He: "I want to marry your daughter."

Father: "Have you seen my wife yet?"

He: "Yes, but, nevertheless, I prefer your daughter."

I am a little thing with a big meaning. I help everybody. I unlock doors, open hearts, dispel prejudice. I create friendship and good will. I inspire respect and admiration. Everybody loves me. I bore nobody. I violate no law. I cost nothing. Many have praised me, none have condemned me. I am pleasing to those of high and low degree. I am useful every moment of the day—I am Courtesy.

EXACT SCIENCE
"Nowadays," says Doc Yak, "most hospitals have adopted the new scheme of branding babies to keep them from getting all mixed up. Same way with corks—branded on the bottom and everybody knows the pop."

HOLD DA PHONE
"Did you call Trixie up this morning?"
"Yes, but she wasn't down."
"But why didn't you call her down?"
"Because she wasn't up."
"Then call her up now and call her down for not being down when you called her up."

Inspector King and Sammy Miller took in a charity bazaar at Klamath Falls one evening recently. Among the great variety of attractions was a Get Your Kiss booth.

"How much are they?" inquired Sammy of the dizzy blond presiding over the booth.

"Twenty-five, fifty and seventy-five cents," she answered shifting her gum.

"What's the idea of the three prices?"
"Well," replied the blond, getting ready for action, "it's like this: twenty-five cents and you do all of the work; fifty cents and I help a little; an' seventy-five cents and you just hang on!"

Speaking of fortitude, how about the Eastern Oregon cow girl who entered the horse show and held her roan with the best of them.

When you take an hour's automobile run, you know that the enjoyment you get is well worth the small amount you spend for gasoline.

But have you ever stopped to consider how much you get for your money when you buy electricity?

The cost of 5 gallons of gasoline will keep your electric appliances running for days—or even weeks.

... but where do you get more for your money than in buying Electric Service?
