MORO SCHOOL NOTES

The Moro volley ball team was defeated Friday evening, October 6th by the Grass Valley team. The score at the end of the first half was Grass Valley 17 and Moro 5. The girls played better in the last half gaining 10 more points. The final score was 27 to 15.

Grass Valley, last years county champions, have a splendid well organized team which excelled the Moro girls by its "coolheadedness" and placing ability. The Moro girls are working hard for a comeback in the next game. The line-up was as follows: Gayle Amidon, Imogene Johnson, Genevieve Nahouse, Mary Pinkerton, Marjorie Byers, Lucille McLachlan. Substitutes were Dorothy Fraser and Lavon Sayrs.

After the volley ball game the alumni girls "took on" the Grass Valley town team. In spite of the three men on the Grass Valley team (or perhaps because of them) the Moro girls won. We have heard it was a farce, perhaps so.

The Moro volley ball team will play the Wasco girls on the Wasco floor Friday evening, October 13. This will be the first game with Wasco. We hope that Friday the thirteenth does not prove unlucky for us. Come and support our team!

The Moro foot ball team will play Friday afternoon, October 13 at Goldendale. The game is scheduled for 2:30 o'clock. Why not take the afternoon off and go see both the football and volley ball games Friday?

GRASS VALLEY SCHOOL NOTES

The Grass Valley girls won a decisive victory over the Moro volley ball team last Friday night with a score of 28 to 15. Both teams showed very good playing although there always is room for improvement. A game was played immediately after the main event which consisted of the male faculty of Grass Valley, and their wives, along with two other graduates; competing against a much better team of Moro graduates. It was quite comical to watch the men folks trying to play the girl's game. Most of the merriment was provided by Mr. Hughes.

Preparations are under way for a three act play to be given by the High school some time in November. The cast has been selected and includes: Earle Shipley, Ferdinand Stark, Deaton Russell, Frank Prather, Hays Boyce, Marjorie Blake, Helen Stark, Maurina Todd, Dorothy Oids, and Frances Fairchild. Practice has been satisfactory so far and the play has all the appearance of being a memorable event.

Football practice was sadly interrupted Friday evening by an injury to one of the players. During the scrimmage Ferdinand Stark received a broken collar bone which will doubtless keep him out of the games this year. He was back at school on Monday, however, evidently feeling as well as ever, but burdened with a brace on his back.

There was no school Tuesday due to the annual teachers institute being held in Moro. The instructor's feelings on the subject were not inquired into, but the students were all jubilant as usual.

Kenneth Todd who has been working in a C. C. C. camp, returned this week to take up his books again with the rest of the Seniors.

The gym floor is nearing completion now and by all appearances will be in excellent condition for several years to come.

Henry Barnum went to Portland the first of the week with a truck load of hogs.

Hubby—Well, Louise, this is my birthday.
Wife—Oh, I'm so pleased, Sam. May I have a new hat, dear?

Buffer—Where did you get that cigar?
Puffer—A man gave it to me.
Buffer—A friend?
Puffer—I don't know; I haven't smoked any of it yet.

"They say Billhuff is wandering in his mind."
"Well, he's safe enough. He can't go far."

Well Known Writer Publishes New Book

Portland, Ore., Oct. 1 (Special) Boys and girls have a real treat in store for them with the publication this week of "Cougar Pass" by Elizabeth Lambert Wood. This is the second book of the Western Wilderness Series written by this author. "Cougar Pass" is an absorbing narrative of the Oregon Cascades with its plot woven around the adventures of three boys who go hunting and are pursued by a cougar. There is more to the book than the adventures of the pursuit, for human interest elements bring the plot to an unusual climax and make the story as humanly inspiring as it is adventurously exciting. This book is cleverly illustrated by Louise Hoch and was published by the Metropolitan Press, Portland.

RACC Will Still Make Some Loans

Regional agricultural credit corporations and the seed and crop production loan offices will finance the seeding of not to exceed 85 per cent of a borrower's average annual acreage of winter wheat for a base period of the last four years, it was announced recently by Governor Henry Morgenthau, Jr., of the Farm Credit Administration.

The financing is limited to the 85 per cent of the average annual acreage regardless of whether or not the borrowing farmer has signed a wheat acreage control contract with the Secretary of Agriculture. The effect of these instructions is to place the loaning policy of the Farm Credit Administration entirely in accord with the wheat acreage control program of the Department of Agriculture, Mr. Morgenthau explained.

This limitation of financing to 85 per cent applies if the average annual acreage was in excess of 95 acres. If the average annual acreage was less than 95 acres but more than 80 acres, no loan will be made to finance the planting of more than 80 acres. No reduction will be required if the average acreage was 80 acres or less.

