Appraising Farm

Lands Big Task

The Herculean task of appraising the 14,166 Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner loan applications now on hand, before the end of November, is being attempted by the Federal Land Bank of Spokane, serving Washington, Oregon, Idaho, and Montana, according to E. M. Ehrhardt, President.

The "deadline" to speed up loan action has been set before winter weather restricts appraisal operations, it was brought out. An average of 187 applications have been appearing daily for the past month.

Since the Emergency Farm Mortgage Act of May 12, 1933, the appraisal division of the Federal Land Bank has expanded from 20 up to 195 with 423 additional men in training.

"Officers of the Federal Land Bank of Spokane are doing everything humanly possible, in accord to the laws governing the operation of the bank, to close loans as rapidly as sound business permits," President Ehrhardt stated.

"While some delay is unavoidable in expecting the organization to handle the veritable deluge of applications, short-cuts will be taken and the appraisal work speeded up without affecting the thoroughness of examination."

The Federal Land Bank loans are based only on the security of a first mortgage and for not over 50 percent of the appraised normal value of the land, and 20 percent of the permanent insurable value of the buildings to the farm.

Land Bank Commissioner loans are usually made on second mortgages and may be made up to 75 percent of the normal value of the farm. But one application form is required to handle either or both types of loans, it was added.

Wallace Says

What Wallace' Farmer has to say about farmers' crop reduction program will apply with slight modification to every program on which the farmer embarks.

"In every permanent program," says this publication, "farmers who join will get more than those who stay out. In every case, success depends on the willingness of the participating farmers to trust and work with their neighbors."

"The farmers who are working on the reduction programs are like men working against time to build a levee before the flood waters roar down the river bed. There are those who cry to them: 'There won't be any more floods!' There are those who whisper 'Those fellows up the levee are stealing sandbags!' There are those who roar: 'Let's not do this hard work. Let's demand that the president issue a proclamation telling the flood waters to go back!'"

"Those economists are right who say this is the hardest test American agriculture has ever faced. They are right when they say no group of farmers has ever made a change in national policy without years of suffering. But they are wrong when they declare that American farmers are not wise enough or unselfish enough to meet this issue."

11-WAYS TO HEALTH

Main Dishes Founded On Cheese
There comes a day in most families when the food budget suffers because of some unexpected expenditure in one or the other household departments. To the housewife, this means living just a bit more economically. And to those who have a sound foundation in nutrition, some short cuts in the meal planning will mean a saving. In this "new deal" cheese plays an important part as a basis for inexpensive, but exceedingly tasty main dishes.

Cheese is a concentrated source of solids found in milk and is therefore high in protein, mineral, energy and vitamin value. Because of these dietetic values, cheese greatly augments the food value of the vegetable dishes. Some recipes containing vegetables and cheese are:

Baked Corn and Cheese

Two tablespoons of butter
One tablespoon of minced onion
Two tablespoons minced green peppers.
Two tablespoons of flour
One and one-half cup milk
One and one-half cups corn
One cup diced cheese
One-half teaspoon of salt
One-fourth teaspoon of paprika
Two eggs
One tablespoon of grated cheese

Melt the butter and cook onion and pepper in it for three minutes. Add flour and when blended add milk; stir until mixture thickens. Add corn, diced cheese, seasonings and beaten egg yolks. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, turn into a large baking dish, or into six small dishes, sprinkle grated cheese over top and bake in a moderate oven, 350 F. 30 to 35 minutes for large dish, or 15 to 20 minutes in small dishes.

Carrot Ring

Two cups cooked shredded carrots
One and one-half cups of grated American cheese
Two eggs
One cup milk
One cup bread crumbs
Salt and pepper
Thoroughly drain the cooked, shredded carrots, add grated cheese, beaten eggs, milk, crumbs, and seasonings to taste. Pour into a well buttered ring mold. Bake in a pan of hot water, in moderate oven, about one hour, or until firm. Unmold at once and serve hot.

Cheese and Celery Loaf

One-third cup elbow macaroni cooked.

Four cups of diced celery, cooked.
One medium sized onion, minced
Two cups of cubed cheese
Two cups of hot medium cream sauce
Salt and pepper
One-half cup of bread crumbs
Mix together macaroni, celery and onion. Add cheese to cream sauce and cook until cheese is melted. Mix with other ingredients, and season. Pour into a greased casserole and cover with bread crumbs. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 F., 20 minutes. For variety substitute tomato sauce for the cream.

Bingo—You don't mean to tell me that your memory is absolutely perfect?

Stingo—Well, I can honestly say that I cannot remember a single thing that I have ever forgotten.
