvenile delinquency is the heart of the problem of crime prevention. Careful working methods and administrative practices in nollees, acceptance of plea of lesser offense, and other forms of dismissals and dispositions without trial, whereby the responsibility for these dispositions will be definitely located, careful records will be required, and the disposition will be based on thorough inquiry and on definite principles. Abolition of requirement of grand jury indictment in every felony case. Right of the accused to waive trial by jury. Increase of judges' control over the conduct of the trial. Development toward centralized state supervision of the administration of criminal justice in all its parts."

Five recommendations are submitted "applicable generally to substantially all the states, pointing out the lines to be followed in attempts to better local systems of prosecution." These recommendations are:

"1. Elimination, so far as may be possible in our system of government, of political considerations in the selection and appointment of federal district attorneys and prosecuting officers and of appointments based upon political activity or service.

"2. Better provision for the selection and tenure of prosecutors in the states, and especially for the organization, personnel, tenure, and compensation of the staff of the prosecutor's office.

"3. Such an organization of the legal profession in each state as shall insure competency, character, and discipline among those who are engaged in the criminal courts.

"4. A systematized control of prosecutions in each state under a director of public prosecutions or some equivalent official, with secure tenure and concentrated and defined responsibility.

"5. Provision for legal interrogation of accused persons under suitable safeguards."

ZITA, former empress of Austria, was a visitor in Rome and aroused a great deal of interest and speculation concerning her purposes. She was granted an audience with Pope Pius and talked with him in private for nearly an hour, after which she had a long conversation with Cardinal Facelli, papal secretary of state. It was reported that Zita sought the aid of the Holy See in the restoration of her son, Archduke Otto, to the throne of Austria.

Another rumor in Rome was that Zita was there in the hope of arranging a marriage between Otto and Princess Maria, youngest daughter of the king and queen of Italy. In semi-official but well informed circles it was said no consideration would be given to such a proposal at the present time; but if the young archduke ever is permitted to ascend the Austrian throne—which is unlikely—the marriage of Savoy might agree to the union.

MAJ. MAURICE CAMPBELL, former prohibition administrator in New York, has announced that he has filed with President Hoover charges against Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury, formerly in charge of prohibition enforcement, whom he accuses of being derelict in his duty. Campbell says he made the complaint against Lowman some time ago and it was turned over to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who refused to take any action; so now he alleges in his letter to the President that Mr. Mellon took advantage of his official position to conceal facts and thus shield a government official "who is derelict in his office." Last year Campbell published a series of syndicated press articles which purported to show that Lowman had urged him to relax prohibition enforcement during the 1923 Presidential campaign.

GEN. CHIANG KAI-SHIK, head of the Chinese Nationalist government, believes the Communist bandit menace is the gravest problem facing the Chinese people; so he has taken the field personally against the robber bands that are terrorizing Kiangsi and Hunan provinces and has appealed to his fellow officers of the Nationalist army to give him all their help in the suppression of communism. In a public statement General Chiang charged the Canton Insurgents with making tools of the military forces regarding the recent Cantonese charges against himself that he was trying to become the military dictator. To refute these charges he promised that if he were successful in eradicating communism he would divest himself of all military power and retire to his farm in Chekiang province. If he failed, he said, "I would die on the battlefield."

FRENCH opposition to the proposed Austro-German customs accord seems to be effective at least to the extent of keeping the little entente out of line. The foreign ministers of that entente have stated that all questions concerning the accord must find the countries of the entente united in their attitude, and that attitude will be indicated by the fact that the Rumanian government has informed Berlin that it does not wish to negotiate with Germany at this time. M. Briand is being warmly supported by Czechoslovakia.

OFFICIAL groups within the Protestant Episcopal church and the Presbyterian church in the United States have recommended vital alterations in the church codes that will surely cause long and loud discussion. After six years of study, an Episcopalian commission advocates a revised canon creating ecclesiastical courts to pass on problems of marriage. It would permit ministers to marry communists and divorced persons whose names had been approved, eliminate all mention of ground for divorce and remarriage, and defining nine causes for annulment.

A commission of the Presbyterian church, deploring the increasing divorce rate, given its approval to birth control practiced only "in fidelity to the highest spiritual ideals of the Christian home," and suggests the establishment of courses of instruction in marriage. The Presbyterian report will be submitted to the general assembly of the church in Pittsburgh May 23. The Episcopalian revision will be presented to the general convention in Denver September 15.

MILDRED GINN WRITES

Burgesses. They are living on government property, near the Secretariat, the grounds and flowers of which we enjoyed very much for a time. We then went over to the Governor's Gardens which is a beautiful botanical garden adjoining his private residence. Ootycup is the finest hill station in South India and is where the Governor of Madras and many of the rajahs have their summer homes. The flowers in the gardens are beautiful but we had to pull ourselves away as other interesting things had been planned for the afternoon. When leaving home we had decided to have tea at a English tea room but the Burgesses persuaded us that it would be much nicer to pack a lunch and get away to the hills. We did this, adding a birthday cake and some sweets from the bakery on our way. We found a wonderful place in a secluded spot where the men built a fire and made the tea while the rest of us spread the table on the ground and enjoyed the scenery. A short walk took us to an open place directly over-looking the Governor's palace and we enjoyed looking down on the select, magnificent home with the servants arrayed in their brilliant red uniforms going and coming. Few lowly cars drove up and a group were out on the tennis courts taking exercise. The air on this high peak was so fresh and bracing and the quiet so restful but the sun would not stand still, time would not be stayed and so we too had to move on. Burgesses took us back to Coonor and stayed to dinner with us.

Mr. Stoddard was leaving today which is his birthday so we celebrated that event yesterday with another nice breakfast and a picnic tea out a few miles from Coonor. The place is called Lady Canning's Seat and over looks the plains—a marvelous view but oh, how hot the plains did look and from all reports their looks were not deceiving. We talked rather late last evening and were up quite early this morning in order that we might go to the meeting. Meeting again tomorrow morning but their worth getting up early for.

I'm finishing this up after the dinner hour and I fear the noise of my typewriter is not altogether appreciated so I'll be good and say good night to you folks. Much, much love, Mildred.
