Locals

Wayne Akers, now adjusting a store in Canyon City, visited his mother in Moro last week end.

W. H. (Bitty) Garrett well known travelling man for a Portland grocery firm was here this week still going strong after over thirty five years on the road.

Homes quarantined this week for smallpox were Bob Hoskinson, Dewey Thompson and Maurice Douma. The majority of those who were in the first group have been released.

Glen Rhyn and family left for Oregon City Tuesday. The work in the elevators has become so scattered that there is not much going for another year.

Fuel, fuel and food are advertised in this week's paper by some of the dealers of the county who are anxious to serve you.
Others tell of insurance, antifreeze and haircuts. Read their ads, some of them have something you need.

Mrs. Margaret Moore of Spokane, and Mr. and Mrs. Link Huff of Arlington, were visitors at the E. H. Moore home the first of the week. Mrs. Moore was formerly Margaret Huff and resided in Moro in the early days.
Mrs. E. H. Moore entertained a number of old friends Tuesday afternoon in honor of the visitor.

J. A. Thompson and wife are here from Portland to visit with his daughter, Mrs. N. W. Thompson. Saturday was Mr. Thompson's 80th birthday and he wished to celebrate it along with Thanksgiving, near his old habitat.

Mrs. Ida Hastings and son Louis, who have been living in Vancouver, Wash., this fall were here a short time Saturday afternoon.

Harold Bryant was up from Hood River to spend Thanksgiving with his mother.

Orville Barnum, Byron Peetz and Lansing Ratelle, who flew up from Portland to spend Thanksgiving, left again Saturday by plane for another chilly trip home.

A marriage license was issued in The Dalles Monday to Willis E. Brittain of Tygh Valley, and Ula Stark of Grass Valley.

Vic Barr and wife returned this week from a visit to their old home in the Willamette valley.

Clyde Gilmer is confined to his home with what may be pneumonia.

The water pipes leading to the drug store and the Conlee store froze and broke Tuesday afternoon with the result that Douma brother's ice plant, the alley and street were flooded for a few minutes.

Many of the children who were out of school last week because of quarantine restrictions are once again at their tasks and a few of those who were present last week are now taking their turn with the smallpox.

Dutch Fuller has found that his shoulder was broken after all and he is strapped to a cross until it grows together again.

The Oregon Emerald, student body newspaper at Eugene, expresses the hope that the de-cendents of the S. A. E. dog, Noble, who summered in Moro, will not be named Ignoble, after his illustrious father.

J. B. Adams returned the first of the week from a trip to Portland and the small valleys close to that city and states that the early freeze destroyed great quantities of late garden produce there.

Keck McKean, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McKean, has been appointed as a member of a committee to work in conjunction with the National Student Federation of America. This committee will make a study of student government problems.

The city bumping plant on the hill was lined with shiplap this week to keep some of the frost and cold off the machinery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Wright, Mrs.
Martha Cope and Mrs. Kyilo and children were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Strong last Sunday.

Mrs. G. C. Akers admitted some experience with type several years ago and helped set up this issue of the Journal.

The Meeting of the Keystone class will be held at Truman Strong home next Sunday night.
Mrs. W. C. Bryant will be director.

by Esther Olson. The characters are:

August A. Richmond Richard Barnes
Mrs. A. A. Richmond Imogene Johnson
Frank Manning Blaine Miller
Jack Belmont Arnold Landry

Marjorie Byers, who has been ill for the past few weeks with smallpox is back in school.

The glee club girls had their first meeting on Monday. Miss Thomas, their instructor, has some new songs and presented them to the girls. The girls chose three songs that they would like to learn if the school could afford to buy them. The glee club will meet every Monday and Wednesday and on alternate Fridays.

MODISH VELVET HATS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Milliners sponsor velvet to wear with both wool and velvet suits and dresses. The little cap-like hat at the top, an Agnes creation, is without any decoration whatsoever except a small velvet bow. It may be worn all day and still be in good taste for restaurant wear.

Designers have definitely decided in favor of the hat with a brim, such as the model centered in this trio adopts.
Its close-fitting neckline breaks away at the left side, showing the hair, pulling down sharply over the right eye framing the face in a flattering manner. The only decoration is a small white feather.

Kid and brown velvet are used adroitly by Madoux for the charming little debutante hat shown below in the group.

GREEN IN MANY HUES WITH BLACK

Fashionable Color Combination for Winter.

There are few greater winter allies in the fashionable color army than black and green. Black, of course, stays black, but the green becomes any and every shade possible; mint, water, emerald, bottle, moss, lettuce, deep sea, leafy Irish and Persian—and it still goes perfectly with black, and you can juggle them up to see which one assumes the greater responsibility in being the main portion of a coat or dress, or an ensemble including both.

Green wool coats with black seal collars and cuffs are AJ, and so are black broadcloth coats with trimmings of dyed green. The colors and the materials are both interchangeable.

For some time now corduroy has played a rather inconspicuous part in fashion circles. True, it has always found favor in riding and hunting and mountain climbing and gatherings, but today it has brushed from its soft ridges and calmly walked into the most select salon for tea. Instead of being combined with knitted gloves and scarfs and bright berets, it finds itself in the company of satin and silk of a softness to which it has not been accustomed but to which it is delighted to be friends.

Another color combination, difficult, but delightful is gray and royal blue.
Here the gray is nearly always the fur, squirrel or caracul, and the blue the cloth of the coat, either a very rough wool or a soft duvelyn.

Dupont Anti-Freeze MENTHANOL Is a Better Anti-Freeze

You Get 7 Extra
Values

1. It is more economical to buy and use—you actually need less and it lasts longer.
2. It has very little odor.
3. It does not readily boil off. Careful tests on cars of many makes indicates little evaporation under normal conditions.
4. It maintains cooling plant efficiency.
5. It is colored purple for identification and your protection.
6. It prevents corrosion. Severe practical tests have conclusively proven that it effects engine radiator and hose connections much less than do other widely advertised anti-freeze solutions, even less than plain water.
