Buying Power of Wheat

Articles Farmers Buy

Cost in Terms of Wheat (Each sack holds 3 bushels)

BUYING wheat the same buying power that it had in the period before the World War is the goal of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. This chart shows how big the problem is. In 1914 8 sacks of wheat would buy a pair of shoes, a barrel of flour, a chair, and a plow.

In 1933 it took 22 sacks of wheat to buy the same set of articles. In 1920 it took 16 sacks of wheat and early in 1932 it took 22 sacks of wheat. The cause of the low buying power is too great a supply. To remedy the situation, the Agricultural Adjustment Administration has begun a campaign asking farmers to reduce their acreage for the 1934 and 1935 crops so that the return from a bushel of wheat will be once more what it was in the pre-war period. In its power to buy the goods which farmers need. The goal of the wheat administration is the 1914 basis, on which 8 sacks of wheat would buy the bill of goods pictured here.

they are now assigned a quota of about eighty men each month for the next several months.

After the almost complete lack of vacancies during the past several months, this sudden call for a large number of men opens up a field of opportunity to many that have felt that the chances for a naval career were closed to them. The recent decisions of the government to maintain the national defense at its highest peak of efficiency, with a minimum expenditure, for safeguarding the interests of the country has caused this sudden increase in enlistments.

The Portland office accentuates the requirements for enlistment, namely: an applicant must be a United States citizen, be between the ages of seventeen and twenty-four inclusive, must have at least a grade school education, be of upstanding character, must have no dependents, have a clear police and juvenile court record, must be able to pass the required physical and mental examinations and be able to supply references as to character.

A great many young men who have applied and were unable to enlist due to lack of vacancies, may now find this field of opportunity open to them. Any young men desiring further information concerning enlistment in the Navy should see their postmaster or the recruiting officer in the U. S. Court House, at Portland, Oregon.

Wheat Reduction Will Be 124,000,000 Bushels

An important development in the grain situation during the week was the announcement that a reduction of 15 percent in the acreage seeded to wheat this fall and next spring would be required of American farmers to qualify for benefit payments by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. The base period for the reduction is the average acreage for the years 1930, 1931 and 1932, with some exceptions to provide a four or five year base in instances where because of drought or other conditions a three-year period would be unfair. If all wheat growers participate in the plan, a reduction of about 9,600,000 acres would result. This, with average yields, would reduce production approximately 124,000,000 bushels.

The reduction in domestic wheat acreage is in accord with the International wheat agreement just entered into by the leading exporting and importing countries. Under this agreement, export quotas are set up for the exporting countries, with the United States allowed 47,000,000 bushels, Canada 200,000,000, Argentina 110,000,000 and Australia 105,000,000 bushels for the current season ending July 1, 1934. Export quotas for the 1934-35 season are based upon a 15 percent cut in acreage in each of the four countries, average yields and normal domestic requirements. The balance remaining is the permitted export. Importing countries agree to cease further efforts to expand production and agree to a policy of gradually removing tariff and trade barriers as world wheat prices rise.

World wheat supplies this season appear to be materially under those of a year ago despite the new high record stocks carried over into the current year. Preliminary estimates of crop outturns and carryovers in Europe and North America together with exportable stocks in North Africa, India and the Southern Hemisphere countries, show a reduction of some 250,000,000 bushels from a year ago, without taking into account the Russian harvest, which according to trade advices is larger than last year. Notwithstanding the smaller world supplies and the drastic reduction in North American crops, stocks available for export appear to be well in excess of the probable import requirements.

The season for home grown tomatoes is now at its height. There is nothing that takes the place of tomatoes as their color and flavor their refreshing quality, their adaptability to any part of the meal, make them a unique and important food. Also tomatoes are one of the very best of the "protective foods" because they are a good source of the vitamins.

There are countless ways of serving tomatoes. Although the simplest way is to serve them freshly sliced, this may become a bit monotonous to members of the family. Some new ways to serve them are as follows:

Tomato and Cottage Cheese Salad
Remove a spoonful of pulp from the center of 6 tomatoes. Mix the pulp with one cup of cottage cheese and one-half cup of sliced stuffed olives. Refill the center of the tomatoes with this mixture. Serve on crisp lettuce with French dressing.

Grilled Tomatoes With Ham
One green pepper
Two white onions
Three large tomatoes
Six sliced toast
Seasonings
One cup grated cheese

Run the pepper and onion thru the food chopper. Place tomatoes in boiling water for 5 minutes then slip off the skins and cut in half. Toast the bread and butter it. Place one-half tomato on each piece of toast. Salt liberally. Place a heaping tablespoon of the chopped, pepper and the onion on each of the 12 thin slices of baked ham, tomato and top with a heaping teaspoonful of grated cheese. Sprinkle with salt and paprika. Place on a baking sheet under the broiler flame cooked through and the tops are or on the upper shelf of a hot oven brown. Serve piping hot. Six servings.

until the cheese melts and browns. Garnish with ham. Serve with olives.
Baked Stuffed Tomatoes With Corn
Six large ripe tomatoes
One cup well seasoned white sauce
Four tablespoons melted butter
One tablespoon chopped onion
Two tablespoons chopped green pepper
Two cups fresh cooked corn
One-half cup soft bread crumbs
Wash and cut off the tops of the tomatoes. Scoop out the inside and wrinkle the inside with salt. Combine the white sauce (use one cup of milk, one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour, one-half teaspoon salt and dash of pepper as the basis for this) onion, green pepper and corn and fill the tomatoes with this mixture. Top with the crumbs mixed with the butter. Bake in a hot oven of 400 F. for 30 minutes or until the tomatoes are tender.

Baked Tomatoes Stuffed with Shrimp
Six good sized tomatoes
One cup dry bread crumbs
One-fourth cup butter
One cup wet pack shrimps
Two tablespoons lemon juice
One-half tablespoon minced parsley
Salt and pepper

Select the tomatoes of uniform size. Wash, remove core and scoop out about half of the pulp from the stem end. Melt butter and add to, he bread crumbs. Remove the intestinal vein from shrimps, break fish into small pieces with fork. Combine with the bread crumbs, and seasonings. Stuff the cavities of the tomatoes with the mixture, slightly heaping on top. Place tomatoes in shallow buttered dish or pan. Bake in medium oven until tomatoes are cooked through and the tops are brown. Serve piping hot. Six servings.
