American Students Who Are Touring Europe

Fifteen students of the High School of Technology in Massachusetts are making a vacation trip through Europe. The boys travel in their own motor car, which can be transformed into a great tent. This photograph from Berlin shows eleven of the group before their "bedroom." Left to right, they are: John M. MacBeyre, Jr.; Ellis Sittman, Samuel G. Prescott, Fred O. Murphy, Wilbur M. Jones, Richard Hughes, James W. Wicary, Louis C. Stone, Paul P. Girgaut, Robert Webster and Edward S. Wemple.

Little spending is being done so far this fall in the county. Farmers, as a rule do not seem to think that the ground is in a proper condition so far. It is considerably drier than it was a week ago and some farmers are putting grain into the fields, but the majority are still waiting.

Tom Douma drove to Portland Wednesday with a truck load of hogs. Mrs. Douma accompanied him.

Governor's Wife—Governor, I think you made a little miscue when you voted that eloquent appeal for the vote of "the plain people."

Wife—Why you ought not to forget that half of the voters now are women—and they don't like to be referred to as "plain."

Minister to Deacon—I was surprised to see you talking today with a man who is a notorious gambler. What business could you possibly have had with him?

Deacon—I was trying to find out where to cash a number of poker chips that I found in the contribution box.

Cutajar—Do you think that our Wall Street bankers are likely to reform?

Spoof—No; a leopard can't change his spots, you know.

Cutajar—Yes—but he can have the spots knocked off of him.

The Epworth League in cooperation with the Service Committee of the church is planning on converting the back room of the church into a church parlor. The young people are asking that organizations or individuals donate furniture or furnishings that they are not now using and that can be mended or refinished in a creditable manner. They expect to have their parlor finished and open to the public for open house the evening of October 14. The two days vacation period for teachers' institute will be used for a time of mending and refinishing their donations. They are therefore asking that those interested in this project call or get word to any of the League members as to what they have that would be usable as soon as possible.

Dr. Yarnes asks that every member of the church in official connection please be present Monday night to the church planning conference. Dr. Yarnes is leading a new kind of quarterly conference which will be helpful to everyone.
