Next Saturday the W. C. T. U. will have an all day meeting with a pot luck dinner at the home of Mrs. J. C. McKean. Mrs. Ada Jolley, state president will be present. Everybody is invited to come.
Mrs. Hazel Woods, Mrs. Elizabeth Schaeffer, and Mrs. Eliza Martin were the hostesses who entertained the Neighbors of Woodcraft and their husbands on their social night last Tuesday. Jig-saw puzzles and 500 were the evening amusement, followed by a pot luck supper.
Mrs. Clyde Gillon and Mrs. Otis Baker made a business trip to The Dalles last Saturday.
Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Johnson visited friends in Kent last Sunday. They report quite a snow storm for that section during the afternoon.
Mrs. Elva Bryant spoke before the women of the fourth district of Oregon Women's clubs at The Dalles Wednesday afternoon. She is president of the district.
The boys who celebrated Wednesday afternoon by remaining away from school are reported to have left the county for a few days partly to see the world and partly to escape parental wrath.
L. L. Peetz made a trip to Wasco county this week after wood and returned with a car load.
Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thompson are here from Portland this week to finish their visit in the County Mr. Thompson helped break in pioneer days.
The Sherman county sons and daughters of Mrs. B. F. Medler helped her to celebrate her 88th birthday last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Barnum. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Medler, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. French and family and the host and hostess and son Lester.
Mrs. Truman Strong entertained a group of friends at bridge last Tuesday afternoon.
Visitors here from Redmond last Sunday were C. I. Dunlap and wife. Mr. Dunlap is an uncle of Marion McKee and an old resident of Wasco.
Mrs. Susie Hastings, now living in Vancouver, Washington, was in Moro for a few hours on Thursday.
A. F. McIntyre, of Umatilla county, was here this week looking after business matters.
Tom Stephens is in The Dalles hospital for a few days for a minor operation.

WASCO METHODIST CHURCH
Easter Sunday was well observed at Wasco. There were over 50 young people from Grass Valley, Moro and Wasco that attended the service on Gordon Ridge.
The Sunday school play "The Way of the Cross" was a fine piece of acting. The stage was banked with flowers and shrubbery. The altar rail and platform rail was arranged to resemble stone hedges. A hidden choir assisted in the production with Easter music at the end of each scene.
At the baptism service eight children were baptized. The spring at the edge of the flower garden as arranged for the Sunday school play was used as the baptismal font. The children presented at the altar of the church were Edwin Wayne Eaton and William Nelson Eaton, children of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Eaton; Gordon Edward McKee, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McKee; Charles Wesley Phegley, child of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Phegley; Joseph Lee Hines, Barbara Jean Hines, Virginia June Hines and Jack Howard Hines, children of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hines.
Wednesday, April 26, at 6:30 will be our pot luck dinner and business meeting for this month. Dr. T. D. Yarnes, Superintendent of this District, will be present for the business of the Fourth Quarterly Conference.
At the last official board meeting it was voted to hold a church institute on the three subjects, economics, peace, and liquor. We have already been fortunate enough to secure the promise of Mr. Roy Hewitt, a lawyer of Salem, to come to teach the class on economics and the promise of Mr. J. J. Handsaker of Portland to come to teach the class on peace. The date has been set for the institute as May 19, 20 and 21.

SALES TAX
changes the ordinary rule of tax; being public records available to the public. No one may advertise that goods will be sold without the tax although there is nothing to make of the tax necessary.
The first expenses taken from the bill are those for the collection tax.

