Short spells of rain have kept farmers and others dependent on wheat in good humor this week and the comparatively warm weather keeps everyone smiling although old timers insist that we will have a winter yet.

CHURCHES

WASCO CHURCH
The work on the church property is progressing nicely. O. A. Ramsey of Moro is hired to do the carpenter work and most of the rough work is being done by voluntary labor. The men of the community are showing a fine spirit in the way they are turning out to work so as to make the little money that we have go as far as possible.

Conservation Corps Men at Winter Work

Scene at Camp Number 25 of the civilian conservation corps, near Peekskill, N. Y., showing members of Company 256 returning to their barracks after a hard day's work in the forest clearing away brush and opening new roads. This was the first winter camp for the reforestation workers to be opened in the New York area.

have a right to become suddenly worried and a bit hasty as to studying, because the semester has once more rolled around to find the majority unprepared and a bit astonished as to how fast the time flies. The library is filled with "studious students" instead of "gabbling gals" as usual.

The Senior class had a meeting Monday to decide upon motto, colors, flower, decorations and announcements for commencement. This meeting was carried on in much peace and quiet, which is a unique form of meeting for Seniors when they try to decide upon such things. The meeting was a great success and the class is well satisfied with the decisions.

The Moro girls basketball team played the top team Monday night. The game was a tie.

Telephone Crews Repair Damage

Telephone linemen have been in the county for the past week or ten days repairing the damage to the system done by the fog and frost a few weeks ago. New poles and a multitude of new cross arms are being installed and wires are once more being stretched up to carry the voice of the people across the country. In some cases the wires are all down for a half mile at a stretch. Communication has not been hampered for temporary wires were laid along the ground shortly after the break.

Job For Good Man With Government

The United States Civil Service Commission will accept applications until February 2 for positions of Associate Social Economist and Assistant Social Economist to fill vacancies in the Children's Bureau, Department of Labor.

The entrance salary for Associate Social Economist is $3,200 a year, and for Assistant Social Economist $2,600 a year, less a deduction of not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a retirement deduction of 3 and a half per cent.

Mortgaged Farmers To Be Helped

To assist worthy farmers and their creditors to work out voluntary agreements, state and county committees are being set up throughout the country. Governor Meier has appointed a farm-debt adjustment committee in every county in Oregon.

The county committees will serve under the general direction of the Agricultural Advisory Council, in cooperation with the Oregon State College Extension service.

The Sherman county consists of D. E. Stephens, and H. B. Pinkerton, Moro; C. A. Tom, Rufus, Luther Davis, Kent and Judge Fred Krusow, Grass Valley, who were nominated for appointment by the executive committee of the Agricultural council.

The job of first importance which confronts this committee is to help work out debt-adjustment agreements in cases where applications for Federal Land Bank loans have not been closed owing to an excess of old debts over the amount of new capital which can be borrowed. The number of such cases varies, ranging from a few up to 200 or more per county.

Any farmer who needs information on the procedure to be followed by the committee, or on types of farm-debt adjustment agreements, should get in touch with the county agricultural agent, Mr. Johnston, who has a supply of application blanks upon which to register cases for consideration by the committee.

The work of the committee is not limited to Federal Land Bank cases, but will include adjustments between farmer borrowers and other mortgage creditors. The committee are without legal status, although having official recognition. Their whole function is to serve as effectually as possible on a voluntary basis, depending upon fairness for results.
