AND TO RUN—

Beware the deadly sitting habit. Or, if you sit, be like a rabbit. Who keeps ever on the jump. By springs concealed beneath his rump.

A little ginger 'neath the tail Will for lack of brains avail To show the full and slothful seat And move about with willing feet. Man was not made to sit in trance And press and press and press his pants. But rather with an open mind To circulate among his kind. And so my friends beware the snare That lurks within the cushioned chair. To run like everything it has been found Both feet must be upon the ground. —Author Unknown.

THOMPSON FAMILY

Thompson. Deaths recorded are Mrs. Emma Elliott and Mrs. Belle Thompson who both passed away on March 7th of this year.

The Thompsons omitted the usual recitations, speeches etc. This year's entertainment being more in the form of a birthday celebration, June 25th being the birthday anniversary of Chas. Bullard and Marjorie Meloy. It was also the birthday of Mrs. Angus Kuku who with Mrs. Lillian Montag and daughter Gloria and Miss Helen Dodd were guests. Mrs. Kuku and Mrs. Montag are sisters of Mrs. N. W. Thompson and in former years lived within a quarter of a mile of the Harlandviey grange hall. Other guests were Miss Arlene Dunning of The Dalles and Mrs. Hulett of Beaverton who is visiting her daughter Mrs. Orval A. Thompson. Local people who were guests were Helen Morrison and Mrs. M. L. Bowersox. Jesse R. Thompson, wife and daughter attended from Portland and Mr. and Mrs. A. Nish and Vance Nish from The Dalles.

bushel on all domestic food wheat. Regional work has already been started toward putting the plan into effect here in the west, and as soon as further steps are decided upon, notification will be given through the state extension services which are being used to the extent possible by the agricultural adjustment administration in order to avoid setting up costly duplicating organizations.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to those friends who have aided us during the period of our recent grief. Those who helped in the arrangements for the funeral we also wish to thank for their aid. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Todd and family. Mrs. Herald Todd and children.

BOW-TRIMMED HATS

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

Bows on her frocks, bows on her coats and jackets, on her caplets and on her blouse and most flattering of all, bows on her chapeaux—it's bows and bows this season which give to milady's costume a pretty feminine touch. The handsome velvet dinner hat sketched at the top answers the call of the mode in that it flaunts an artfully posed bow. It is a Patou model, of exceptional interest in that it argues in favor of brims.

For your convenience I have arranged for you to have your shoe work at Walter A. Mee & Son. Pick up and delivery twice a week at no cost to you.

Will be in Grass Valley Monday, June 19.
In Moro Tuesday and Wednesday June 20 & 21

Pick—So your wife chased you into a closet when you got home the other night so late from the Owl Club?
Peck—I'll say she did.
Pick—What did you do?
Peck—I locked myself in—and she commanded me to come out.
Pick—Did you do it?
Peck—You can just bet I didn't. Ain't I the boss in my own house?

A visitor to the Chicago World's Fair tells us of seeing this sign from his hotel window in the Windy City, "Beds and Baths—Cold and Hot."

Angry Motorist—Some of you pedestrians walk as if you owned the street.
Angry Pedestrian—Yes, and some of you motorists drive around just as if you owned the car.

Editor—It seems strange, Mr. Goof, that this anecdote of Lincoln has never appeared in print before. Contributor—Not so strange; I just thought of it last night.

Big Vogue in Promise for Cape-Suit

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

A SUIT'S the thing! This spring song of fashion is being chorused in accents loud and clear throughout every style center far and near. Indeed, some of the knowing ones go so far as to predict the coming spring will prove about the most important suit season we have experienced for a decade or more.

The exciting thing about the new suits is that they are to have capes. Not that suits are to go jacketless, no, indeed! The real news is that in addition to the usual jacket, the smartest tailored suits include capes, short, long or medium length, made of the very selfsame material.

What's more, some of the newest many-piece costumes even go so far as to throw in for good measure a full-length coat of the identical tweed or matelasse or whatever the weave which fashions the rest of the outfit. Now, ask we you, is this not "going some" in the direction of being practical when it comes to a four-piece ensemble which is a whole wardrobe in itself capable of being interchanged to tune in with whatsoever brand of weather fickle spring may have in store for us?

With this assortment of cape, jacket, long topcoat and skirt all of one material at hand, one need not wait for the calendar to announce that spring is here, in order to don the new suit. Wear it now and show the world how well-versed you are in regard to what constitutes mid-season chic. You are supposed to work the combination in this wise—for immediate wear, the wool skirt with its colorful blouse is to be topped with the full-length coat throwing the cape casually about one's shoulders as a sure protection from any icy blasts which winter may have left in its trail. Come milder days, then doff the long coat in favor of the jaunty hip-length jacket, still retaining the cape. To appreciate the look of casual swank which this trio of jacket, skirt and cape achieves, we refer you to the handsome outfit posed to the right in the illustration. The material for this stunning three-piece is flecked tweed. When warmish spring days arrive the skirt with the cape sans jacket or coat will prove a perfect joy in the wearing. The cape-and-skirt costume is a favorite theme for spring, part of its lure being the invitation it extends to a flattering blouse to complete the trio. Be sure to note the hat which tops this costume. It is one of the new high "boxy" turbans of co-sack influence which Paris is launching for spring.

Another happy inspiration is the new and lovely cape-suits done in pastel. The model to the left is such. It is tailored of pale blue cheviot in a diagonal weave, with buttons to match. The bag, which is a soft felt hat zipped together, is also blue and the designer has stitched a derby hat with a flaring brim of deeper blue taffeta to complete the color harmony. By the way, taffeta is about the smartest thing going this season for millinery and accessories of all sorts.