Brims and Eyes Play Hide and Seek

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

WHAT fun brims and eyes will be having this season playing hide-and-seek with each other! You see, it is this way, fashion insists that brims take a most thrilling dip-over-one-eye slant, and what happens?—see for yourself in the picture where most of the brims pose at such a perilous angle they almost, if not quite, obliterate the right eye. Which is exactly the way the new hats are supposed to be worn. So get before your mirror and practice, for much of the success of the new hats depends on the "tricky" wearing thereof.
Not that the new hats are in any way lacking in comeliness within themselves. No, indeed! On the contrary the bewitching chatouxs which are flocking in by the thousands, just now are about as fascinating in a subconscious and spring style parade. It is not only the jauntness of their pose that enthral, but there is that appeal of the truly feminine in their ribbons, their flowers (yes, flower trims are "in"), their airy straws and their dainty fabrics which make them irresistible.
There's no mistake about it, intensely interesting things are now going on in the realm of millinery. One of them is the revival of taffeta as a medium for hats to wear now and hats to wear when springtime gladdens the earth. One of the dramatic plays which milliners are making with taffeta is to stitch it intricately and designfully. The "derby" of pale blue stitched peas d'ange taffeta shown at the top of the left in this group is a striking example of this. It is pulled down over one eye rakishly, as fancy as even the youngest deb could desire.
The next hat (centered at the top) is also of taffeta—navy blue moire taffeta, with melon crown and flaring brim which laps over at the front in a most flattering manner. The three-tone cluster of velvet flowers placed to the fore is its only decoration. One eye, you will observe, is entirely obscured.

The new crowns for the most part are flat and low. The model to the right at the top is a representative type. Small wreaths of velvet flowers encircle the crown. Velvet flowers either in multi-color or in solid tone adorn fabric and straw hats alike this season.
Again, in the instance of the hat worn by the print-frocked lady, the brim quite conceals the right eye. The interesting thing about the charming outfit is its trimming touches of velvet as expressed in the wreath of flowers which enhance the hat and as they appear in the belt and buckle. Designers are keen about adding a dash of velvet to the new costumes, so much so, they are beautifying the new spring prints and crepes and matelasse weaves with most intriguing accessories including velvet scarfs, girdles, boxes and all sorts of enhancing details.
Three outstanding trends are presented in the smaller sketches below. The high-built turban reflecting co-sack influence as shown to the left is a favorite in Paris. The plaid taffeta bow at the neck also conveys an important message. The felt fedora in the center is being worn by swagger tailored folks. With toques and small brims we see crisp veils, as illustrated to the right, are inevitable.

Then an amount equal to the second half of the state property tax is taken from the receipts and the second half of the state tax shall not be collected.

After these sums have been taken from the receipts $518,897.23 shall be diverted to the use of the World War Veteran's Aid commission in lieu of their one half mill general tax. After this has been deducted $250,000 shall be taken out for relief of the unemployed. The remainder of the tax to be collected this year shall be divided among the counties in proportion to the amount of state tax each county pays.

In 1934 the commission shall allot such part of the income from the sales tax as shall pay the needs of the state now paid by real property tax and shall divide the remainder among the counties in proportion to the taxable property in each.

The sales tax will remove all state taxes levied against counties. All personal property will be taken from the rolls for the year in which the sales tax is in force.

Consider the Breakfast
There is an old fiddle which goes like this:
"Dinner may be pleasant
So may social tea
But yet, me thinks, the breakfast
Is best of all the three."
In many ways this is true for breakfast is a very important meal for grownups as well as for children. A well balanced breakfast sets the tempo for the whole day. Because breakfast literally "breaks" the longest fast preceding any other meal, it is especially important that the morning meal refuels the body with enough energy to begin the activities of the day.
The best kind of breakfast for the whole family consists of fruit, a whole grain cereal served with whole milk or cream, buttered toast, or muffins and milk or a hot milk drink. For the person requiring a more substantial breakfast, the menu may include eggs, bacon or other forms of meat, such as creamed chipped beef.
National child health day which comes on May Day would be an appropriate time to check on the children's breakfast. Boys and girls of school age grow fast and exercise a great deal. Growth and exercise require much energy which must be replaced by the food we eat. Breakfast should furnish one third of the child's daily food, a significant part of the body's food needs for the day.
Here is a breakfast suitable for a May Day breakfast that every member of the family will enjoy.

- Rhubarb Sauce
- Creamy Eggs
- Wholewheat Muffins
- Apricot Conserve
- Milk for Children
- Coffee for Adults
- Creamy Eggs
- Crisp Bacon
- Butter

taste, more butter making the dish richer and more palatable, as well as furnishing valuable food materials. The creamy eggs may be served on toast with a garnish of parsley.
"I see that an inventor has got up a chair that can be adjusted into a thousand different positions."
"I don't see what such a chair would be good for."
"It is intended for the small boy to sit on when he goes to church."