Governor Morgenthau also pointed out that in cases where winter wheat is considered necessary for forage for the livestock of the applicant for a loan from a regional agricultural credit corporation, plantings up to 80 acres may be made regardless of the history of the land. The seed and crop production loan offices are making no loans for planting forage crops.

In computing the average annual acreage planted to winter wheat, the spring wheat acreage may be used for crop year or years in which no winter wheat was planted. However, if both spring and winter wheat were planted in the same crop year, only winter wheat acreage will be used.

If the land to be farmed was planted to winter wheat for the crop years 1930, 1931, 1932, and 1933, then the base period shall be that four year period. If the land was planted to winter wheat for only three years, then the average of these three years may be used to determine what may be planted. Likewise, if it was planted for only two or only one of these years, then the two years or the one year, as the case may be, may be used to determine the allowed acreage.

In determining the average acreage to be planted by an applicant, the record of the land is to be used, whether or not the applicant farmed this particular land.

make a decision. These complaints will be strictly confidential. Thereafter the allotments of each farm will be published, probably some time in November. After this is done the contracts will be sent to Washington, D. C. and the long awaited check will be mailed to the wheat growers.

Wallace Defends Farmers Against Criticism

The Chicago Journal of Commerce indicates its belief that farmers are too stupid to see the need of crop reduction, are too selfish to work with other farmers in carrying out the plan, and are crooked enough to deal dishonestly with the government.

"Those corn belt growers of pork, both on the hoof and the hulk," says the Journal of Commerce, "who are so precious an object of Secretary Wallace's sympathy—are not as scrupulous as they might be. When he read Mr. Wallace's noble offer to buy four million pigs, producing a shortage and raising the price generally, Mr. Farmer got a gleam of shrewdness in his eye. He went out to his pig pen, poked around with a clinical thermometer and a blood pressure tester. Those pigs which he found below par, with a slim chance of claiming much mazuma on the open market, were selected and shipped to the government for a price above the market."

"Actually," says the current issue of Wallace's Farmer, "rants were thrown out by federal inspectors. The misstatement of facts is not so important, however, as the frank statement of the belief that the farmer will always conspire to evade a plan drawn up by his own representatives for his own benefit."

"It is evident that the opposition is attempting to destroy farm solidarity by trying to make every farmer believe that his neighbors are a set of half-witted scoundrels who will use every chance to cut their own throats—and his own—by wrecking any plan brought forward. This is a libel on the character and the intelligence of the farmer."

Youth has Inning at Big Exposition

Boys and girls of the 4-H clubs and Smith-Hughes vocational training groups will have a big part in the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland, October 21-28. Hundreds of ambitious young exhibitors will be there with their pure bred sheep, calves, pigs and crop exhibits.

With 19 complete shows under one big 11-acre roof, the 23rd Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland, October 21-28 promises to set a new high record for both exhibits and attendance, according to T. B. Wilcox, Jr., president of the Pacific Northwest's greatest fair and entertainment event. Livestock breeders throughout the West have given assurance they will enter their prize flocks and herds and are showing much enthusiasm over the enlarged program. Mr. Wilcox and O. M. Plummer, general manager, report.

On the entertainment side, arrangements are complete for a colorful, thrilling Horse Show and Rodeo combined. Top riders of the rodeo world and open range country have been signed, including the entire McCarty-Elliott outfit with its famous string of outlaw broncs, Brahma steers and tangle necked long horns. The rodeo events, for all of which liberal cash prizes have been hung up, include bronc riding, bull dogging, steer riding, and calf roping.

The combined Horse Show and Rodeo will be held in the immense indoor arena of the Pacific International pavilion, with both afternoon and night performances scheduled. Veteran arena generals will be in charge of events with orders to snap the programs through in one, two, three order. Fast, lively, spectacular—with thrills and spills aplenty—the show promises to please both those who enjoy the nimble prancing of gaited show ring horses, and the rearing, plunging and squealing of wild broncs.

Included in the 19 shows of the exposition will be the dairy animal show, beef cattle show, swine, draft horses, sheep, poultry, pet stock, dairy products, industrial show, wool and mohair, 4-H clubs and Smith-Hughes exhibits, fat stock show and flower show.

Always a strong feature of the Pacific International, the 4-H Boys and Girls Clubs department will have special prominence this year, with a particularly strong appeal to parents and boys and girls of all ages.

Railroads have announced special low fares to the exposition.

I have been appointed agent for the
in this county and will be at the service of policy holders of the company. Dependable Insurance of all kinds.
