ouncement by Rev. S. L. Boyce pastor.

The Grass Valley community, Rev. Boyce said, were elated over the good fortune of obtaining the services of this distinguished Indian evangelist. Rev. Wapato is a full blood Wenatchee Indian (Washington) and is a graduate of Willamette university, Salem, Oregon, with the class of 1921.

Rev. Wapato is recognized as one of the great leaders among his own people and has many times been referred to by the public as "Bryan of the Red Race." For 7 years following his graduation from Willamette University, Wapato held important editorial positions on the papers of the northwest. He held editorial positions with the following papers: Salem Morning Statesman, Salem Capitol Journal, Portland News, Wenatchee Daily World, and Spokane Daily Chronicle.

Those that have heard this distinguished Indian orator and thinker declare that it is a rare treat to hear his discourses. His messages are timely and it reflects his long years of training in the journalistic field. He is an able pulpiteer.

In the past the generally accepted plan has been for a yearly gathering of all ethical dentists who are members of the dental society, at which men of recognized and outstanding ability have read papers or demonstrated their various teachings in different branches of dentistry. But this year classes in eight of the major branches of dentistry have been organized and each member may enroll in one and only one class which is in charge of a specialist in that branch, assisted by others. Then instead of watching some one else work, the ambitious young dentist, rolls up his sleeves, dons a working garment, and proceeds to do some work himself, guided, assisted and criticized by the supervising specialist.

A COMPANY THIRTY YEARS OLD

Last Friday the Ford Motor Company completed 30 years of automobile making.

It is also my fortieth year at the same job. I made my first engine in 1893, and it still runs. This is the engine that won the Selden Patent Suit—which took the motor car out of the exclusive class, and opened the automobile industry to hundreds of manufacturers who started during the last 30 years.

Some of the men who began with me that June day in 1903, are working here yet. All of the principles we laid down then, are still operative; we find that they have great survival value for the future. To date they have produced and sold over 21,000,000 Ford cars.

Although we created the automobile market we have never thought it was good for anyone to monopolize it. We have always believed that before business could be good for one, it must be good for all. Our discoveries and improvements have always been open to other manufacturers without patent restrictions.

Of course, there is one thing we cannot share—everyone must get it for himself—and that is experience. Money could duplicate our buildings and machines, but it cannot duplicate 40 years of experience. And it is experience that makes a motor car.

But the past does not especially concern me; it has all been a preparation for the future. For myself, I feel that I have just been gathering the tools to do something worth while, and that my real task is still ahead.

Great changes are upon the world. False ideas of every kind are vanishing in the general upheaval. Those who built truly on principle will survive—their service will carry over. Business integrity and commodity honor will be fully justified. And newer and better ways of living will appear.

That is the outlook for this young thirty-year old Company of ours.

Henry Ford
